Egypt Downed Defenseless Boxcar Plane, Oilman Says

By ROY ESSOYAN

CAIRO (AP) — Texas oilman W. Angie Smith charged today that the shooting down of one of his company's planes by Egyptian jet fighters was "an incomprehensible act of callousness."

He indicated the incident in which an American civilian pilot and his Swedish flight mechanic were killed would not be "swept under the rug" for fear of political repercussions if the owners of the plane, the John W. Mecom Co. of Houston, Tex., had anything to say about the matter.

"I am disgusted," Smith said, "I cannot understand the shooting down of a lumbering, defenseless boxcar of a plane proceeding along a recognized commercial air corridor across this country."

Smith arrived from the United States Monday night, held a lengthy meeting with U.S. Ambassador Lucius Battle this morning and planned several meetings with Egyptian government officials.

Battle has been holding a series of meetings at the embassy since the incident first was reported but is withholding all

32 Crewmen Missing From Ship Wreckage

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The wreckage of a freighter has been discovered in the storm-swept Aleutian Islands, but searchers have been unable to find any of its 32 crewmen and four lifeboats.

The 521-foot Liberian vessel San Patrick, bound for Japan with a load of grain, went aground Thursday on a reef off Ulak Island 120 miles west of Adak.

The 10,000-ton converted tanker, manned mostly by a crew from Spain, left Vancouver, B.C., Dec. 9 for Yokohama.

2,000 Persons Flee Floods in California

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 2,000 persons were evacuated from their flood stricken homes in communities in the Eel River Valley in Northern California during the night as more heavy rain swept areas in the Far West.

Rain and strong winds also lashed sections of Oregon and Washington and 50 families near Portland were forced to leave their homes.

About 800 residents of Orrick, Calif., 45 miles north of Eureka, were forced from their homes as Redwood Creek, a normally placid stream, inundated the community. All highways leading into the town were flooded.

Earlier more than 1,300 persons were evacuated from their homes in communities in the Eel River Valley in Northern California.

Some 600 residents in the summer resort town of Weott, Calif., 50 miles south of Eureka, fled their homes as the Eel River rose toward a record crest. The community was under five feet of water. Weather Bureau officials predicted the river would reach 27 feet, nearly 10 feet above flood level. That mark was reached in the disastrous floods in Northern California in 1955.

The Humboldt County sheriff's office, which reported the evacuations, also said 400 residents fled their homes in Pepperwood and about 300 persons were removed from Myers Flat. Phillipsville, a town of 150 residents south of Myers Flat, was isolated.

In other parts of the West, record-breaking snowfalls piled up in the northern plateau region. Heavy snows fell in northern Idaho and western Montana. Schools in many areas were closed.

Lighter snow spread eastward across the northern tier of states into the Great Lakes region, with light snow in sections of the northern Atlantic Coast. Light rain, drizzle and fog dampened areas in the Southeast.

In Ketchum, Idaho, 42 inches of snow accumulated and con-

City Dads Claim Lack of Tax Information

Several city councilmen took verbal swipes at the business community this morning during a council meeting.

The second reading of an ordinance to rescind the two per cent City Sales and Use Tax sparked councilman Harold Hawks to say:

"I was astonished at the lack of information on the part of many of our businessmen."

Hawks said he would vote again for the sales tax if ". . . we had this to do over again."

He said discussion on the sales tax made businessmen aware of city needs.

Another items on the lengthy meeting agenda, a request for city water, was urged by Councilwoman Betty Krouse.

Because annexation is a condition to get city water, Mrs. Krouse said that as much annexation to the city as possible was needed to broaden the property tax base.

Then "We won't have the finger pointed at us again by one of our esteemed businessmen," she commented.

Mrs. Krouse suggested it might be necessary "to employ someone to go out and talk to these people" to induce property owners to annex to the city.

Colorado Springs' businessmen organized the Consumers Against Sales Tax Committee (COST) which presented the City Council with an initiative petition. The petition forced the council to either rescind the sales tax ordinance or set an election date for the people to vote on the issue.

In other business, the council tabled for at least 60 days, for further study, adoption of the 1964 Uniform Building Code.

A 1,016-acre annexation requested by Roy Pring was accepted on second raeding.

Computer Is Playing Yule Carols

NEW YORK (AP) — Did you ever see a computer playing Christmas carols?

That was among the treats for first graders who went to New York University Monday to see computers in action.

As the IBM 7094 blinked its lights merrily, electrical impulses played such tunes as "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen," "Good King Wenceslas" and "Greensleeves" through an amplifier. Then the computer's lights beamed a message, "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

The 5- and 6-year-olds from Public School 166 in Manhattan were guests at the Atomic Energy Commission's Computing and Applied Mathematics Center of the Courant Institute of Mathematical Sciences.

They heard a lecture from Henry Mullish, an operations associate, who told them a computer can add up 250,000 numbers in a second. He also invited questions.

Mullish asked the first question:

"Why do we use computers?"

"Because you can ask questions you don't know," replied a 6-year-old boy.

Another boy had a question for the computer:

"What's the capital of France?"

Mullish was taken aback. "That's not the kind of question I had in mind," he said.

"What happens when a computer gets sick?" asked a boy.

"Computer doctors take it apart and fix it," Mullish responded.

Then came a far-out question from an inquisitive boy:

"How much fuel does a rocket need to get into space?"

Mullish was on guard.

"I think that's a government secret," he replied. "Also what kind of fuel?"

Viet Purge Stymies Plans To Extend Anti-Cong War

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The military purge of South Viet Nam's civilian government has stymied plans to extend the war against the Communist Viet Cong outside South Viet Nam, American officials said today.

The United States had made plans to step up aid to the Saigon government and for new measures against Communist infiltration. But these were contingent on the existence of a stable South Vietnamese regime.

American officials said that since the military dissolution Sunday of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's provisional legislature, a stable government has not existed and planning talks are indefinitely in abeyance.

The talks will resume only if the young generals who carried out the purge capitulate to the extent of creating some kind of legislature with real authority, the Americans said.

As factions of Vietnamese generals jockeyed for position, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh appeared today to have been ousted from command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

Khanh Defies U.S. Policies Following Political Purge

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of South Viet Nam's armed forces, threw down the gauntlet to Washington tonight in an order solidly backing the young generals who purged the High National Council Sunday.

Khanh pointedly warned against foreign intervention in Vietnamese affairs and made it clear he would not go along with American demands that the purge be undone.

"We make sacrifices for the country's independence and the Vietnamese people's liberty, but not to carry out the policy of any foreign country," Khanh said in a radio address to the nation.

The ex-premier pledged the continued support of the armed forces for civilian Chief of State Phan Khac Suu and Premier Tran Van Huong, but reserved the right of the armed forces to change governments if they felt

Two Injured By High Winds In Boulder

BOULDER (AP)—Gale forces winds battered the Boulder area Monday night and early today, causing extensive damage and injuring at least two persons.

Winds were clocked at 100 m.p.h. at Jefferson County Airport, east of Boulder.

Police said reports of damage filled three typewritten pages.

Objects such as roofs and fences blowing into power lines knocked out service to the south half of Boulder for three and a half hours and the downtown area for two and a half hours. Service was restored early today.

The wind blew down a transformer line near Boulder, blacking out the Marshall and El Dorado Springs area and parts of north Boulder.

At least two mobile homes south of Boulder were toppled. The occupants of one of the trailers, Edward Owens, 22, and his wife, Jane, 23, were treated at Boulder Community Hospital for abrasions and contusions.

Biery Is Urging Bond Sales for Peterson Field

City Manager John M. Biery has recommended to the City Council that negotiations continue to sell between $1.2 and $2.2 million in bonds to expand Peterson Field facilities.

Biery was authorized Oct. 2 by the Council to investigate and negotiate for financing to construct a new terminal and other facilities on the west side of the airport.

In a letter to the Council dated Dec. 17, Biery said the city received four "confidential" offers from investment firms in Denver and Colorado Springs to purchase revenue bonds.

"All four firms indicated a real interest in participating in this financing," Biery said.

Communist Party Plans New Drive in U.S. Areas

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special) — Four major northern industrial states and the entire South are singled out for "concentrated efforts" in a new organizational drive being launched by U. S. Communist leaders.

The four northern states are Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The decision to embark on a wide-ranging program to revitalize the U.S. Communist Party was reached at a secret National Board meeting last month. It was the first since the sudden ouster of Nikita Khrushchev.

Principal features of the revitalization program are:

"Recruiting members from the militant movement among the Negro people."

"Combining party work with work in non-communist or mass organizations."

"Increasing party activity at the club level."

Organizing students and working class youth."

"Projecting 'socialism' on a mass basis."

"Raising funds for party work in non - communist organizations."

The National Board meeting was stormy. A detailed report, in the hands of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., describes the proceedings as "prolonged and heated."

There was furious discussion over "developments in the international Communist movement"—meaning the abrupt deposal and denunciation of Khrushchev, which severely shook U.S. Communist leaders; and the violent verbal fusillading between Moscow and Peking, acridly echoed among party chiefs here.

The plans formulated by the National Board are normally considered by a national convention of the party. But none has been held since December 1959. Similarly, the party's National Committee hasn't met since June 1961.

There was no explanation for either at the secret National Board meeting.

Coed Escapes 'Extinction' In Tar Pit

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Lendle Hall, 21, student, undertook some research on fossilized mammoths and sabre-tooth tigers mired in tar, and for a while had authorities fearing she, too, had become extinct.

Since Saturday, police and firemen had been dragging the La Brea tar pits — a treasure trove of fossils —for the body of a young woman a passer-by thought had jumped into the pits.

Lendle's aunt, Diane Martin, told police Monday: "Lendle's father is a researcher, and Lendle was doing some research on her own." She said the girl came home covered with tar and had lost only a shoe to the goo which sucked in animals thousands of years ago.

Motion for New Trial Granted In Martz Case

Frank William Martz, Sr. had his motion for a new trial granted this morning by District Judge David W. Enoch.

Martz, 53, foreman of the Red Creek Ranch, was found guilty Dec. 5 of second degree murder.

In handing down his ruling Judge Enoch said the question for determination was whether under the undisputed facts presented by counsel for the defense, Wayne Hodson and David Morris, was the defendant entitled to a new trial. Was he deprived of the right to a fair and impartial trial, the judge asked.

There was no evidence in the case, he continued, that anyone had intentionally done or said anything for the purpose of creating any prejudice against the defendent.

"In this case," he said, "there were so many direct telephone calls in and out by the jurors that there seems to have been little value in isolating them as required by law."

The court did not place the full responsibility for this conduct on the bailiffs, the judge said, wrong as they were.

"It was the jurors that were specifically instructed that they could not make or receive calls. In view of the numerous frequent violations of the court's instructions, and general conduct of some of the jurors during the course of the trial, it is the courts opinion that the defendant was not afforded the type of trial to which a defendant is entitled. Therefore," the judge concluded, "as a matter of law, the court must and does

Administration Tries to Avert Dock Walkout

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Johnson administration moved today to try to head off an Atlantic to Gulf Coast dock strike as wildcat walkouts crippled pier operations in New York and Baltimore.

James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, headed for Houston to sit in on stalled negotiations between representatives of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and shippers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, after talking with President Johnson at Johnson City, Tex., Monday, said "we are very much concerned about seeing to it that there is a settlement.

Reynolds also will discuss the problem involved in talks at Galveston, Tex., Wirtz said.

The New York walkout involved 6,700 of the 12,000 dock workers normally employed on a Monday. The Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor reported 92 ships were berthed in 40 piers in the port, but only 30 ships were being worked.

Two passenger liners sailed without difficulty.

A series of meetings in Baltimore involving that port's six longshoremen's locals broke up Monday night amid indications the wildcat strike of 1,000 workers might spread.

All cargo handling was suspended in the port of Baltimore so longshoremen could attend the meetings. Nine of 24 ships tied up at cargo berths were affected.

Longshoremen at other major ports continued working. Union locals in Southern parts were awaiting the outcome of the Galveston negotiations.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the union, expressed puzzlement at the wildcat walkouts. Union leaders had approved a proposed new contract with New York shippers last week and this was expected to set the pattern for the East and Gulf Coast ports

Terms of the proposed four-year contract would permit gradual reduction in the size of work gangs. In return, the dock-

Religious Group May Buy Cliff House Hotel

A Little Rock, Ark., religious organization has a 90-day option to buy Manitou Springs' historic Cliff House Hotel, its owner said Monday.

Roy L. Coghill, owner of the 144-room hostelry, said the option was held as of Dec. 1 by K. L. Kessinger, a minister representing the Assembly of God religious group.

"I don't know if he's going to buy it," Coghill commented, "but there's a good chance."

Another large Manitou tourist hotel — The Summit — is now occupied by Billy James Hargis' Anti-Communist Christian Crusade. The third large hotel in Manitou, the Navajo, is now split into year-round apartments.

A liquor license transfer for "The Cave" bar in the basement of the Cliff House was approved Monday by the City Council.

Attorney Gordon R. Cooper, representing Kenneth E. Lewis who wanted the license, said immediate approval was needed because "a religious order has put down money to buy the hotel." Cooper said he believed the religious organization would oppose serving liquor on the premises. The license has been held by Coghill.

The Cave's liquor license was suspended Nov. 12 by Byron Anderson, Colorado Secretary of State. Anderson said the hotel failed to keep adequate food supplies to serve meals, as required by state law. Sixty days of the 90-day suspension were held in abeyance.

The new liquor license transfer is to become effective Jan. 1.

Last August Fred Borden was hired to manage the Cliff House. He said he planned complete revision of the building, including an indoor swimming pool. Remodeling amounted to a stage in the main dining room for summer melodrama performances.

Construction of the Cliff House, against a cliff above Canon Avenue, began in 1871 and it was opened during a gala party in August 1872.

Then the Cliff House had 21 rooms and was called the "Inn." It was the scene of many gay social events in the 1880's and 90's and many famous persons signed its register.

In its more than 90 years of operations the Cliff House has had almost 30 owners.

Printers in Toronto March On Parliament

Striking printers from three Toronto newspapers appealed to Parliament last week to help settle the dispute, according to an Editor & Publisher magazine dispatch from Ottawa, Canada.

The printers have been out of their jobs since June, but the papers have continued to publish, the report said.

The printers were met by Labor Minister Allan MacEachen, who discussed the strike with a delegation in his office. Meanwhile, 350 placard-carrying union members circled the building outside.

The printers are members of the International Typographical Union (ITU). They struck mainly over issues involving the introduction of semi-automated composing equipment.

MacEachen indicated there was little he could do, the matter being subject to provincial jurisdiction.

Springs Woman Killed in Auto Accident

A Colorado Springs woman was killed and her husband injured critically in an accident west of Washington, Kan., Monday.

Mrs. Janes A. Darold, 21, of 2571 E. Uintah, was killed when the car driven by her husband struck an icy patch on U.S. 36 and crashed into an embankment.

The husband, Alfred J. Darold, 22, was taken to Washington County Hospital where he was reported in critical condition.

Judge Approves Springs Plan For Reservoir

DENVER (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Alfred A. Arraj approved Monday a request by the city of Colorado Springs to proceed with plans to build a reservoir upstream on Blue Lake rather than downstream.

He authorized an amendment to a 1952 decree establishing the capacity of both proposed reservoirs.

F. T. Henry, Colorado Springs city attorney, said the city asked that the capacity of the upstream reservoir be increased by 468 acre-feet and that of the downstream reservoir decreased because it was more feasible to proceed now with the upstream facility.

The proposed reservoir would take water from the Blue River, which also supplies Dillon Reservoir, one source of Denver water.

Thorn Tree Blossoms in Glastonbury

GLASTONBURY, England (AP) — A thorn tree is blossoming today in Glastonbury, where legend says Christ once walked. All around the other trees stand bleak and bare.

Every year for centuries, the old stories go, the strange tree blossoms in the peaceful Somerset town when men celebrate the birth of Christ.

The gnarled thorn in the churchyard is supposed to have descended from the staff of Joseph of Arimathea, who provided Christ's tomb and who legend says visited Glastonbury almost 2,000 years ago.

People call it the Holy Thorn.

No one really knows how much truth and how much legend there is in the story of the Glastonbury Thorn.

It is known that the tree is of Palestinian origin and that as a species it has been in Glastonbury a very long time. Through the centuries it has been reproduced by cuttings. It rarely flourishes in England outside Glastonbury.

The tree in the churchyard is 60 years old, the biggest specimen in the town. On this spot, the legend goes, the first sacred thorn tree grew.

In Glastonbury and England's West Country the story is devoutly believed by young and old. On Christmas people drive up to peer over the churchyard wall at the splash of white amid the winter drabness.

"The thorn always puts out white blossoms at Christmastide," says the vicar, the Rev. Hugh Knapman. "By Christmastime I don't necessarily mean Christmas Day. The blossoms come some time in late December. Sometimes we get groups of people who look at the thorn as though they were expecting it suddenly to go whoosh in a burst of blossom."

One legend says Christ visited Glastonbury during the years

"Because you can ask questions you don't know," replied a 6-year-old boy.

Another boy had a question for the computer:

"What's the capital of France?"

Mullish was taken aback. "That's not the kind of question I had in mind,' 'he said.

"What happens when a computer gets sick?" asked a boy.

"Computer doctors take it apart and fix it," Mullish responded.

Then came a far-out question from an inquisitive boy:

"How much fuel does a rocket need to get into space?"

Mullish was on guard.

"I think that's a government secret," he replied. "Also what kind of fuel?"

Viet Purge Stymies Plans To Extend Anti-Cong War

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The military purge of South Viet Nam's civilian government has stymied plans to extend the war against the Communist Viet Cong outside South Viet Nam, American officials said today.

The United States had made plans to step up aid to the Saigon government and for new measures against Communist infiltration. But these were contingent on the existence of a stable South Vietnamese regime.

American officials said that since the military dissolution Sunday of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's provisional legislature, a stable government has not existed and planning talks are indefinitely in abeyance.

The talks will resume only if the young generals who carried out the purge capitulate to the extent of creating some kind of legislature with real authority, the Americans said.

As factions of Vietnamese generals jockeyed for position, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh appeared today to have been ousted from command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

Khanh Defies U. S. Policies Following Political Purge

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of South Viet Nam's armed forces, threw down the gauntlet to Washington tonight in an order solidly backing the young generals who purged the High National Council Sunday.

Khanh pointedly warned against foreign intervention in Vietnamese affairs and made it clear he would not go along with American demands that the purge be undone.

"We make sacrifices for the country's independence and the Vietnamese people's liberty, but not to carry out the policy of any foreign country," Khanh said in a radio address to the nation.

The ex-premier pledged the continued support of the armed forces for civilian Chief of State Phan Khac Suu and Premier Tran Van Huong, but reserved the right of the armed forces to change governments if they felt

Printers in Toronto March On Parliament

Striking printers from three Toronto newspapers appealed to Parliament last week to help settle the dispute, according to an Editor & Publisher magazine dispatch from Ottawa, Canada.

The printers have been out of their jobs since June, but the papers have continued to publish, the report said.

The printers were met by Labor Minister Allan MacEachen, who discussed the strike with a delegation in his office. Meanwhile, 350 placard-carrying union members circled the building outside.

The printers are members of the International Typographical Union (ITU). They struck mainly over issues involving the introduction of semi-automated composing equipment.

MacEachen indicated there was little he could do, the matter being subject to provincial jurisdiction.

Springs Woman Killed in Auto Accident

A Colorado Springs woman was killed and her husband injured critically in an accident west of Washington, Kan., Monday.

Mrs. Janes A. Darold, 21, of 2571 E. Uintah, was killed when the car driven by her husband struck an icy patch on U.S. 36 and crashed into an embankment.

The husband, Alfred J. Darold, 22, was taken to Washington County Hospital where he was reported in critical condition.

Two Injured By High Winds In Boulder

BOULDER (AP)—Gale forces winds battered the Boulder area Monday night and early today, causing extensive damage and injuring at least two persons.

Winds were clocked at 100 m.p.h. at Jefferson County Airport, east of Boulder.

Police said reports of damage filled three typewritten pages.

Objects such as roofs and fences blowing into power lines knocked out service to the south half of Boulder for three and a half hours and the downtown area for two and a half hours. Service was restored early today.

The wind blew down a transformer line near Boulder, blacking out the Marshall and El Dorado Springs area and parts of north Boulder.

At least two mobile homes south of Boulder were toppled. The occupants of one of the trailers, Edward Owens, 22, and his wife, Jane, 23, were treated at Boulder Community Hospital for abrasions and contusions.

Judge Approves Springs Plan For Reservoir

DENVER (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Alfred A. Arraj approved Monday a request by the city of Colorado Springs to proceed with plans to build a reservoir upstream on Blue Lake rather than downstream.

He authorized an amendment to a 1952 decree establishing the capacity of both proposed reservoirs.

F. T. Henry, Colorado Springs city attorney, said the city asked that the capacity of the upstream reservoir be increased by 468 acre-feet and that of the downstream reservoir decreased because it was more feasible to proceed now with the upstream facility.

The proposed reservoir would take water from the Blue River, which also supplies Dillon Reservoir, one source of Denver water.

Biery Is Urging Bond Sales for Peterson Field

City Manager John M. Biery has recommended to the City Council that negotiations continue to sell between $1.2 and $2.2 million in bonds to expand Peterson Field facilities.

Biery was authorized Oct. 2 by the Council to investigate and negotiate for financing to construct a new terminal and other facilities on the west side of the airport.

In a letter to the Council dated Dec. 17, Biery said the city received four "confidential" offers from investment firms in Denver and Colorado Springs to purchase revenue bonds.

"All four firms indicated a real interest in participating in this financing," Biery said.

The city manager's letter rec-

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON —(Special) — Four major northern industrial states and the entire South are singled out for "concentrated efforts" in a new organizational drive being launched by U. S. Communist leaders.

The four northern states are Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

The decision to embark on a wide-ranging program to revitalize the U.S. Communist Party was reached at a secret National Board meeting last month. It was the first since the sudden ouster of Nikita Khrushchev.

Principal features of the revitalization program are:

"Recruiting members from the militant movement among the Negro people."

"Combining party work with work in non-communist or mass organizations."

"Increasing party activity at the club level."

Organizing students and working class youth."

"Projecting 'socialism' on a mass basis."

"Raising funds for party work in non - communist organizations."

The National Board meeting was stormy. A detailed report, in the hands of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, headed by Senator James Eastland, D-Miss., describes the proceedings as "prolonged and heated."

There was furious discussion over "developments in the international Communist movement"—meaning the abrupt deposal and denunciation of Khrushchev, which severely shook U.S. Communist leaders; and the violent verbal fusillading between Moscow and Peking, acridly echoed among party chiefs here.

The plans formulated by the National Board are normally considered by a national convention of the party. But none has been held since December 1959. Similarly, the party's National Committee hasn't met since June 1961.

There was no explanation for either at the secret National Board meeting.

Coed Escapes 'Extinction' In Tar Pit

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Lendle Hall, 21, student, undertook some research on fossilized mammoths and sabre-tooth tigers mired in tar, and for a while had authorities fearing she, too, had become extinct.

Since Saturday, police and firemen had been dragging the La Brea tar pits — a treasure trove of fossils —for the body of a young woman a passer-by thought had jumped into the pits.

Lendle's aunt, Diane Martin, told police Monday: "Lendle's father is a researcher, and Lendle was doing some research on her own." She said the girl came home covered with tar and had lost only a shoe to the goo which sucked in animals thousands of years ago.

Motion for New Trial Granted In Martz Case

Frank William Martz, Sr. had his motion for a new trial granted this morning by District Judge David W. Enoch.

Martz, 53, foreman of the Red Creek Ranch, was found guilty Dec. 5 of second degree murder.

In handing down his ruling Judge Enoch said the question for determination was whether under the undisputed facts presented by counsel for the defense, Wayne Hodson and David Morris, was the defendant entitled to a new trial. Was he deprived of the right to a fair and impartial trial, the judge asked.

There was no evidence in the case, he continued, that anyone had intentionally done or said anything for the purpose of creating any prejudice against the defendent.

"In this case," he said, "there were so many direct telephone calls in and out by the jurors that there seems to have been little value in isolating them as required by law."

The court did not place the full responsibility for this conduct on the bailiffs, the judge said, wrong as they were.

"It was the jurors that were specifically instructed that they could not make or receive calls. In view of the numerous frequent violations of the court's instructions, and general conduct of some of the jurors during the course of the trial, it is the courts opinion that the defendant was not afforded the type of trial to which a defendant is entitled. Therefore," the judge concluded, "as a matter of law, the court must and does

Religious Group May Buy Cliff House Hotel

A Little Rock, Ark., religious organization has a 90-day option to buy Manitou Springs' historic Cliff House Hotel, its owner said Monday.

Roy L. Coghill, owner of the 144-room hostelry, said the option was held as of Dec. 1 by K. L. Kessinger, a minister representing the Assembly of God religious group.

"I don't know if he's going to buy it," Coghill commented, "but there's a good chance."

Another large Manitou tourist hotel — The Summit — is now occupied by Billy James Hargis' Anti-Communist Christian Crusade. The third large hotel in Manitou, the Navajo, is now split into year-round apartments.

A liquor license transfer for "The Cave" bar in the basement of the Cliff House was approved Monday by the City Council.

Attorney Gordon R. Cooper, representing Kenneth E. Lewis who wanted the license, said immediate approval was needed because "a religious order has put down money to buy the hotel." Cooper said he believed the religious organization would oppose serving liquor on the premises. The license has been held by Coghill.

The Cave's liquor license was suspended Nov. 12 by Byron Anderson, Colorado Secretary of State. Anderson said the hotel failed to keep adequate food supplies to serve meals, as required by state law. Sixty days of the 90-day suspension were held in abeyance.

The new liquor license transfer is to become effective Jan. 1.

Last August Fred Borden was hired to manage the Cliff House. He said he planned complete revision of the building, including an indoor swimming pool. Remodeling amounted to a stage in the main dining room for summer melodrama performances.

Construction of the Cliff House, against a cliff above Canon Avenue, began in 1871 and it was opened during a gala party in August 1872.

Then the Cliff House had 21 rooms and was called the "Inn." It was the scene of many gay social events in the 1880's and 90's and many famous persons signed its register.

In its more than 90 years of operations the Cliff House has had almost 20 owners.

Administration Tries to Avert Dock Walkout

By LARRY FRIEDMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Johnson administration moved today to try to head off an Atlantic to Gulf Coast dock strike as wildcat walkouts crippled pier operations in New York and Baltimore.

James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, headed for Houston to sit in on stalled negotiations between representatives of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association and shippers.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, after talking with President Johnson at Johnson City, Tex., Monday, said "we are very much concerned about seeing to it that there is a settlement.

Reynolds also will discuss the problem involved in talks at Galveston, Tex., Wirtz said.

The New York walkout involved 6,700 of the 12,000 dock workers normally employed on a Monday. The Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor reported 92 ships were berthed in 40 piers in the port, but only 30 ships were being worked.

Two passenger liners sailed without difficulty.

A series of meetings in Baltimore involving that port's six longshoremen's locals broke up Monday night amid indications the wildcat strike of 1,000 workers might spread.

All cargo handling was suspended in the port of Baltimore so longshoremen could attend the meetings. Nine of 24 ships tied up at cargo berths were affected.

Longshoremen at other major ports continued working. Union locals in Southern parts were awaiting the outcome of the Galveston negotiations.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the union, expressed puzzlement at the wildcat walkouts. Union leaders had approved a proposed new contract with New York shippers last week and this was expected to set the pattern for the East and Gulf Coast ports

Terms of the proposed four-year contract would permit gradual reduction in the size of work gangs. In return, the dock-

Thorn Tree Blossoms in Glastonbury

GLASTONBURY, England (AP) — A thorn tree is blossoming today in Glastonbury, where legend says Christ once walked. All around the other trees stand bleak and bare.

Every year for centuries, the old stories go, the strange tree blossoms in the peaceful Somerset town when men celebrate the birth of Christ.

The gnarled thorn in the churchyard is supposed to have descended from the staff of Joseph of Arimathea, who provided Christ's tomb and who legend says visited Glastonbury almost 2,000 years ago.

People call it the Holy Thorn.

No one really knows how much truth and how much legend there is in the story of the Glastonbury Thorn.

It is known that the tree is of Palestinian origin and that as a species it has been in Glastonbury a very long time. Through the centuries it has been reproduced by cuttings. It rarely flourishes in England outside Glastonbury.

The tree in the churchyard is 60 years old, the biggest specimen in the town. On this spot, the legend goes, the first sacred thorn tree grew.

In Glastonbury and England's West Country the story is devoutly believed by young and old. On Christmas people drive up to peer over the churchyard wall at the splash of white amid the winter drabness.

"The thorn always puts out white blossoms at Christmastide," says the vicar, the Rev. Hugh Knapman. "By Christmastime I don't necessarily mean Christmas Day. The blossoms come some time in late December. Sometimes we get groups of people who look at the thorn as though they were expecting it suddenly to go whoosh in a burst of blossom."

One legend says Christ visited Glastonbury during the years

Two Injured In Accident

A single-car accident on Frontage Road Monday resulted in injuries to two persons, the State Patrol reported.

Gerald L. Willie, 36, Pueblo, driver of the vehicle, suffered abrasions to the right side of his head. His wife, Betty L. Willie, 27, riding in the right front seat of the car, sustained a contusion to her forehead, and was taken to St. Francis Hospital by E & E Ambulance.

According to the patrol, the Willie vehicle was southbound on Frontage Road at approximately 11:30 p.m. Monday, when Willie lost control of his car. The car skidded for 22 feet into the median, struck a guard post and a stop sign, then spun around and backed up for 48 feet.

Damage to the vehicle, a 1959 model, was estimated at $150 by the patrol.

Tool Box, Tools Taken From Car

Charles Lurvey of Falcon Rd. told the sheriff's office Monday that a tool box containing tools worth $100 had been stolen from the trunk of his car.

tinued to fall. The area, near Sun Valley, may be in the midst of a record snowfall, state officials said.

Snow closed most schools in the area. Lesser amounts of snow covered most of southern Idaho.

Heavy winds, rain and blizzards struck eastern Washington. A record snowfall of 22 inches closed airports and schools at Yakima in the central section.

Since a cold wave struck a week ago, 14 persons have been killed in Washington. They included two in sledding accidents and woman suffocated when she fell into a snowbank.

Four-foot drifts closed Interstate 90, a main highway, between Moses Lake and George. A Cascade Mountain pass, Cayuse, was closed by snow slides. Heavy snow warnings were issued for northeastern Washington and northern Idaho.

The state fish hatchery on the klickitat River near Glendale is isolated by 73 inches of snow. Ten adults and eight children are stranded there.

Two northwestern California towns with a total population of 2,500 were evacuated Monday when the rain-swollen Eel River reached flood stage. The residents of Weott and Myers Flat were taken to neighboring communities in the area 220 miles north of San Francisco.

The Weather Bureau said heavy rainfall would push the river over its banks at 22 feet.

Johnson Creek in southeastern Portland was 4½ feet above flood stage Monday night and 100 families were poised to abandon their homes. The Willamette River was expected to crest at one foot above flood level at Philomath in western Oregon's Benton County.

Gary L. Fisk, 12, of Millington was electrocuted Monday when he touched an electric lamp in his flooded home in Coos County on the southern Oregon coast. His mother was knocked unconscious trying to save him.

From 4 p.m. Sunday to 4 p.m. Monday, the rainfall on the Oregon coast was 3.11 inches in Newport, 2.98 inches in North Bend, 2.87 inches in Eugene and 2.18 in Brookings.

U.S. 101, the main north-south West Coast highway, was closed by a flood between Piercy and Garberville.

Portions of the Northwest continued to labor out from under cold and snow which laid siege to the area last week.

A new storm moved into western Montana, dumping four inches of snow in six hours in Missoula and Kaispell. Rain followed in some areas and the mixture caused snowslides on the Montana-Idaho border at Lost Trail Pass.

"Operation Haylift" was completed in southeastern Montana Monday where Air Force reservists dropped 65 tons of hay to starving, snowbound livestock. Ranchers in an eight-county area declared a disaster region by President Johnson estimated their loss in cattle and sheep at $3.4 million.

32 Crewmen Missing From Ship Wreckage

high, blown by wind of more than 40 knots.

The Tetshuho Maru, a Japanese ore carrier, raced to the scene, and the Navy tug Tawakoni from Adak joined the search, but they found nothing.

An oil slick and pieces of lumber which might have come from a ship were found two days later.

Sunday the pilot of a Navy search plane reported seeing the "badly battered" wreckage.

A search for survivors centered on islands northwest of Ulak. Lifeboats would have drifted in that direction if they mere launched.

Nothing about the plight of the ship was made public by the Navy and Coast Guard until the Alaska agent for Lloyd's of London tipped the Anchorage Times Monday.

In Washington, D.C., a spokesman for the Coast Guard said the position of the vessel given in its original distress message varied from a position given by the ship's agent in New York. He said that raised a question of whether there really was a ship in distress in the Aleutians.

He said bad weather delayed an air search.

A spokesman for C. Gardner Johnson Ltd., Vancouver agents for the freighter, said a man who came to the Canadian city from Yugoslavia eight years ago, stayed six years and applied for Canadian citizenship before moving on was an engineer on the vessel. He would not identify the crewman.

The San Patrick, registered to the Manor Investment Co. of Monrovia, Liberia, and operated by the Westland Marine Corp., New York, was on her first voyage since being converted to a bulk carrier. The vessel, which carried the name Good Hope when she was a tanker, was carrying 19,000 tons of grain and Canadian cattle feed when she left Vancouver.

Motion for New Trial Granted In Martz Case

grant a motion for a new trial."

Disputing the motion Deputy District Attorney Herman Ratner said Monday his office did not condone the behavior of the jury which was permitted to make 57 out-going telephone calls by Bailiff Hugh Higgins.

Ratner agree it was "highly improper," but felt it was the case of "honest men who made a mistake." The lawyer did not feel it was of such a nature as to necessitate a mistrail or a new trial.

He said attorneys for the defense, Hodson and Morris should have requested a new trial at the time adding that now the verdict of the jury did not suit Morris, "he comes into court asking for a mistrial."

In response Morris bitingly said that "eveything has been done in this case except bribery." It was, he said "gross misconduct and it is admitted, it is not something which has just been alleged." The evidence, he told the court was "uncontradicted" and the district attorney's office did not put on one single witness to dispute the charges.

The lawyer charged that 57 telephone calls were 57 violations of Judge Enoch's instructions. He pointed out that the night jurors, Higgins and his wife, slept in their rooms with the doors shut when they should have been watching the jury.

One juror, completely unattended, even went downstairs in the hotel, bought cigarettes and read newspapers. Another one, again unattended, went into another juror's rooms, mentioned the case and said she believed the defendant was guilty. All of these actions were grounds for setting aside the verdict, Morris said.

At the conclusion of arguments Judge Enoch then took the matter under advisement until this morning.

Martz was charged with the Dec. 18, 1963 pistol slaying of Lonnie Thomlison, 37, of Pueblo. Thomlison was trespassing on private property at the time of the incident and gathering wood with two companions.

The defense based its case on the allegation that Martz's gun went off accidentally when his horse took fright and reared.

workers would get a guaranteed annual wage and an 80-cent-an-hour wage increase and benefit package. The hourly wage for dock workers, now $3.26, would go to $3.62 by 1968.

Gleason met with aides for two hours Monday night, then said, "There seems to be a great amount of confusion and false information among the membership pertaining to the contract."

Gleason called on all locals to see that terms of the proposed new contract are fully explained. The workers will vote Jan. 8 on acceptance or rejection of the contract agreement.

A $35 tachomenter, two floor mats and a hubcap were stolen from a car belonging to Ronnie Fallin, 1004 Main St., the sheriff's office reported Monday.

The vehicle was parked outside Fallin's home at the time.

official comment pending instructions from Washington.

U.S. officials have had no contact with the Egyptian government on the potentially explosive situation since a Foreign Ministry representative gave the embassy the official Egyptian version of the incident Sunday.

The Egyptian government maintains the plane, a twin-engine Fairchild C82, was shot down after it ignored repeated instructions to land and was about to leave Egyptian territory. U.S. sources here indicate privately they are not satisfied with the explanation.

Hoyt Williams, pilot of the plane, and Kjell Grupp, the flight mechanic, were described as experienced airmen with long service abroad. They had flown the same route, from Jordan to Libya, several times in the past without incident.

The bodies of Williams and Grupp were moved from the crash site to the Greek hospital in Alexandria this morning.

Sources in Alexandria said the bodies had been lying in the mud of the Nile delta, where the plane crashed, for more than 2½ days.

The bodies are expected to be brought to Cairo where William's widow has been placed under care of a nurse since she arrived from Amman, Jordan, Sunday. Mrs. Williams, pregnant, has been described as near collapse.

Embassy officials have been described as deeply disturbed by the personal tragedy involved as well as the grave political implications of the incident which occurred less than four weeks after a mob of African students sacked the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Cairo.

"This incident is more serious than the burning of the library," one American source said privately. "Two of the most disturbing aspects of it are the unreasoning brutality involved and the casual attitude with which the Egyptian government is apparently treating it."

Khanh Defies U.S. Policies Following Political Purge

things were getting out of hand.

This was a direct challenge to American demands that the Saigon civilian government have supreme authority over the armed forces, and that the armed forces should not have the right to upset the government whenever they see fit.

Knanh's speech presumably was broadcast partly to allay rumors sweeping Saigon that he had been arrested. Normally reliable sources reported earlier that Khanh had been ousted from his post as commander in chief and soon might be leaving the country. But indications tonight were that he was firmly in the saddle.

U.S. spokesmen had no immediate comment. Americans said privately it looked as if the shutdown had come.

American officials said the purge has stymied plans being worked out to extend the war against the Viet Cong outside South Viet Nam.

Discharging Firearm Brings Fine

Amos Carabajal, 23, 1201 E. Las Animas St., was found guilty in Municipal Court Monday of discharging a firearm. He was fined $25. He also received a sentence of 10 days in city jail, which is to be suspended if he has no other violations of municipal ordinances for one year, and if the gun is impounded for one year.

Charges against Carabajal of injury to private property, disorderly conduct, and riotous conduct were dismissed. Carabajal, who was represented by Attorney Ben Fann, had already paid for the damages.

Charges of carrying a concealed weapon and consumption of alcoholic beverage against Albert Jorgensen, 23, Fort Carson, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Charges against John Gibson, 64, 522 E. Moreno St., were dismissed upon the request of the complaining witness. Gibson had been charged with riotout conduct, breach of the peace, and drunkenness. Judge Allan Asher said that the dismissal was on the condition that Gibson have no further such offenses, and that the weapon involved be destroyed by the court.

Charges of resisting police against Benjamin Sillix, 37, 2521 W. Cucharras St., were dismissed. Attorney Silvola represented Sillix.

Charges of riotous conduct and breach of the peace against Ben Lujan, 26, 18 N. Corona St., were dismissed upon the request of the complaining witness.

Mercy Lyons, 25, 127 E. Las Animas St., did not appear in court, and forfeited a $10 bond. He had been charged with making an improper turn.

Ronald Rodriquez, 21, 2531 E. St. Vrain St., also failed to appear in court, and forfeited a $15 bond. He had been charged with disorderly conduct.

The following persons who were all charged with drunkenness, did not appear in court, and each forfeited a $25 bond: Duane Claussen, 49, who had given his residence as a local hotel; James Colbert Jr., 25, Birmingham, Ala.; Joe Cortez, 31, 514 Mono Place; Eugene Eubanks, 36, 505 N. Weber St.; Martin Flannery Jr., 30, Canon City; Max Gallegos, 21, 726 S. Corona; Donald Hebbe, 22, Divide; Eugene Knowles, 44, 1630 Mesa Ave.; and Eleanor McCampbell, 36, 3700 N. Nevada Ave., Apt. 26.

Communist Party Plans New Drive in U.S. Areas

tional secretary, stressed there is urgent need for a revitalization program because —

"(1) The Communist Party has failed to grow among Negroes and youth; (2) failed to achieve better circulation of 'The Worker' and 'People's World'; and (3) improve financial resources."

Party vice chairman Henry Winston stated he had the feeling the "party has great reserves of sympathizers who agree basically with its point of view, and would be willing to participate in many forms of coalitions around explicit problems (i.e. front groups), but are unwilling to join the party."

The problem, Winston asserted, is how best to utilize this extensive underlying interest and support. His answer was "front organizations."

"There are hundreds of thousands in the trade unions and the Negro communities," said Winston, "who would join organization in which they could take the initiative in giving 'left leadership.' In years past, organizations of this type have been great sources of financial and organizational strength for the Communist Party of the U.S.A."

Winston also urged the "creation and development of guides" for speakers and outlines for group discussions, and increased distribution of party publications, such as "Political Affairs, "The Worker" and "People's World."

Prior to the National Board meeting, a memorandum was sent to party members asking for written recommendations for a "renewal program."

Specifically, the memorandum sought answers to three problems: How to (1) create new forms for extending the party base; (2) improve the party organization; (3) improve the work of party clubs and headquarters.

Commenting on the memorandum, Rubin expressed the view that "There is a great upsurge of 'radicalization' among American youth, and the Communist Party is reaching and working with thousands of poeple. But the party is unable to take advantage of this positive development because of the existence of reluctance, for security reasons, of many workers to join the party, and the necessity for the party to operate on three levels —legal, semi-legal and illegal."

"What we are seeking," continued Rubin, "are ideas and suggestions for forms short of the party organization (i. e., front groups) where policy would be formulated and discussed with people who are willing to work with the party and support party policy, but are not ready to affiliate organizationally with the party."

HEAD FOR TROUBLE

President Johnson has his work cut out if he asks the Senate to confirm an appointment of Max Kampelman to the federal bench.

The wealthy 44-year-old Washington attorney is pulling every wire to be named to the U. S. Court of Appeals. Apparently, the President is considering that because the FBI is known to be making the check required for such appointments.

But both Democratic and Republican senators are set to raise a stormy challenge on a number of grounds. Foremost among them are the following:

Kampelman, one-time legislative counsel of Vice President-elect Hubert Humphrey, was a conscientious objector during the war. Yet he is now reputed to have a reserve military commission. Also, he was one of the founders and a board member of the Washington bank that gave Bobby Baker a $125,000 unsecured loan.

At that time, Kampelman was the general counsel as well as board member of the bank.

While Kampelman has the powerful backing of Humphrey, District of Columbia Democratic leaders are far from enthusiastic about his getting the Court of Appeals post. They contend other more deserving party aspirants are entitled to it.

ommended that Boettcher and Co. buy the bonds. He said they agreed to buy bonds "that would meet our minimum needs" at 3.823 per cent interest and offered conditions for a larger amount". . .if further studies indicated the need for additional funds and sufficient revenues for repayment."

Biery said his recommendation ". . . is made on the basis that these bonds will be repaid solely from airport revenues and no final commitment can be made until the bond ordinance, together with supporting data, is approved by the City Council."

Hogginbotham Nakata & Muir, in association with Karcich & Weber, engineers, were commissioned by the city to design and engineer the new airport development.

The first phase of the project would involve development of the terminal, hangars, aircraft ramps and taxiways, utilities and access roads on the west side of the existing new north-south instrument runway.

This would provide the city with civilian facilities completely separate from the Air Force installation. The city agreed last October to lease the existing terminal to the federal government.

The new civilian terminal will cots an estimated $800,000.

The city manager has estimated that 200 to 250 acres could es of 770 additional acres needed of 770 additional acres needed for the expansion.

tinued to fall. The area, near Sun Valley, may be in the midst of a record snowfall, state officials said.

Snow closed most schools in the area. Lesser amounts of snow covered most of southern Idaho.

Heavy winds, rain and blizzards struck eastern Washington. A record snowfall of 22 inches closed airports and schools at Yakima in the central section.

Since a cold wave struck a week ago, 14 persons have been killed in Washington. They included two in sledding accidents and woman suffocated when she fell into a snowbank.

Four-foot drifts closed Interstate 90, a main highway, between Moses Lake and George. A Cascade Mountain pass, Cayuse, was closed by snow slides. Heavy snow warnings were issued for northeastern Washington and northern Idaho.

The state fish hatchery on the klickitat River near Glendale is isolated by 73 inches of snow. Ten adults and eight children are stranded there.

Two northwestern California towns with a total population of 2,500 were evacuated Monday when the rain-swollen Eel River reached flood stage. The residents of Weott and Myers Flat were taken to neighboring communities in the area 220 miles north of San Francisco.

The Weather Bureau said heavy rainfall would push the river over its banks at 22 feet.

Johnson Creek in southeastern Portland was 4½ feet above flood stage Monday night and 100 families were poised to abandon their homes. The Willamette River was expected to crest at one foot above flood level at Philomath in western Oregon's Benton County.

Gary L. Fisk, 12, of Millington was electrocuted Monday when he touched an electric lamp in his flooded home in Coos County on the southern Oregon coast. His mother was knocked unconscious trying to save him.

Portions of the Northwest continued to labor out from under cold and snow which laid siege to the area last week.

A new storm moved into western Montana, dumping four inches of snow in six hours in Missoula and Kaispell. Rain followed in some areas and the mixture caused snowslides on the Montana-Idaho border at Lost Trail Pass.

"Operation Haylift" was completed in southeastern Montana Monday where Air Force reservists dropped 65 tons of hay to starving, snowbound livestock. Ranchers in an eight-county area declared a disaster region by President Johnson estimated their loss in cattle and sheep at $3.4 million.

32 Crewmen Missing From Ship Wreckage

high, blown by wind of more than 40 knots.

The Tetshuho Maru, a Japanese ore carrier, raced to the scene, and the Navy tug Tawakoni from Adak joined the search, but they found nothing.

An oil slick and pieces of lumber which might have come from a ship were found two days later.

Sunday the pilot of a Navy search plane reported seeing the "badly battered" wreckage.

A search for survivors centered on islands northwest of Ulak. Lifeboats would have drifted in that direction if they mere launched.

Nothing about the plight of the ship was made public by the Navy and Coast Guard until the Alaska agent for Lloyd's of London tipped the Anchorage Times Monday.

In Washington, D.C., a spokesman for the Coast Guard said the position of the vessel given in its original distress message varied from a position given by the ship's agent in New York. He said that raised a question of whether there really was a ship in distress in the Aleutians.

He said bad weather delayed an air search.

A spokesman for C. Gardner Johnson Ltd., Vancouver agents for the freighter, said a man who came to the Canadian city from Yugoslavia eight years ago, stayed six years and applied for Canadian citizenship before moving on was an engineer on the vessel. He would not identify the crewman.

The San Patrick, registered to the Manor Investment Co. of Monrovia, Liberia, and operated by the Westland Marine Corp., New York, was on her first voyage since being converted to a bulk carrier. The vessel, which carried the name Good Hope when she was a tanker, was carrying 19,000 tons of grain and Canadian cattle feed when she left Vancouver.

Motion for New Trial Granted In Martz Case

grant a motion for a new trial."

Disputing the motion Deputy District Attorney Herman Ratner said Monday his office did not condone the behavior of the jury which was permitted to make 57 out-going telephone calls by Bailiff Hugh Higgins.

Ratner agree it was "highly improper," but felt it was the case of "honest men who made a mistake." The lawyer did not feel it was of such a nature as to necessitate a mistrail or a new trial.

He said attorneys for the defense, Hodson and Morris should have requested a new trial at the time adding that now the verdict of the jury did not suit Morris, "he comes into court asking for a mistrial."

In response Morris bitingly said that "eveything has been done in this case except bribery." It was, he said "gross misconduct and it is admitted, it is not something which has just been alleged." The evidence, he told the court was "uncontradicted" and the district attorney's office did not put on one single witness to dispute the charges.

The lawyer charged that 57 telephone calls were 57 violations of Judge Enoch's instructions. He pointed out that the night jurors, Higgins and his wife, slept in their rooms with the doors shut when they should have been watching the jury.

One juror, completely unattended, even went downstairs in the hotel, bought cigarettes and read newspapers. Another one, again unattended, went into another juror's rooms, mentioned the case and said she believed the defendant was guilty. All of these actions were grounds for setting aside the verdict, Morris said.

At the conclusion of arguments Judge Enoch then took the matter under advisement until this morning.

Martz was charged with the Dec. 18, 1963 pistol slaying of Lonnie Thomlison, 37, of Pueblo. Thomlison was trespassing on private property at the time of the incident and gathering wood with two companions.

The defense based its case on the allegation that Martz's gun went off accidentally when his horse took fright and reared.

Immediately after the ruling, Martz was released on his original bond of $10,000. The matter has been continued until term day, Jan. 12, for a new trial setting.

Egypt Downed Defenseless Boxcar Plane, Oilman Says

official comment pending instructions from Washington.

U.S. officials have had no contact with the Egyptian government on the potentially explosive situation since a Foreign Ministry representative gave the embassy the official Egyptian version of the incident Sunday.

The Egyptian government maintains the plane, a twin-engine Fairchild C82, was shot down after it ignored repeated instructions to land and was about to leave Egyptian territory. U.S. sources here indicate privately they are not satisfied with the explanation.

Hoyt Williams, pilot of the plane, and Kjell Grupp, the flight mechanic, were described as experienced airmen with long service abroad. They had flown the same route, from Jordan to Libya, several times in the past without incident.

The bodies of Williams and Grupp were moved from the crash site to the Greek hospital in Alexandria this morning.

Sources in Alexandria said the bodies had been lying in the mud of the Nile delta, where the plane crashed, for more than 2½ days.

The bodies are expected to be brought to Cairo where William's widow has been placed under care of a nurse since she arrived from Amman, Jordan, Sunday. Mrs. Williams, pregnant, has been described as near collapse.

Embassy officials have been described as deeply disturbed by the personal tragedy involved as well as the grave political implications of the incident which occurred less than four weeks after a mob of African students sacked the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Cairo.

"This incident is more serious than the burning of the library," one American source said privately. "Two of the most disturbing aspects of it are the unreasoning brutality involved and the casual attitude with which the Egyptian government is apparently treating it."

Khanh Defies U.S. Policies Following Political Purge

things were getting out of hand.

This was a direct challenge to American demands that the Saigon civilian government have supreme authority over the armed forces, and that the armed forces should not have the right to upset the government whenever they see fit.

Knanh's speech presumably was broadcast partly to allay rumors sweeping Saigon that he had been arrested. Normally reliable sources reported earlier that Khanh had been ousted from his post as commander in chief and soon might be leaving the country. But indications tonight were that he was firmly in the saddle.

U.S. spokesmen had no immediate comment. Americans said privately it looked as if the shutdown had come.

American officials said the purge has stymied plans being worked out to extend the war against the Viet Cong outside South Viet Nam.

Discharging Firearm Brings Fine

Amos Carabajal, 23, 1201 E. Las Animas St., was found guilty in Municipal Court Monday of discharging a firearm. He was fined $25. He also received a sentence of 10 days in city jail, which is to be suspended if he has no other violations of municipal ordinances for one year, and if the gun is impounded for one year.

Charges against Carabajal of injury to private property, disorderly conduct, and riotous conduct were dismissed. Carabajal, who was represented by Attorney Ben Fann, had already paid for the damages.

Charges of carrying a concealed weapon and consumption of alcoholic beverage against Albert Jorgensen, 23, Fort Carson, were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

Charges against John Gibson, 64, 522 E. Moreno St., were dismissed upon the request of the complaining witness. Gibson had been charged with riotout conduct, breach of the peace, and drunkenness. Judge Allan Asher said that the dismissal was on the condition that Gibson have no further such offenses, and that the weapon involved be destroyed by the court.

Charges of resisting police against Benjamin Sillix, 37, 2521 W. Cucharras St., were dismissed. Attorney Silvola represented Sillix.

Charges of riotous conduct and breach of the peace against Ben Lujan, 26, 18 N. Corona St., were dismissed upon the request of the complaining witness.

Mercy Lyons, 25, 127 E. Las Animas St., did not appear in court, and forfeited a $10 bond. He had been charged with making an improper turn.

Ronald Rodriquez, 21, 2531 E. St. Vrain St., also failed to appear in court, and forfeited a $15 bond. He had been charged with disorderly conduct.

The following persons who were all charged with drunkenness, did not appear in court, and each forfeited a $25 bond: Duane Claussen, 49, who had given his residence as a local hotel; James Colbert Jr., 25, Birmingham, Ala.; Joe Cortez, 31, 514 Mono Place; Eugene Eubanks, 36, 505 N. Specifically, the memorandum sought answers to three problems: How to (1) create new forms for extending the party base; (2) improve the party organization; (3) improve the work of party clubs and headquarters.

Commenting on the memorandum, Rubin expressed the view that "There is a great upsurge of 'radicalization' among American youth, and the Communist Party is reaching and working with thousands of poeple. But the party is unable to take advantage of this positive development because of the existence of reluctance, for security reasons, of many workers to join the party, and the necessity for the party to operate on three levels —legal, semi-legal and illegal."

"What we are seeking," continued Rubin, "are ideas and suggestions for forms short of the party organization (i. e., front groups) where policy would be formulated and discussed with people who are willing to work with the party and support party policy, but are not ready to affiliate organizationally with the party."

HEAD FOR TROUBLE

President Johnson has his work cut out if he asks the Senate to confirm an appointment of Max Kampelman to the federal bench.

The wealthy 44-year-old Washington attorney is pulling every wire to be named to the U. S. Court of Appeals. Apparently, the President is considering that because the FBI is known to be making the check required for such appointments.

But both Democratic and Republican senators are set to raise a stormy challenge on a number of grounds. Foremost among them are the following:

Kampelman, one-time legislative counsel of Vice President-elect Hubert Humphrey, was a conscientious objector during the war. Yet he is now reputed to have a reserve military commission. Also, he was one of the founders and a board member of the Washington bank that gave Bobby Baker a $125,000 unsecured loan.

At that time, Kampelman was the general counsel as well as board member of the bank.

While Kampelman has the powerful backing of Humphrey, District of Columbia Democratic leaders are far from enthusiastic about his getting the Court of Appeals post. They contend other more deserving party aspirants are entitled to it.

ommended that Boettcher and Co. buy the bonds. He said they agreed to buy bonds "that would meet our minimum needs" at 3.823 per cent interest and offered conditions for a larger amount". . .if further studies indicated the need for additional funds and sufficient revenues for repayment."

Biery said his recommendation ". . . is made on the basis that these bonds will be repaid solely from airport revenues and no final commitment can be made until the bond ordinance, together with supporting data, is approved by the City Council."

Hogginbotham Nakata & Muir, in association with Karcich & Weber, engineers, were commissioned by the city to design and engineer the new airport development.

The first phase of the project would involve development of the terminal, hangars, aircraft ramps and taxiways, utilities and access roads on the west side of the existing new north-south instrument runway.

This would provide the city with civilian facilities completely separate from the Air Force installation. The city agreed last October to lease the existing terminal to the federal government.

The new civilian terminal will cots an estimated $800,000.

The city manager has estimated that 200 to 250 acres could es of 770 additional acres needed of 770 additional acres needed for the expansion.

Pilot Lands Twice In Red Territory

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An American fighter pilot who arrived in South Viet Nam six weeks ago has crash-landed twice in the past four days in Communist territory.

Capt. Jude R. McNamara of Davenport, Iowa, survived both crashes without injury.

"It was pretty much routine," McNamara said after his second crash Monday, seven miles north of Ca Mau.

He had crashed three days earlier near Moc Hoa, west of Saigon on the Cambodian border.

Both times McNamara's Skyraiders developed engine trouble. Both aircraft were destroyed on the ground after McNamara had been evacuated by helicopter and the planes' arms had been removed.

Reporting on his second crash, McNamara said: "I carried out the usual emergency procedures and bellied the plane in, cut the switches and climbed out. I lit a cigarette and waited 10 minutes and the helicopters were down to pick me up."

THAT'S MY MOM!

SAUKVILLE, Wis. (AP) — When Mrs. Alan Hauck joined her three sons for a baseball game, she shocked them by hitting a long fly ball to the other side of the yard.

Her nine-year-old son, Chris, turned to the watching neighborhood audience and beamed, "Boy! For a girl HER age, my mom sure can hit a ball!"

Dewey Son to Become Partner in Law Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Thomas E. Dewey Jr., son of the former New York governor, will become the youngest general partner of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. on Jan. 1. He is 32.

Dewey joined the firm in 1958 and was appointed a vice president a year ago.

Asked if his father's name had helped him in business, Dewey replied: "It's hard to say specifically. The name tends to engender good will — that's a good phrase. But when you get down to business, I couldn't say."

BOY BUILDERS

SELDEN, N.Y. (AP) — As part of their work in construction classes, a group of boys in Newfield High School have built a two-story house with attached garage.

Besides making their own blueprints, the students did all their own millwork, doors and windows, even cutting the glass. Electricity students installed the electrical system.

The building, materials for which cost about $5,500, will be sold to the highest bidder, with proceeds of the sale to be used to perpetuate the school's vocational training program.

Green Bay Packers' quarterback Bart Starr, who had a lifetime pass completion record of 55.8 per cent entering this National Football League season, is in his ninth season as a pro.

Prisoners Expect Christmas Parole

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — "I'll be home for Christmas," is the promise repeatedly coming from inmates at the Southern Michigan State Prison these last few weeks.

Under the so-called "Christmas parole" policy of the State Corrections Department, any prisoner eligible for parole between Dec. 14 and Jan. 10 can be released to his family by Christmas.

Parole officers have been working overtime lining up job promises and making sure the men have a home or place to live waiting for them.

All will hear the traditional last words from the releasing guard: "Good luck, and try not to come back."

Burned Boy Will Get to Ride Horse

DONALD, Ore. (AP) — When 13-year-old Grady Howard can ride again, he won't have to share the family horse with sister Susan and brother Dan.

Susan, 12, won a registered quarter horse just for Grady, who is home after seven months in two Oregon hospitals. He was severely burned on both legs in a gasoline fire at the Howard home last June.

Susan will give the quarter horse—so named because it is bred for high speeds up to a quarter of a mile—to Grady for Christmas.

Eleven skin grafting operations were performed on Grady at Salem Memorial Hospital. When complications set in he was taken to Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children in Portland where more skin grafts were tried.

Grady walks now, but gently, as his legs are still bandaged.

The contest, in a Pacific Northwest horse magazine, asked youngsters to write telling why they wanted the horse.

Susan, who has four other brothers and sisters, wrote:

"I want to win the quarter horse because of my brother Grady, who is 13. You see, every summer, Dan, 14, Grady and I, all pick berries, beans and nuts to buy our school clothes. Whatever is left we get to buy what we want. We saved for two years and bought a little colt . . . Now she is a beautiful mare.

"But boy, all of us just can't ride her at the same time.

"Grady has suffered so much, and we miss him so much that I want to give him the quarter horse for his Christmas present from the whole family.

"Grady has been so brave about his legs, and knows it will be a long time before he is all well again."

Susan's reason was judged the best, and she became the owner of Paramount Isle, a sorrel colt.

The Howard family went to Orchards, Wash., over the weekend to visit the horse, where it is stabled on the Isaman Ranch. Judy Isaman edits the magazine which sponsored the contest.

Grady's father, Willard Howard, a supermarket employe in Milwaukee, Ore., said that Grady has had a rough time of it.

"But having the horse will be a tremendous challenge and responsibility for Grady now. It gives him something to look forward to."

Chile Is Buying Major Share of Copper Mines

By JOSE M. ORLANDO

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The Chilean government is buying a major share in the operations in Chile of Anaconda and Kennecott, the two U.S. copper giants.

The move will make Chile the world's leading copper producer by 1970, President Eduardo Frei said Mnday night. The lead is held by the United States.

Frei announced that the government will acquire 51 per cent of the Braden Copper Co., Kennecott's Chilean subsidiary, for $80 million to be paid over 20 years.

Kennecott will reinvest all the money in the Chilean copper industry, Frei said, and the government and the company will put up another $120 million jointly to expand production.

The government also will own 5 per cent of a new company to be formed jointly with Anaconda to develop an untapped deposit in northern Chile. However, Anaconda's four subsidiaries in Chile will not be touched, the president said.

Frei said production of 617,000 tons a year will increase to more than 1.2 million tons by 1970. He said the companies had pledged to refine all Chilean copper within the country "depending on the technical and trade conditions of the world market."

In return, Frei said, the companies will get tax stability, guarantees that there will be no discrimination against their investments and duty-free imports of equipment.

Frei, who was sworn in Nov. 3 for a six-year term, promised during his campaign to expand the country's mineral production in cooperation with the big U.S. firms. He won a landslide victory over a Marxist candidate who advocated nationalization of the companies.

Last month Frei obtained from the Cerro Corp. an agreement for joint exploitation of the Rio Blanco mine in central Chile. The government will buy 25 per cent of the company's stock.

Informed sources said the government wants to nationalize the American-owned Chilean telephone and electric companies.

Frei would like "to buy both companies for a fair price and with their full consent," the sources said. There was doubt that the government could raise the money, estimated at around $600 million.

The telephone company is owned by International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. and the electric company by the American & Foreign Power Co.

HOME VIA CHUTE

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — When she found herself locked out recently, Mrs. Harvey W. Miller tried all the windows she could reach without success. Then she eyed the milk chute.

Cautiously, she poked her head in the chute. She decided she could make it—so she wriggled and squirmed through into her house.

She was tiny enough to do it, but she doesn't recommend it for everyone.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Since many readers share Alice's problem, pin this Case Record over your kitchen sink so you can put its advice into effect before the next 24 hours passes. Never let your aged relatives be shut off from 100 per cent enjoyment of this Earth during their few final years! Give them prosthetic presents-

CASE U-461: Alice K, aged 38, wonders about a suitable present for her elderly parents.

"Dr. Crane," she began,, "Dad and Mother are in their seventies.

"And they have all the conveniences, so what can I do for them that would produce the greatest enjoyment

"They are both beyond the usual lifespan of Americans, so by law of averages, they might pass away at any time.

"In recent years I have given them clothing and a TV set, but they have their dresser drawers packed full of hose, handkerchiefs, shirts, etc.

"So I am at my wit's end, Dr. Crane, what else can I give them."

Millions of you readers might take your aged parents down to the dentist and either get new dentures for them.

Or have their present false teeth re-lined so they will fit and function much better.

For elderly folks, though most generous with their grandchildren, will grow miserly about spending a penny on their own enjoyment.

So they will stumble along with outmoded eye glasses or miss much of the music, birds' songs and conversation for lack of one of the neat modern hearing aids.

Or they will forego raw vegetables and tough meat because of lack of good false teeth.

In the latter case, they often develop secondary anemia by going on a semi soft menu of mashed potatoes and gravy. Or they dunk their doughnut or toast in coffee to soften it.

So you children (or grandchildren) should take over and drive them down to the dentist for a dental check-up.

"Oh, but my old teeth will do me," they usually protest,' "for I may not have many more years to use them, anyway!"

That's all the more reason they should enjoy life to the full since there may not be much more ahead!

Instead of limping along at the 50 per cent mark regarding vision, hearing, and semisoft menu, make sure they can again enjoy life 100 per cent.

Which means, get them new dentures (false teeth).

Also, have their eyes tested at once and new glasses ordered, if needed.

If they now have a cataract, consult an eye surgeon for immediate restoration of good vision in that blind eye.

If they have a hearing defect, get them fitted with a neat modern hearing device.

But try it out thoroughly, for there are various types of deafness so the same hearing gadget does not suit every type of our defect.

And then encourage them to use their new bifocals or hearing aid or new false teeth, for you must adapt to these wonderful additions to your deficient vision, hearing or chewing.

And give your aged mother or grandmother a permanent.

If they live with you, subscribe to their hometown newspaper to keep them current about their old neighborhood.

And be sure to take them to church EVERY SUNDAY, for that is a superb tonic for their soul and even perks up their physiology, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

World's Smallest Church Being Moved

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The world's smallest church — the Monte Casino Chapel which has been on a hillside since 1878 — is being moved today.

It was hoisted onto a flat bed truck for the four-mile journey to a new site in Kenton County where it will become a part of the new Villa Madonna College campus.

A monk, Albert Soltis, built the small stone church in 1878 as a retreat for his wine-making Benedictine brothers who founded a monastery here. The monastery has long been abandoned and the church is all that remains.

The church is four feet wide and six feet from entrance to back wall. Its steeple was removed to allow for clearance under utility lines.

Fred Riedinger of Lookout Heights became the owner of the church in 1957. He gave it to Villa Madonna as a memorial to his mother, Alma Riedinger.

DRAMA ASSISTANCE IN N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Council on the Arts and the American National Theater and Academy have combined forces to provide theater service to university and community groups in the state.

Through the council, local groups will be able to tap the professional assistance facilities of ANTA. In some cases the council is to help defray costs of technical consultation.

MARGE CHAMPION COMES BACK

NEW YORK (AP) — Marge Champion, who last danced on Broadway in 1955, makes her first excursion into straight dramatic acting this season in "Everybody Out, the Castle Is Sinking."

Mrs. Champion said she was returning to action because her husband, Gower, has been urging her to get out of the kitchen. The couple have two sons, Gregg, 8, and Blake, 2. During the past several years Champion has established himself as a leading Broadway director with such hits as "Carnival" and "Hello, Dolly!"

The director of "Everybody Out," is to be Henry Ephron, coauthor of the comedy with his wife, Phoebe.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Since many readers share Alice's problem, pin this Case Record over your kitchen sink so you can put its advice into effect before the next 24 hours passes. Never let your aged relatives be shut off from 100 per cent enjoyment of this Earth during their few final years! Give them prosth tic presents-

CASE U-461: Alice K, aged 38, wonders about a suitable present for her elderly parents.

"Dr. Crane," she began,, "Dad and Mother are in their seventies.

"And they have all the conveniences, so what can I do for them that would produce the greatest enjoyment

"They are both beyond the usual lifespan of Americans, so by law of averages, they might pass away at any time.

"In recent years I have given them clothing and a TV set, but they have their dresser drawers packed full of hose, handkerchiefs, shirts, etc.

"So I am at my wit's end. Dr. Crane, what else can I give them."

Millions of you readers might take your aged parents down to the dentist and either get new dentures for them.

Or have their present false teeth re-lined so they will fit and function much better.

For elderly folks, though most generous with their grandchildren, will grow miserly about spending a penny on their own enjoyment.

So they will stumble along with outmoded eye glasses or miss much of the music, birds' songs and conversation for lack of one of the neat modern hearing aids.

Or they will forego raw vegetables and tough meat because of lack of good false teeth.

In the latter case, they often develop secondary anemia by going on a semi soft menu of mashed potatoes and gravy. Or they dunk their doughnut or toast in coffee to soften it.

So you children (or grandchildren) should take over and drive them down to the dentist for a dental check-up.

"Oh, but my old teeth will do me," they usually protest,' "for I may not have many more years to use them, anyway!"

That's all the more reason they should enjoy life to the full since there may not be much more ahead!

Instead of limping along at the 50 per cent mark regarding vision, hearing, and semisoft menu, make sure they can again enjoy life 100 per cent.

Which means, get them new dentures (false teeth).

Also, have their eyes tested at once and new glasses ordered, if needed.

If they now have a cataract, consult an eye surgeon for immediate restoration of good vision in that blind eye.

If they have a hearing defect, get them fitted with a neat modern hearing device.

But try it out thoroughly, for there are various types of deafness so the same hearing gadget does not suit every type of our defect.

And then encourage them to use their new bifocals or hearing aid or new false teeth, for you must adapt to these wonderful additions to your deficient vision, hearing or chewing.

And give your aged mother or grandmother a permanent.

If they live with you, subscribe to their hometown newspaper to keep them current about their old neighborhood.

And be sure to take them to church EVERY SUNDAY, for that is a superb tonic for their soul and even perks up their physiology, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed enveiope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

World's Smallest Church Being Moved

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The world's smallest church — the Monte Casino Chapel which has been on a hillside since 1878 — is being moved today.

It was hoisted onto a flat bed truck for the four-mile journey to a new site in Kenton County where it will become a part of the new Villa Madonna College campus.

A monk, Albert Soltis, built the small stone church in 1878 as a retreat for his wine-making Benedictine brothers who founded a monastery here. The monastery has long been abandoned and the church is all that remains.

The church is four feet wide and six feet from entrance to back wall. Its steeple was removed to allow for clearance under utility lines.

Fred Riedinger of Lookout Heights became the owner of the church in 1957. He gave it to Villa Madonna as a memorial to his mother, Alma Riedinger.

DRAMA ASSISTANCE IN N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Council on the Arts and the American National Theater and Academy have combined forces to provide theater service to university and community groups in the state.

Through the council, local groups will be able to tap the professional assistance facilities of ANTA. In some cases the council is to help defray costs of technical consultation.

MARGE CHAMPION COMES BACK

NEW YORK (AP) — Marge Champion, who last danced on Broadway in 1955, makes her first excursion into straight dramatic acting this season in "Everybody Out, the Castle Is Sinking."

Mrs. Champion said she was returning to action because her husband, Gower, has been urging her to get out of the kitchen. The couple have two sons, Gregg, 8, and Blake, 2. During the past several years Champion has established himself as a leading Broadway director with such hits as "Carnival" and "Hello, Dolly!"

The director of "Everybody Out," is to be Henry Ephron, coauthor of the comedy with his wife, Phoebe.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Is there such a thing as an honest man? —W. F.

ANSWER: When a man says, "I don't believe there are any honest men," he is merely confessing that he isn't one of them.

Honesty needs no definition. Even a child knows what honestly is. It is being free from deciet, and filled with integrity.

Shakespeare said, "No legacy is as rich as honesty." He also said, "To be honest, as this world goes, is to be a man picked out of ten thousand."

The Bible teaches that every "natural" man tends to lie . . . and that our hearts are "deceitful."

But, the simple fact is this: we can't all be clever, or creative, or gifted, but we can all be honest. It lies within the province of every man, regardless of race, color, or age to be trustworthy. But, again, history and our nature are against us. Only one Man who walked the earth was perfectly honest. He promised those who followed Him the strength and power to overcome this world of dishonesty and deceit. The only way to be honest is to let Him be Lord of your life.

QUESTION: Will you please explain the Bible verse which reads: "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness." — D. V.

ANSWER: There is no command that we "hunger and thirst after righteousness." We do this instinctively. David said: "As the hart panteth after the waterbrook, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God." The prodigal son said, "In my father's house is bread enough and to spare, but I perish with hunger."

I have travelled around the world several times, and I have never found a people in darkest Africa or in the most populated urban areas who didn't hunger and thirst for fellowship with God. I think much of the lawlessness and rebellion in the world is an uncanny hunger for God — a search, a quest for happiness that is only found in knowing God. And Jesus said: "Blessed are they that do hunger and thirst after righteousness, for they shall be filled."

He is as near as our breathing; He is as real as our heartbeat. But the key to finding Him is fatith — faith that He will take us at our worst and help us to live at our very best.

Windsors to Spend Christmas in Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will spend Christmas in Methodist Hospital, where the duke underwent abdominal surgery last Wednesday.

This was disclosed Monday as hospital advisories reported the duke's recuperation continues without incident and his general condition is excellent. He remains on a liquid diet but has been strolling around the hall and has visited the duchess in her room.

The duchess sent holiday greetings to all by way of a hospital official and expressed hope that out-of-town newsmen assigned to cover the royal couple would be able to rejoin their families for the holiday.

The duchess said no interviews would be granted until after Christmas.

MALE NURSES

BURRELL, Va. (AP)—Burrell Memorial Hospital's program to encourage men to become practical nurses is working out well, reports Administrator Henry Whyte.

Two men graduated from the practical nursing course last February; one will graduate this February and three are to enter the next class. The two graduates are both employed—one in Burrell and the other at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Salam.

"I wish we had more men taking practical nursing," Whyte said. "We are trying to interest as many as we can."

He also added that he would be interested in employing male registered nurses. "They would be excellent in supervisory capacities."

Cut circular medals from gold foil paper and give them to the small boys in your home. Along with small pieces of narrow ribbons, they make fine mock battle medals.

Rubble Dumped in Front of City Hall

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "I had no place to put the load," said the driver after he dropped 11 tons of rubble from his dump truck on the sidewalk in front of City Hall, police reported.

After dropping the load Monday night, William Giagnacova, 40, left his truck on the sidewalk while he went for a "cup of coffee," police said.

Giagnacova said he was protesting recent city action in losing a dump to private truckers. He was charged with violating the state mental hygiene law and taken to Meyer Memorial Hospital for observation, police said.

City workers cleaned up the debris. The truck was towed to a police garage.

Circus Employe Eaten by Lion

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Four lions escaped today from a circus camp near Adelaide. Armed police and a big game hunter surrounded the area.

A lion suddenly stood up with part of a man's body in his mouth.

One lion was forced back into its cage. The men closed in on the other three animals and fired. Two dropped dead but a lioness was only wounded. She leaped for a group of men.

Big game hunter Hambley Clark brought her down with a shot in the head when she was only six feet away.

The lion's victim was George Herzel, about 50, a circus employee.

Total gross farm receipts from marketings last year totaled about $36 billion, according to Rep. Wright Patman of Texas.

"That train would be fine for a 35-year-old boy with a moustache. But one 18 months old isn't quite ready."

Date-Line

By Ele and Walt Dulaney

Hi, this is Ele on my own to take you on a pair of hospital tours. What are my tour guide credentials? Well, before I joined Walt at the typewriter, I was a registered nurse at a major hospital.

Tour number 1. Make it about December 23. The halls are decked—and how! Christmas mobiles, trees, numerous wreaths and other goodies brighten the white corridors. From various wings of the hospital come festive sounds as various clubs, choirs and groups sing beloved carols. The mood is warm and loving.

Now, let's flip seven calendar pages and land in midsummer for tour number 2. The halls are antiseptically clean and bare. No decorations, of course — and no touring minstrils. The mood is cold and lonely.

Think I exaggerate to make a point? Then listen to these head nurses and hospital administrators.

"From early December through Christmas, we could schedule caroling 24 hours a day, if we accepted all the groups that want to come. But then on December 26, everyone leans back and decides they've done their hospital good deed for the year.

"They just don't realize that there are patients in the hospital 12 months a year, and that the echoes of December caroling don't last those other 11 months."

"We have to have a regular appointment book at Christmas time to schedule all the groups in half-hour intervals. It almost requires traffic control to get one group in and out on time, so that the next can start. What an overflow of concern. But then nothing happens the balance of the year! You'd think groups would realize that people get sick year-round, and need cheering up just as much in May as they do in December."

"You have to be firm because the facilities can only accommodate so many carolers. The requests start coming in September, and by mid-November, our calendar's full. If only we could convince some groups to space their visits throughout the year."

See the problem? In December, a bonanza of community attention showers entertainment and goodies on the bedfast. But then for the balance of the year, they're almost entirely neglected.

Can it be that we're strictly a Christmas Club culture? Do we bank our concern and affection and cash to erupt only one month a year? Can we exhibit good deeds, kind words and good fellowship only once a year? Must we be too busy the other 11 months to note the needs of others? If so, that's a heck of a way to be human!

But maybe the reason is less sinister. Perhaps we're just geared to think of hospital sharing as a seasonal pursuit. If so, let this column break your habit and awake you to the fact that your concern and company is needed year-round by the bed-ridden folks of the community.

Naturally you can't go caroling in the middle of July, but that needn't stop you. As one administrator says, "Patients would be delighted to be serenaded any time if the year. A visit from a church choir, a university deputation team, or a strictly amateur club chorale would brighten their dull day equally well."

Can't sing? Then heed these ideas. "Combos, dancers, magicians — any form of entertainment would be welcome."

So, how about it? By all means offer your caroling services this Christmas, but don't stop there. Put your thinking caps on and schedule several hospital visits a year. Your talent needn't be professional. The fact that you cared and came is what will matter most to the patients!

Half-Soled Streets Reported in Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa is half-soling residential streets. It's the city answer to the deteriorating streets in older residential neighborhoods.

Some people call it "instant streets" because in the morning the pavement is cracked with the wear and repair of 40 years. By afternoon, it looks as good as new.

The "half sole" process is used in streets costly to maintain, but not bad enough to justify a complete new pavement. In the process, the old pavement is coated with tar-like oil to bond the old surface to the new cover. A thin coating of hot asphalt mix is then spread over the street with a special machine and packed down by a heavy power roller.

BACKFIRE

TAVARES, Fla. (AP)—When Reid Martin decided to redecorate his carpet and furniture store, he asked the city to build some new sidewalks around it. He was advised that it could be done, but that the merchant had to bear the cost.

Skeptical that there had been such a resolution, Martin decided to inspect the city minutes for years back. The motion was there all right—but the worst part was that it had been introduced by Reid Martin himself!

Cub Scout Pack Holds Meeting

Cub Scout Pack 29 of Edison School held its Christmas meeting Friday. The meeting was opened by presentation of the Colors and Pledge of Allegiance conducted by Den 8.

Christmas carols were sung by the group while the dens decorated the Christmas tree with decorations they had made.

Perfect attendance awards were given to Dens 10, 11, 12 and the Webelos. Awards were given to the following Cubs: Wolf Badge — Robert Lewis. Gold arrow under the Wolf — Robert Lewis, Mark Joiner, Gregory Guerrero, Stanley Guerrero.

Silver arrow under the Wolf — Robert Lewis, Mark Joiner, Mickey Preston, Alton Greenough, and Todd Van Pelt received two silver arrows. The Bear badge went to Neil Miller and James Carter. Tony Morgan, Lanny Morgan and Clifford Moore received silver arrows under the Bear.

Rubble Dumped in Front of City Hall

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — "I had no place to put the load," said the driver after he dropped 11 tons of rubble from his dump truck on the sidewalk in front of City Hall, police reported.

After dropping the load Monday night, William Giagnacova, 40, left his truck on the sidewalk while he went for a "cup of coffee," police said.

Giagnacova said he was protesting recent city action in losing a dump to private truckers. He was charged with violating the state mental hygiene law and taken to Meyer Memorial Hospital for observation, police said.

City workers cleaned up the debris. The truck was towed to a police garage.

Circus Employe Eaten by Lion

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP) — Four lions escaped today from a circus camp near Adelaide. Armed police and a big game hunter surrounded the area.

A lion suddenly stood up with part of a man's body in his mouth.

One lion was forced back into its cage. The men closed in on the other three animals and fired. Two dropped dead but a lioness was only wounded. She leaped for a group of men.

Big game hunter Hambley Clark brought her down with a shot in the head when she was only six feet away.

The lion's victim was George Herzel, about 50, a circus employee.

Total gross farm receipts from marketings last year totaled about $36 billion, according to Rep. Wright Patman of Texas.

"That train would be fine for a 35-year-old boy with a moustache. But one 18 months old isn't quite ready."

Date-Line

By Ele and Walt Dulaney

Hi, this is Ele on my own to take you on a pair of hospital tours. What are my tour guide credentials? Well, before I joined Walt at the typewriter, I was a registered nurse at a major hospital.

Tour number 1. Make it about December 23. The halls are decked— and how! Christmas mobiles, trees, numerous wreaths and other goodies brighten the white corridors. From various wings of the hospital come festive sounds as various clubs, choirs and groups sing beloved carols. The mood is warm and loving.

Now, let's flip seven calendar pages and land in midsummer for tour number 2. The halls are antiseptically clean and bare. No decorations, of course — and no touring minstrils. The mood is cold and lonely.

Think I exaggerate to make a point? Then listen to these head nurses and hospital administrators.

"From early December through Christmas, we could schedule caroling 24 hours a day, if we accepted all the groups that want to come. But then on December 26, everyone leans back and decides they've done their hospital good deed for the year.

"They just don't realize that there are patients in the hospital 12 months a year, and that the echoes of December caroling don't last those other 11 months."

"We have to have a regular appointment book at Christmas time to schedule all the groups in half-hour intervals. It almost requires traffic control to get one group in and out on time, so that the next can start. What an overflow of concern. But then nothing happens the balance of the year! You'd think groups would realize that people get sick year-round, and need cheering up just as much in May as they do in December."

"You have to be firm because the facilities can only accommodate so many carolers. The requests start coming in September, and by mid-November, our calendar's full. If only we could convince some groups to space their visits throughout the year."

See the problem? In December, a bonanza of community attention showers entertainment and goodies on the bedfast. But then for the balance of the year, they're almost entirely neglected.

Can it be that we're strictly a Christmas Club culture? Do we bank our concern and affection and cash to erupt only one month a year? Can we exhibit good deeds, kind words and good fellowship only once a year? Must we be too busy the other 11 months to note the needs of others? If so, that's a heck of a way to be human!

But maybe the reason is less sinister. Perhaps we're just geared to think of hospital sharing as a seasonal pursuit. If so, let this column break your habit and awake you to the fact that your concern and company is needed year-round by the bed-ridden folks of the community.

Naturally you can't go caroling in the middle of July, but that needn't stop you. As one administrator says, "Patients would be delighted to be serenaded any time if the year. A visit from a church choir, a university deputation team, or a strictly amateur club chorale would brighten their dull day equally well."

Can't sing? Then heed these ideas. "Combos, dancers, magicians — any form of entertainment would be welcome."

So, how about it? By all means offer your caroling services this Christmas, but don't stop there. Put your thinking caps on and schedule several hospital visits a year. Your talent needn't be professional. The fact that you cared and came is what will matter most to the patients!

Half-Soled Streets Reported in Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Tulsa is half-soling residential streets. It's the city answer to the deteriorating streets in older residential neighborhoods.

Some people call it "instant streets" because in the morning the pavement is cracked with the wear and repair of 40 years. By afternoon, it looks as good as new.

The "half sole" process is used in streets costly to maintain, but not bad enough to justify a complete new pavement. In the process, the old pavement is coated with tar-like oil to bond the old surface to the new cover. A thin coating of hot asphalt mix is then spread over the street with a special machine and packed down by a heavy power roller.

BACKFIRE

TAVARES, Fla. (AP)—When Reid Martin decided to redecorate his carpet and furniture store, he asked the city to build some new sidewalks around it. He was advised that it could be done, but that the merchant had to bear the cost.

Skeptical that there had been such a resolution, Martin decided to inspect the city minutes for years back. The motion was there all right—but the worst part was that it had been introduced by Reid Martin himself!

GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH
Your Freedom Newspaper
Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Debate Over Ownership

Political scientists, historians, economists and philosophers have long debated a basic question respecting the ownership of property. The number of theories advanced to explain this phenomenon, to discover its origin, to define its characteristics, to ascertain its moral weight, have been almost as numerous as there have been serious scholars in these respective avenues of inquiry.

Today, the question remains unanswered if a consensus is sought. Various theories remain favorites with various thinkers.

Property ownership exists as a fact. Virtually every nation has adopted a set of laws, differing in detail, but essentially confirming the reality of property ownership. But property ownership also pertains among backward peoples who have never formalized what we would dignify with the word "government." They have no body of written law, but only a common custom, which in practice serves esentially the same purpose as a set of statutes.

Pragmatists examine the record to discover what men have actually done when they have sought to own and have managed to own something that could be classed as property. Theorists have appeared who have tended to advance some particular concept of human behavior, not so concerned with what men have done in this particular, but rather concerned with what men should have done to harmonize action with theory.

At the moment there are two general theories, struggling for supremacy over the world. Each theory has its own exponents and each exponent has his own interpretation and variations to offer. However, irrespective of details available in abundance in both camps, the central themes are discernible and can be described.

The major contention is not over what may constitute property. The major contention at the moment is over the concept of ownership and who may own how much of what.

It would be difficult to determine where the actual roots of either belief originate. Both have origins stretching back into antiquity, with writers and scientists continuing to offer new data in support of first one position and then the other.

Theory A contends that each individual person, irrespective of his age or sex, his race or religion, his condition in life or his place of national origin, is naturally constituted as a potential property owner. This school of thought contends that ownership is an individual and personal matter.

It sees each person as capable in his own nature of acquiring property, of adding to it, of disposing of it, of keeping as much of it as his own tastes, ambitions and inclinations direct. The kind or amount of property to be owned at any given time by any given man, is rejected as a factor in this school of thought. Each man may own as much or as little as he may honestly acquire. Theft, fraud, extortion and other acts containing violence or the threat of violence are ruled out as acceptable means of acquiring or retaining property. Property acquired in any of these ways, is generally viewed as being possessed but not as being rightfully owned.

Theory B contends that no individual person is naturally constituted to own anything. Rather, it is deemed that society (mass man) properly owns all things in common and that no one man may subtract from the general ownership save by the consent of the society and then, only on the basis of established need. This theory holds that all property belongs collectively to all people. Emphasis is placed upon distribution, either on an equal or on a "fair" basis. Neither theory A nor B disputes the existence of property, as such. The dispute, and it is extensive, has to do with ownership, which is viewed either as a private or a public affair.

Theory A leads to economic systems which are variously termed: free enterprise; private enterprise; laissez faire; capitalism; private capitalism; private property; market system; free-market system, and so on.

Theory B leads to economic systems which are variously termed: planned economy; centrally managed economy; managed economy; socialism; communism; mixed economy; state capitalism; managed market system, and so on.

This country is a great proving ground for these various theories. There is scarcely an economic system, deriving either from nature or from the devising mind of man, that has not been tried out in America in one place or another at one time or another.

This newspaper is an exponent of theory A. We believe it to be a practical and also a moral theory which produces results which are generally desirable when they are understood.

Character

A crisis is the display counter of character. More than this, it is also the matrix of character.

Ownership in Land

Where does the idea of ownership originate? It originates in human necessity. Man, by his nature, is wholly dependent upon property. He cannot survive in this world without making use of various kinds of property. He must have food, clothing and shelter; his own nature and the climatic conditions of this world compel him. So fundamental is this central fact of man's existence that some practice of property ownership is found among lesser species as well as man.

Robert Ardrey, in his work, "African Genesis," recites at length the observable fact that many mammals as well as birds, certain fish and crustaceans, conduct themselves in a way which recognizes the property requirements of others of their own species. Since it is normal to accept the idea that these lower forms of life do not reason but, instead, operate on the basis of instinct, it is safe to suggest that among vertebrates and even beyond, property ownership is instinctive.

It is possible, thus, to argue that man's fundamental urge to acquire and possess property is at least as deeply rooted as an instinct among animals. Even if we neglect this argument, the fact of necessity provides all that is required to establish that man, by his nature, must be an owner. But the existence of what appears to be a practice of ownership among animals indicates that ownership itself is not necessarily an ideological concept, available only to reasonable beings. It may lie somewhat closer to emotions; may be understandable only in abstract terms.

However, rational man may be able to conceptualize, even in abstract areas, and thus come closer to understanding what, in point of fact, he has always done.

To begin with, man owns himself. The first and primary item of ownership consists of that dominion man has of his own being. All additional items of property are merely extensions of this basic item of property in ownership. The thrill of discovery over his own dominion of himself comes to the little child. He flexes his muscles, delights in discovering that the property of his body obeys his will. He does not philosophize. He learns that he and he alone has the power to command himself.

When ownership extends beyond the person, much the same kind of dominion is sought. The person desires to own because he desires to master and control some particular item that is not a part of his body.

The child yearns for a toy. What does he do with the toy once he gets it? He manipulates it and worries it and struggles with it, demonstrating his supremacy over the toy, much as he has already demonstrated his dominion over his body.

In all likelihood he will break the toy. He intends doing so. It is in this way that he establishes the supremacy of his control. He wants that object to behave as HE wants it to behave. He doesn't concern himself with the nature of the object. He does concern himself with the nature of his control over the object.

This process continues as he grows older and becomes more selective in his choices of property. He acquires property that he intends to dominate, to control, to master.

One of the greatest thrills that any human being ever experiences in life is that thrill that accompanies his first purchase or acquisition of land, or buildings with land under them. Even the purchase of an expensive automobile or some other major item of property cannot be compared to the purchase of land, insofar as satisfactions go.

The human being who has acquired a piece of real estate, no matter how tiny, no matter where located, no matter its degree of improvement, is suddenly a sovereign in a very real sense.

For the first time he is able to command the ground under his feet. For the first time he is removed from the possibility of being a trespasser. If he owns the land, then this land and whatever is upon it becomes his castle. Here he is king and all other living things can and must acknowledge his kingship and his sovereignty over this tiny kingdom he owns.

The ownership of land, privately, is of tremendous significance. Next to the ownership of himself, this is the fundamental area of ownership. The dignity and worth of man as an individual is bound up, in part, in his ability to make of himself a non-trespasser.

Only with private ownership of land may he manage to do this.

MENTAL LAZINESS

To the Editor:

Do other readers also wonder why Sam Campbell's column is not on the editorial page (or pages)? It is too easily missed when tucked away in another part of the paper. Now that I've mentioned it, why can't we have TWO instead of one editorial page, with a larger type face to attract more readers? I do not recall whether a columnist or a letter-to-the-editor writer made the statement that "evidently most readers are interested only in the headlines, the sports pages and the comics." What makes such people think they are qualified voters, worthy of the privilege?

I could go further and say that there are far too many people who not only do not wish to be informed (Russell Kirk touched upon this in his column in the Dec. 8 issue) but will replace an informative newspaper with an innocuous one which does not disturb their slumbering mentalities. No wonder we are losing our individual freedoms and our states are losing their sovereign rights, when such persons are allowed to vote.

Of course there is nothing new about this aversion to learning, of refusing to be informed. We always have had the mentally lazy. They always have been in the ranks of those crying for "equality," harping on their so-called oppression and that luck is against them. An educated person doesn't worry about the myth of equality, his only oppression that of unsolved problems, the difficulties experienced in learning the truths, the facts he seeks.

Possibly this common trait of mental laziness is what prompted the early "do-gooders" to work for compulsory schooling, not realizing that just as you may lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink, you can drive a youngster to school but you can't make him think. After several years of failure to get converts to his religious beliefs, Mohammed decided to convert by the sword—believe or else! Are our compulsory schooling devotees Mohammedans?

I am wondering if a rather stiff examination were to be required of those reaching their twenty-first birthday, and their voting privilege based upon a good passing grade, it would act as an incentive not only to attend school but to make an effort to learn. Voting should be a privilege EARNED by reason of one's preparation for voting — no preparation, no vote!

Yes, I hear the screaming of you demagogues who rely upon the unprepared, the unfit, the emotional voters to keep yourselves in office and power. We certainly don't need you, and perhaps with an enlightened, competent body of voters we can in time be rid of you!

DENOUNCES

To the Editor:

Recently I read in one of our well known magazines an article on the beliefs and activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

This organization uses the name of Christian and the symbol of the cross, when it clearly practices ways and means that are quite contradictory to Christianity.

I denounce this organization as basically anti-Christian in its beliefs and practices as I also denounce the racist ideas of the American Nazi party.

Also, I publicly challenge anyone claiming to be a Christian in either the Ku Klux Klan or the Nazi party to leave these organizations or stop calling themselves Christians.

Let any member of either of these organizations show to the American public where in the teachings of Christ or His apostles and disciples they get the authority to punish or imprison, torment mentally or physically, or put to death any person of religious belief.

There comes a time in the lives of the American people when they must choose between right and wrong. I pray that we shall all see the wrong, not only of atheistic communism, but also of the Ku Klux Klan and the Nazi party.

As Paul the Apostle wrote to Timothy, "Let everyone that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity." So I write to Christians in these groups.

ARMY RESERVES

To the Editor:

In the past ten days the people of our nation have learned of the recent action of our Secretary of Defense, Mr. McNamara, in destroying the Army Reserves by combining a portion of them with the National Guard. This is done under the guise of saving money. It has long been known that it is much cheaper to train members of the Reserve than an equal number of regulars.

Regardless of how a citizen feels about the members of our military forces, I believe this to be one time he should become very concerned. We have never had a period of national emergency when our Armed Forces, both regular and Reserve, have proved to be of sufficient strength. Therefore, cutting them in size will not improve our position as a world power.

The important point, however, is that the action was taken by the Secretary of Defense and not by the Congress. The Constitution of the United States has given to the Congress the responsibility to "raise, support and regulate" the military forces. No one has ever passed this responsibility on to Mr. McNamara. The Secretary of Defense was very careful to pick a time to abolish the Reserves when Congress was not in session and when most of its members were scattered thruout the nation on vacations. He would never have dared make his move had Congress been in session.

If he is allowed to get away with this, who knows what he may try next. His next move, or the one after may even be to try to abolish the Congress or presidency. Every move he is allowed to get away with will make the next one that much easier. Every citizen of this country should write letters of protest to each member (from Colorado) of Congress and the House of Representatives unless he wants this nation taken over by a dictator.

'Cultural' Exchange

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In spite of the fact that Stalin sent him to mine gold in the northeast corner of Siberia under not very pleasant circumstances, Vladimir Petrov, a Yale University lecturer in Russian, bears the world no grudges. So, when Alexander Chakovsky, the editor of a Moscow literary gazette who has been in this country on a "cultural exchange," called Professor Petrov a "traitor" for having had the temerity to escape from Stalin's clutches after six years in a prison camp, it evoked nothing more from the alleged miscreant than a smile. Petrov thinks his sin consisted merely of being prematurely against Stalin's "cult of personality."

But while Vladimir Petrov is understandably mellow (he is now the happy father of six American children), it is still reasonable to ask just why it is considered "cultural exchange" to invite Soviet hard liners to this country to insult American citizens. To be called a "traitor" is libelous, yet we permit the visiting editor of the Soviet "Literaturnava Gazette" to get away with using a term that no American could use without risking a fine of a hundred thousand dollars.

Charles A. Moser, a teacher of Slavic languages who is a colleague of Professor Petrov's, is less forgiving than his insulted friend. He points out that Mr. Chakovsky calls the New York Times a "militant organ of American reaction." Robert Rozhdestvensky, another Soviet literary man who has recently been bringing "cultural exchange" to America, seems to be as unmalleable as Chakovsky himself. According to Professor Moser, Rozhdestvensky likes to refer to American interrogators as "pike and carp." When he was exchanging culture with Californians, Rozhdestvensky visited Disneyland. He promptly identified himself poetically with a group of American Indians, imagining that he was joining them in a war dance. His poem reads:

TRANSLATION

"We've stopped — we look — astounded.
Oh what silken skin you have!
Oh what hair your wives have!. . .
And what if we took a knife to that silken skinf!
What if, what if — amidst the silence —
We should once more hear the warpath's call —
How the tomahawk would glint above the dew then.
What scalps would steam in our hands!"

If this is "cultural exchange," it would seem that Americans are not getting their fair share of it. Putting the shoe on the other foot, can you imagine an American hard line anti-Communist — say like Bill Buckley, the editor of National Review — being invited to visit Moscow in even-up cultural exchange for Alexander Chakovsky?

Just think of the uproar in Pravda if an American literary man were to visit the Russian grave of John Reed, an American who preferred communism to capitalism, and call him a "traitor"?

For that matter, what if an American poet, visiting in one of those Asiatic provinces that the czar's soldiers had wrested from the Chinese or the Mongols, were to write a poem suggesting that the descendants of Kubla Khan or Tamerlane might look upon the "silken skin" of their Russian conquerors and think of taking a knife to it?

EVEN-UP

You get the idea. Personally, this columnist doesn't mind having an Alexander Chakovsky or a Robert Rozhdestvensky visit us. But he would insist on the Russians living up to their part in an even-up cultural exchange bargain. Our State Department should forthwith demand that some good American conservative authors be granted visas to tour Russia. John Dos Passos should be given carte blanche to visit Samarkand and write prose poems about Asiatics who might wish to stage the Oriental equivalent of an American Indian scalping party. And Bill Buckley or his sub-editor on National Review, Jim Burnham, should be invited to tour the Soviet universities, with permission to apply the description of "traitor" to various Americans who have openly transferred their allegiance to the Soviet Union. We can think of a few, but, unlike Alexander Chakovsky, we have to beware of the libel laws.

This column's only political program is to let goose and gander have the same sauce. Insult for insult, and barbaric poem for barbaric poem, we demand reciprocity. Friendship, of course, would be better, but how get it out of an Alexander Chakovsky, who thinks the John Birch Society has taken over the New York Times?

The Last to Know

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

A few years back, a chairman of a political party announced that politicians rarely knew what was going on in the country and invariably failed to understand the temper of the people. Politicians who win elections become "government." The ignorance of government is on display regularly within the pages of your daily newspaper.

For instance, up in Fresno, California, the federal government found itself in a predicament when it tried to sell $7 million worth of what it called prime farm land at prices estimated to be 10 to 15 per cent below the market value. The government agency involved in trying to sell the land found quite a few lookers but only one barely interested buyer for one of the 32 parcels of land.

Oddly enough, government doesn't realize that badly inflated values are more controversial than realistic. A rancher selling property for $100,000, for instance, will be lucky if he winds up with from $65,000 to $75,000 cash. If he then thinks about buying land which government is trying to sell, he will expect to pay from 10 to 15 per cent of the badly inflated value. He will not buy at the inflated value less a discount of 10 to 15 per cent because he can beat that any day of the week dealing directly with farmers and ranchers.

The agency attempting to sell the land can't figure out whether a lack of money or aspiring farmers has created the huge disinterest in its bargain basement sale which is no bargain at all. You might think that government would be the first to know that cash is mighty scarce and that the bulk of all land transactions involve very small down payments unless the total price for the land represents a very real bargain, that is a small percentage of the inflated value, but government agencies are the last to know what's going on. Government agency thinking is always wishful, rarely realistic.

The report states that several hundred people from all over the country requested information about the property. The agency expressed amazement that prices from $64,300 to $294,000 for from 40 to 60 acres of farm land so quickly dampened the interest of prospective buyers. Of course, the Bureau of Reclamation has also attempted to sell raw land at prices which would call for an immediate investigation if a private dealer attempted to sell land at such inflated prices. Without knowing the details, it seems to me that anybody who would be interested in paying $294,000 for even as much as 60 acres would be primarily interested in opening up a gambling palace or have inside information about a huge placer gold deposit on the property.

The item I refer to stated, "Officials were frankly puzzled by the lack of buyer turnout," and this should give you a nice clear picture of bureaucratic unthinkingness — a total ignorance of the operation of the market place. When prices are too high, prospective buyers exhibit complete disinterest. It's just that simple.

Governments, at every level, have done a fancy job of pricing the cost of government right out of the market. Whether you approve of the actions or not, more and more Americans are refusing to buy what government is selling at prices which are worse than excessive. When several professional people voluntarily remove themselves from their professions because they detest socialism and because they have finally refused to labor for bureaucrats and deadbeats to the tune of 40 or 50 or 60 per cent, this means that the horribly inflated cost of government is really taking a heavy toll and, believe me, this trend is only in the beginning stages, unorganized but growing rapidly.

Another item of this general type just came to my attention. Before many weeks pass, you will discover thousands of motels and hotels on the market and the prices will gradually go down and down simply because the price which must be paid to stay in business has become too high and that, too, will cause bureaucrats to become puzzled. Too bad!

Good luck and good health to you, in Freedom.

Winter Wonderland

By RUFUS L. PORTER

There is nothing that adds a touch of beauty and glamor to the downtown area of a city or village more than the Christmas street decorations with all the varicolored lights and the sound of the carols, from the loud speakers. The attractive decorations add much to the lively spirit of the season and relieve the tedium of the shoppers. For, even though Christmas shopping is a very real pleasure, it can also be tiring, to young and old alike.

Once, when our youngest son was still a little under three, my wife had him along on a Christmas shopping expedition. All of a sudden he was gone. She looked all over the store and couldn't find him. Then she saw a crowd standing in an aisle laughing. She squeezed in to where she could see what they were laughing about and there sat her lost offspring on the floor with his shoes off and rubbing his feet.

Many of the home decorations at Christmas time vie with the public ones for honors. It is a pleasure to cruise around town after dark and view all the wonderful outdoor decorations in the yards and on the houses in nearly every section of the city and its suburbs. Many people take these cruises several times a season.

In Colorado Springs, noted for its colorful and original street decorations, the trimmings, evergreens, gadgets, lights etc., are furnished by the Chamber of Commerce. The work is let out on contract to some reliable electrical firm. This year's low bidder was the Berwick Electric Company.

This is all accomplished, said the honey-voiced gal who answered the phone at the Chamber of Commerce, "with a small assist from the city utilities."

Colorado Springs was one of the pioneers in Christmas street decorating and I can remember way back there when folks visited us from out of town, they simply raved over the streets.

"A wonderland," "A fairyland," "The real spirit of Christmas," they would call it. And they would often remark, "We'll have to see about getting something like this going in our town." And, it seems, they did. Such Christmas decorating is now more or less common place, but the Springs still ranks high among those having the most beautiful and breathtaking streets during the holiday season.

I like the idea of contests for the best in home Christmas decorations, although I have never entered them. These contests certainly bring out some attractive, spectacular and original ideas and they add greatly to the winter wonderland which is the Christmas season. We have gone in for some pretty elaborate decorations ourselves on occasion, but this year we won't be home for Christmas, so ours will be of the simpler type.

But we still love to drive around and see the beautiful adornments others have added to their homes and yards. And one of these is a big, big tree up on the mesa above Cascade, on the right as you drive up the pass.

And, for one of the prettiest buildings in the area, I nominate the Manitou Springs Chamber of Commerce building with its colorful and original display. This is a very "cute" and attractive building, anyway, and with the lovely lights and decorations it certainly adds to the pleasant feeling that you are indeed driving through a "winter wonderland."

With all this "foolish" waste of money for such temporary pleasures as street decorations, are we kidding ourselves, creating a land of make-believe, trying to escape from reality? I think not. It is all so fitting, so beautiful, so much in harmony with the season. The Christmas spirit is no hallucination. It is just possible that we are suffering from delusions the other eleven months of the year and only see the truth at Christmas time. For during this short season the spirit of brotherly love takes top place in men's thoughts and deeds, and the cares and worries of living seem of smaller importance.

We feel for a time that "God's in His Heaven, all's right with the world," or at least that we will be able to make it right with God's help and a little work.

So get out and drive around the fabulous winter wonderland the Chamber of Commerce and many individuals have created for you—you'll be glad you did.

Ever striving for the Pikes Peak Region to be an even better place to live

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is self-control, no more, no less. It must be consistent with the truths expressed in such great moral guides as the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

The Debate Over Ownership

Political scientists, historians, economists and philosophers have long debated a basic question respecting the ownership of property. The number of theories advanced to explain this phenomenon, to discover its origin, to define its characteristics, to ascertain its moral weight, have been almost as numerous as there have been serious scholars in these respective avenues of inquiry.

Today, the question remains unanswered if a consensus is sought. Various theories remain favorites with various thinkers.

Property ownership exists as a fact. Virtually every nation has adopted a set of laws, differing in detail, but essentially confirming the reality of property ownership. But property ownership also pertains among backward peoples who have never formalized what we would dignify with the word "government." They have no body of written law, but only a common custom, which in practice serves esentially the same purpose as a set of statutes.

Pragmatists examine the record to discover what men have actually done when they have sought to own and have managed to own something that could be classed as property. Theorists have appeared who have tended to advance some particular concept of human behavior, not so concerned with what men have done in this particular, but rather concerned with what men should have done to harmonize action with theory.

At the moment there are two general theories, struggling for supremacy over the world. Each theory has its own exponents and each exponent has his own interpretation and variations to offer. However, irrespective of details available in abundance in both camps, the central themes are discernible and can be described.

The major contention is not over what may constitute property. The major contention at the moment is over the concept of ownership and who may own how much of what.

It would be difficult to determine where the actual roots of either belief originate. Both have origins stretching back into antiquity, with writers and scientists continuing to offer new data in support of first one position and then the other.

Theory A contends that each individual person, irrespective of his age or sex, his race or religion, his condition in life or his place of national origin, is naturally constituted as a potential property owner. This school of thought contends that ownership is an individual and personal matter.

It sees each person as capable in his own nature of acquiring property, of adding to it, of disposing of it, of keeping as much of it as his own tastes, ambitions and inclinations direct. The kind or amount of property to be owned at any given time by any given man, is rejected as a factor in this school of thought. Each man may own as much or as little as he may honestly acquire. Theft, fraud, extortion and other acts containing violence or the threat of violence are ruled out as acceptable means of acquiring or retaining property. Property acquired in any of these ways, is generally viewed as being possessed but not as being rightfully owned.

Theory B contends that no individual person is naturally constituted to own anything. Rather, it is deemed that society (mass man) properly owns all things in common and that no one man may subtract from the general ownership save by the consent of the society and then, only on the basis of established need. This theory holds that all property belongs collectively to all people. Emphasis is placed upon distribution, either on an equal or on a "fair" basis. Neither theory A nor B disputes the existence of property, as such. The dispute, and it is extensive, has to do with ownership, which is viewed either as a private or a public affair.

Theory A leads to economic systems which are variously termed: free enterprise; private enterprise; laissez faire; capitalism; private capitalism; private property; market system; free-market system, and so on.

Theory B leads to economic systems which are variously termed: planned economy; centrally managed economy; managed economy; socialism; communism; mixed economy; state capitalism; managed market system, and so on.

This country is a great proving ground for these various theories. There is scarcely an economic system, deriving either from nature or from the devising mind of man, that has not been tried out in America in one place or another at one time or another.

This newspaper is an exponent of theory A. We believe it to be a practical and also a moral theory which produces results which are generally desirable when they are understood.

Character

Ownership in Land

Where does the idea of ownership originate? It originates in human necessity. Man, by his nature, is wholly dependent upon property. He cannot survive in this world without making use of various kinds of property. He must have food, clothing and shelter; his own nature and the climatic conditions of this world compel him. So fundamental is this central fact of man's existence that some practice of property ownership is found among lesser species as well as man.

Robert Ardrey, in his work, "African Genesis," recites at length the observable fact that many mammals as well as birds, certain fish and crustaceans, conduct themselves in a way which recognizes the property requirements of others of their own species. Since it is normal to accept the idea that these lower forms of life do not reason but, instead, operate on the basis of instinct, it is safe to suggest that among vertebrates and even beyond, property ownership is instinctive.

It is possible, thus, to argue that man's fundamental urge to acquire and possess property is at least as deeply rooted as an instinct among animals. Even if we neglect this argument, the fact of necessity provides all that is required to establish that man, by his nature, must be an owner. But the existence of what appears to be a practice of ownership among animals indicates that ownership itself is not necessarily an ideological concept, available only to reasonable beings. It may lie somewhat closer to emotions; may be understandable only in abstract terms.

However, rational man may be able to conceptualize, even in abstract areas, and thus come closer to understanding what, in point of fact, he has always done.

To begin with, man owns himself. The first and primary item of ownership consists of that dominion man has of his own being. All additional items of property are merely extensions of this basic item of property in ownership. The thrill of discovery over his own dominion of himself comes to the little child. He flexes his muscles, delights in discovering that the property of his body obeys his will. He does not philosophize. He learns that he and he alone has the power to command himself.

When ownership extends beyond the person, much the same kind of dominion is sought. The person desires to own because he desires to master and control some particular item that is not a part of his body.

The child yearns for a toy. What does he do with the toy once he gets it? He manipulates it and worries it and struggles with it, demonstrating his supremacy over the toy, much as he has already demonstrated his dominion over his body.

In all likelihood he will break the toy. He intends doing so. It is in this way that he establishes the supremacy of his control. He wants that object to behave as HE wants it to behave. He doesn't concern himself with the nature of the object. He does concern himself with the nature of his control over the object.

This process continues as he grows older and becomes more selective in his choices of property. He acquires property that he intends to dominate, to control, to master.

One of the greatest thrills that any human being ever experiences in life is that thrill that accompanies his first purchase or acquisition of land, or buildings with land under them. Even the purchase of an expensive automobile or some other major item of property cannot be compared to the purchase of land, insofar as satisfactions go.

The human being who has acquired a piece of real estate, no matter how tiny, no matter where located, no matter its degree of improvement, is suddenly a sovereign in a very real sense.

For the first time he is able to command the ground under his feet. For the first time he is removed from the possibility of being a trespasser. If he owns the land, then this land and whatever is upon it becomes his castle. Here he is king and all other living things can and must acknowledge his kingship and his sovereignty over this tiny kingdom he owns.

The ownership of land, privately, is of tremendous significance. Next to the ownership of himself, this is the fundamental area of ownership. The dignity and worth of man as an individual is bound up, in part, in his ability to make of himself a non-trespasser.

Only with private ownership of land may he manage to do this.

To the Editor:

Do other readers also wonder why Sam Campbell's column is not on the editorial page (or pages)? It is too easily missed when tucked away in another part of the paper. Now that I've mentioned it, why can't we have TWO instead of one editorial page, with a larger type face to attract more readers? I do not recall whether a columnist or a letter-to-the-editor writer made the statement that "evidently most readers are interested only in the headlines, the sports pages and the comics." What makes such people think they are qualified voters, worthy of the privilege?

I could go further and say that there are far too many people who not only do not wish to be informed (Russell Kirk touched upon this in his column in the Dec. 8 issue) but will replace an informative newspaper with an innocuous one which does not disturb their slumbering mentalities. No wonder we are losing our individual freedoms and our states are losing their sovereign rights, when such persons are allowed to vote.

Of course there is nothing new about this aversion to learning, of refusing to be informed. We always have had the mentally lazy. They always have been in the ranks of those crying for "equality," harping on their so-called oppression and that luck is against them. An educated person doesn't worry about the myth of equality, his only oppression that of unsolved problems, the difficulties experienced in learning the truths, the facts he seeks.

Possibly this common trait of mental laziness is what prompted the early "do-gooders" to work for compulsory schooling, not realizing that just as you may lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink, you can drive a youngster to school but you can't make him think. After several years of failure to get converts to his religious beliefs, Mohammed decided to convert by the sword—believe or else! Are our compulsory schooling devotees Mohammedans?

I am wondering if a rather stiff examination were to be required of those reaching their twenty-first birthday, and their voting privilege based upon a good passing grade, it would act as an incentive not only to attend school but to make an effort to learn. Voting should be a privilege EARNED by reason of one's preparation for voting — no preparation, no vote!

Yes, I hear the screaming of you demagogues who rely upon the unprepared, the unfit, the emotional voters to keep yourselves in office and power. We certainly don't need you, and perhaps with an enlightened, competent body of voters we can in time be rid of you!

DENOUNCES

To the Editor:

Recently I read in one of our well known magazines an article on the beliefs and activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

This organization uses the name of Christian and the symbol of the cross, when it clearly practices ways and means that are quite contradictory to Christianity.

I denounce this organization as basically anti-Christian in its beliefs and practices as I also denounce the racist ideas of the American Nazi party.

Also, I publicly challenge anyone claiming to be a Christian in either the Ku Klux Klan or the Nazi party to leave these organizations or stop calling themselves Christians.

Let any member of either of these organizations show to the American public where in the teachings of Christ or His apostles and disciples they get the authority to punish or imprison, torment mentally or physically, or put to death any person of religious belief.

There comes a time in the lives of the American people when they must choose between right and wrong. I pray that we shall all see the wrong, not only of atheistic communism, but also of the Ku Klux Klan and the Nazi party.

As Paul the Apostle wrote to Timothy, "Let everyone that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity." So I write to Christians in these groups.

ARMY RESERVES

To the Editor:

In the past ten days the people of our nation have learned of the recent action of our Secretary of Defense, Mr. McNamara, in destroying the Army Reserves by combining a portion of them with the National Guard. This is done under the guise of saving money. It has long been known that it is much cheaper to train members of the Reserve than an equal number of regulars.

Regardless of how a citizen feels about the members of our military forces, I believe this to be one time he should become very concerned. We have never had a period of national emergency when our Armed Forces, both regular and Reserve, have proved to be of sufficient strength. Therefore, cutting them in size will not improve our position as a world power.

The important point, however, is that the action was taken by the Secretary of Defense and not by the Congress. The Constitution of the United States has given to the Congress the responsibility to "raise, support and regulate" the military forces. No one has ever passed this responsibility on to Mr. McNamara. The Secretary of Defense was very careful to pick a time to abolish the Reserves when Congress was not in session and when most of its members were scattered thruout the nation on vacations. He would never have dared make his move had Congress been in session.

If he is allowed to get away with this, who knows what he may try next. His next move, or the one after may even be to try to abolish the Congress or presidency. Every move he is allowed to get away with will make the next one that much easier. Every citizen of this country should write letters of protest to each member (from Colorado) of Congress and the House of Representatives unless he wants this nation taken over by a dictator.

'Cultural' Exchange

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

In spite of the fact that Stalin sent him to mine gold in the northeast corner of Siberia under not very pleasant circumstances, Vladimir Petrov, a Yale University lecturer in Russian, bears the world no grudges. So, when Alexander Chakovsky, the editor of a Moscow literary gazette who has been in this country on a "cultural exchange," called Professor Petrov a "traitor" for having had the temerity to escape from Stalin's clutches after six years in a prison camp, it evoked nothing more from the alleged miscreant than a smile. Petrov thinks his sin consisted merely of being prematurely against Stalin's "cult of personality."

But while Vladimir Petrov is understandably mellow (he is now the happy father of six American children), it is still reasonable to ask just why it is considered "cultural exchange" to invite Soviet hard liners to this country to insult American citizens. To be called a "traitor" is libelous, yet we permit the visiting editor of the Soviet "Literaturnaya Gazette" to get away with using a term that no American could use without risking a fine of a hundred thousand dollars.

Charles A. Moser, a teacher of Slavic languages who is a colleague of Professor Petrov's, is less forgiving than his insulted friend. He points out that Mr. Chakovsky calls the New York Times a "militant organ of American reaction." Robert Rozhdestvensky, another Soviet literary man who has recently been bringing "cultural exchange" to America, seems to be as unmalleable as Chakovsky himself. According to Professor Moser, Rozhdestvensky likes to refer to American interrogators as "pike and carp." When he was exchanging culture with Californians, Rozhdestvensky visited Disneyland. He promptly identified himself poetically with a group of American Indians, imagining that he was joining them in a war dance. His poem reads:

TRANSLATION

"We've stopped — we look — astounded.
Oh what silken skin you have!
Oh what hair your wives have!. . .
And what if we took a knife to that silken skinf!
What if, what if — amidst the silence —
We should once more hear the warpath's call —
How the tomahawk would glint above the dew then.
What scalps would steam in our hands!"

If this is "cultural exchange," it would seem that Americans are not getting their fair share of it. Putting the shoe on the other foot, can you imagine an American hard line anti-Communist — say like Bill Buckley, the editor of National Review — being invited to visit Moscow in even-up cultural exchange for Alexander Chakovsky?

Just think of the uproar in Pravda if an American literary man were to visit the Russian grave of John Reed, an American who preferred communism to capitalism, and call him a "traitor"?

For that matter, what if an American poet, visiting in one of those Asiatic provinces that the czar's soldiers had wrested from the Chinese or the Mongols, were to write a poem suggesting that the descendants of Kubla Khan or Tamerlane might look upon the "silken skin" of their Russian conquerors and think of taking a knife to it?

EVEN-UP

You get the idea. Personally, this columnist doesn't mind having an Alexander Chakovsky or a Robert Rozhdestvensky visit us. But he would insist on the Russians living up to their part in an even-up cultural exchange bargain. Our State Department should forthwith demand that some good American conservative authors be granted visas to tour Russia. John Dos Passos should be given carte blanche to visit Samarkand and write prose poems about Asiatics who might wish to stage the Oriental equivalent of an American Indian scalping party. And Bill Buckley or his sub-editor on National Review, Jim Burnham, should be invited to tour the Soviet universities, with permission to apply the description of "traitor" to various Americans who have openly transferred their allegiance to the Soviet Union. We can think of a few, but, unlike Alexander Chakovsky, we have to beware of the libel laws.

This column's only political program is to let goose and gander have the same sauce. Insult for insult, and barbaric poem for barbaric poem, we demand reciprocity. Friendship, of course, would be better, but how get it out of an Alexander Chakovsky, who thinks the John Birch Society has taken over the New York Times?

Winter Wonderland

By RUFUS L. PORTER

There is nothing that adds a touch of beauty and glamor to the downtown area of a city or village more than the Christmas street decorations with all the varicolored lights and the sound of the carols, from the loud speakers. The attractive decorations add much to the lively spirit of the season and relieve the tedium of the shoppers. For, even though Christmas shopping is a very real pleasure, it can also be tiring, to young and old alike.

Once, when our youngest son was still a little under three, my wife had him along on a Christmas shopping expedition. All of a sudden he was gone. She looked all over the store and couldn't find him. Then she saw a crowd standing in an aisle laughing. She squeezed in to where she could see what they were laughing about and there sat her lost offspring on the floor with his shoes off and rubbing his feet.

Many of the home decorations at Christmas time vie with the public ones for honors. It is a pleasure to cruise around town after dark and view all the wonderful outdoor decorations in the yards and on the houses in nearly every section of the city and its suburbs. Many people take these cruises several times a season.

In Colorado Springs, noted for its colorful and original street decorations, the trimmings, evergreens, gadgets, lights etc., are furnished by the Chamber of Commerce. The work is let out on contract to some reliable electrical firm. This year's low bidder was the Berwick Electric Company.

This is all accomplished, said the honey-voiced gal who answered the phone at the Chamber of Commerce, "with a small assist from the city utilities."

Colorado Springs was one of the pioneers in Christmas street decorating and I can remember way back there when folks visited us from out of town, they simply raved over the streets.

"A wonderland," "A fairyland," "The real spirit of Christmas," they would call it. And they would often remark, "We'll have to see about getting something like this going in our town." And, it seems, they did. Such Christmas decorating is now more or less common place, but the Springs still ranks high among those having the most beautiful and breathtaking streets during the holiday season.

I like the idea of contests for the best in home Christmas decorations, although I have never entered them. These contests certainly bring out some attractive, spectacular and original ideas and they add greatly to the winter wonderland which is the Christmas season. We have gone in for some pretty elaborate decorations ourselves on occasion, but this year we won't be home for Christmas, so ours will be of the simpler type.

But we still love to drive around and see the beautiful adornments others have added to their homes and yards. And one of these is a big, big tree up on the mesa above Cascade, on the right as you drive up the pass.

And, for one of the prettiest buildings in the area, I nominate the Manitou Springs Chamber of Commerce building with its colorful and original display. This is a very "cute" and attractive building, anyway, and with the lovely lights and decorations it certainly adds to the pleasant feeling that you are indeed driving through a "winter wonderland."

With all this "foolish" waste of money for such temporary pleasures as street decorations, are we kidding ourselves, creating a land of make-believe, trying to escape from reality? I think not. It is all so fitting, so beautiful, so much in harmony with the season. The Christmas spirit is no hallucination. It is just possible that we are suffering from delusions the other eleven months of the year and only see the truth at Christmas time. For during this short season the spirit of brotherly love takes top place in men's thoughts and deeds, and the cares and worries of living seem of smaller importance.

We feel for a time that "God's in His Heaven, all's right with the world," or at least that we will be able to make it right with God's help and a little work.

So get out and drive around the fabulous winter wonderland the Chamber of Commerce and many individuals have created for you—you'll be glad you did.

HOLLYWOOD — Carol Channing has had Broadway in the palm of her hand several times, but the movies have never given her a tumble. Until now, that is. Ross Hunter's in New York signing her to a three-picture contract with universal, and she'll do the first, "Modern Millie," a wild spoof of the '20s, in March of '66. "She was born and still lives in that era," said Ross, "and she's going to be as big in movies as on the stage. In the picture she's a wealthy woman with 10 lovers—a golf teacher, art teacher, music, etc. We want Carl Reiner to play all 10 parts. Richard Morris, who wrote "Unsinkable Molly Brown,' is doing the script." While east, Ross also will try to buy "Fiddler on an Roof" and he might just be the one to get it. after all, he put glamor in Doris Day and saved Lana Turner's career.

Tony Curtis stars for Hal Wallis in the comedy, "Boeing Boeing," about a fellow who has an affinity for entertaining air line hostesses. The play is in its third year in London. It soon bows on Broadway. The picture begins in March, which gives Tony a nice vacation.

"The Great Race" ends on Christmas eve. It was to be shot in two and one-half months; it has run six, at a cost of 11 million dollars. Tony defended his passion for automobiles (he has two Rolls and a Bentley, and just bought an Excaliber): "Well, it's better than gambling, isn't it?" . . . The Christmas season is upon us. Cary Grant called to thank me for an invitation to a dinner I gave for Sir William Carr and his family back in September. It had just come to light. I accused him of being too poor to have a secretary, and here's how the rest of the conversation went: "What are you doing next?" I asked . . . "Don't know—got a script in your pocket?" . . . "Are you writing another book?" . . . "No. A masochistic profession. I didn't read yours." . . . 'What's the matter with you. Waiting for me to send it to you?" I asked. . . . "Am I in it?" . . . " I can't remember — I wrote it two years ago. But you sure as hell will be in the next one. Happy holiday!"

All of 20th's TV series were renewed, and seven pilots are being shot. Among them are Space Family Robinson with June Lockhart, Jesse James with Chris Jones who's never done any acting anywhere; Long Hot Summer with Eddie O'Brien in the Orson Wells role, and My Island Family with Pat Boone . . . Boone made a pile selling Beattle pictures. Says he, "I for one am very glad these young guys came down the road. They knocked all of us out of the box as far as records were concerned (temporarily), so I hitched a ride on their coattails and cheered them all the way. Each of the boys autographed his own portrait for my younguns who have a Beatle shrine in the playroom."

Hayley Mills' No. 1 fan, Tommy Lowe, writes: "Did you notice that Hayley did 'That Darn Cat,' her father wound up 'King Rat,' and their next together is 'Bats Have Baby Faces.' Cats, rats, and bats. There must be a gag line somewhere." . . . Investments that didn't pay off: The motion industry paid Anna Rosenberg a quarter of a million dollars to give us a better image. Where is it? . . . Had a card from Charlie Chaplin, but when I looked inside, the name had a junior tacked on . . . Rotary Club Sends Toys To Viet Nam

By DAVID MAZZARELLA

WEST MILFORD, N.J. (AP) — In South Viet Nam, the West Milford Rotary Club discovered there's an orphanage where 600 children live without toys of any kind.

So the club collected enough toys — 500 pounds worth — to fill a 100-cubic-foot trailer.

Today, a 190-pound load of the playthings was on the way to the Go Vap Orphanage near Saigon, thanks to the help of Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., and the U.S. Air Force.

If all goes well, they'll be in the hands of Go Vap's orphans by Christmas Eve.

The Rotary Club sought Case's help because it feared it could not get the toys to South Viet Nam in time.

Case's office arranged this deal:

The Rotary Club took the toys by Jeep Monday to Newark Airport and, paying $81 in air charges, put them on a Trans World Airlines flight to San Francisco.

The toys were to be taken from San Francisco Airport to Travis Air Base today for loading on an Air Force transport headed for Saigon. If all goes according to schedule, U.S. Embassy personnel at Saigon will get the toys to the Gia Dinh Rotary Club by late Thursday. The club will rush them to the orphanage.

John Fredericks, president of the Rotary Club here, said the toy-gathering project got under way three weeks ago when a letter arrived from the Gia Dinh club.

The letter said the Vietnamese club's community service project was centered around the Catholic-run orphanage, whose boys and girls lacked clothing, drugs, beds, milk, a playground and toys. The latter were so expensive, the Gia Dinh club said, that it could not justify buying them at the expense of other necessities.

With the help of students from DePaul High School in Wayne, the New Jersey club collected and packaged dolls, stuffed animals, games, balls and miniature cars and trucks.

NEW YORK (AP) — A dog led police to a teen-age boy they held today on a charge of stabbing a Bronx grocer to death.

Detectives Thomas McLinskey and Frank Maye began searching for the dog, a boxer, after neighbors said a youth often seen walking it in the neighborhood fitted the description of the slaying suspect.

Six hours later, the detectives spotted the boxer near the grocery and followed it to a five-story tenement.

Rotary Club Sends Toys To Viet Nam

By DAVID MAZZARELLA

WEST MILFORD, N.J. (AP) — In South Viet Nam, the West Milford Rotary Club discovered there's an orphanage where 600 children live without toys of any kind.

So the club collected enough toys — 500 pounds worth — to fill a 100-cubic-foot trailer.

Today, a 190-pound load of the playthings was on the way to the Go Vap Orphanage near Saigon, thanks to the help of Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J., and the U.S. Air Force.

If all goes well, they'll be in the hands of Go Vap's orphans by Christmas Eve.

The Rotary Club sought Case's help because it feared it could not get the toys to South Viet Nam in time.

Case's office arranged this deal.

The Rotary Club took the toys by Jeep Monday to Newark Airport and, paying $81 in air charges, put them on a Trans World Airlines flight to San Francisco.

The toys were to be taken from San Francisco Airport to Travis Air Base today for loading on an Air Force transport headed for Saigon. If all goes according to schedule, U.S. Embassy personnel at Saigon will get the toys to the Gia Dinh Rotary Club by late Thursday. The club will rush them to the orphanage.

John Fredericks, president of the Rotary Club here, said the toy-gathering project got under way three weeks ago when a letter arrived from the Gia Dinh club.

Delayed Water Bills Planned for Manitou

Normally water bills are sent out Jan. 1.

City Clerk Georgetta Shaw said Monday that bills will be sent out Jan. 10 due to new forms for the new water rates approved last month by the City Council.

The quarterly bill is supposed to be paid by Jan. 25, she said.

Chief Urges Care With Yule Lights

Colorado Springs Fire Chief Fred H. Lausch urged city residents to use care and caution with Christmas lighting so the tragedy of fire won't mar the holidays.

Christmas trees should not stand near radiators and fireplaces or where they might block an exit to a house, he said.

Strings of Christmas tree lights should be checked for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Wax candles should never be used on or near a tree. Only indirect lighting should be used on metal conduct electricity.

The chief said that all combustible decorations for Christmas trees should be flameproofed before being used.

Lausch also suggested that all gift wrappings be disposed of promptly, and added that these should not be burned in a fireplace.

All Christmas tree lights should be turned off when a family leaves the house or goes to bed.

Three Incidents Of Burglary Reported Here

Three burglaries were reported by the sheriff's office Monday.

The first happened at the Brookhart Lumber Co., 2425 E. Platte Ave. where an unknown number of tools were stolen. Deputy Sheriff Bob Snuggs said entry was made by breaking out a window.

Cake and candy had been thrown all over the offices and an axe used to smash the chairs. Damage is estimated at $200.

The second incident took place at the Cheyenne Mountain High School. Approximately $50 in cash was taken and six vending machines forced.

The third burglary was reported by William Guy of the C and K Oil and Auto Co., 2239 E. Platte Ave.

Entry was made by breaking out a door. It is still unknown if anything was taken.

Doors, Windows Damaged as Burglars Fail

Determined burglars, attempting to break into a house Sunday, broke two separate windows, an aluminum door, and an aluminum screen. Police said that in spite of the effort, the thieves didn't gain entrance to the house.

Irma F. Wagner, 119 E. Harrison St., told police she was out of the house from 6 p.m. until 7 p.m., and again from a little after seven until 9:30 p.m. Sunday. She said she didn't notice that the garage door and the window in the garage were broken when she checked them before retring at 11:30 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Wagner told police the burglars entered the garage, but that in attempting to enter her house they jammed an aliminum door so badly it couldn't be opened. The door connects the garage and house, according to police.

According to police, nothing was missing from the house or garage, and no estimate was made as to the cost of the broken articles.

Burglary Charged in District Court

A charge of burglary was filed against Leonard Duane Hamilton, 30, Colorado Motel, 2021 W. Colorado Ave., in District Court Monday.

The defendant is accused of breaking into the Beefeaters, 1422 S. Tejon St., early Monday morning.

According to a sheriff's report Hamilton was trapped inside the building by members of the sheriff's office and two members of the Broadmoor Police Department. He tried to make a break for it and dashed out of a door and was followed by Deputy Sheriff Dave Sturgeon.

Sturgeon shouted several times for him to stop and eventually fired his revolver low and struck the man in both legs. The report said the bullet passed through the flesh and a spokesman at St. Francis Hospital has described Hamilton's condition as "satisfactory."

Two Policemen Hired by Manitou; One Resigns

Manitou Springs councilmen Monday hired two policemen and accepted the resignation of another who said there was ". . . no pay raise in sight.

Patrolman Donald Fahrenkrug, who resigned after eight months on the force, gave another reason for leaving — his appointment as an El Paso County deputy sheriff.

Council adopted a new set of regulations for policemen, compiled by Chief Russell Paul.

"This council will back the chief of police in enforcing those rules and regulations," Mayor L. Longaker said.

Policemen hired were Robert C. Compton, 209 Cheyenne Ave., and Irvin A. Anderson, 353 Pilot Knob.

Compton will join the force Jan. 1. He previously worked for the U.S. Forest Service at the Buffalo Creek Ranger Station and worked for E & E security Patrol.

Anderson worked for the Soil Conservation Service, Boeing Aircraft Co. and received training in police work and investigating in the Army. He will join the department Feb. 1.

Also hired was Steven Hart, 125 Cave Ave., as a dispatcher. He is presently dispatching in the MSPD.

A Stearns-Roger engineer, representing the Denver firm who are designing and installing water system improvements, reported that two loads of steel have arrived for the two-million gallon distribution tank in East Manitou. He said Feb. 1 was the target date for finishing the tank and related facilities.

In other business the council:

— Read the final offer of the Colorado Municipal League to codify city ordinances for $2,800.

— Announced the city dump would be poisoned after Christmas.

— Discussed business licenses for sub-contractors.

— Read a letter of thanks from City-County Civil Defense Director Charles Willoughby. He thanked council for their part in bringing the 200-bed emergency hospital to Manitou.

—Decided not to let the Cave of the Winds Co. move their east and west arches without council's authorization.

—Filed a letter from Albert Richmond, suggesting that sandstone formations around the city be carved into Indian heads.

—Approved, on first reading, refunding of past water bond issues.

— Appointed council members Frank Altman, Mabel Willie and William Cochran to a committee to make year-end purchases from year-end balances.

—Approved curbing and guttering for Otoe Place.

Youngsters Entertain at Yule Party

Golden skirted paper angels decorated the room and child-baked cookies were served to parents of young retarded teenagers at a Christmas party this week.

As part of a program underwritten by the Halfway House, supervised by Mrs. Mae Williams of the Colorado Springs Department of Parks and Recreation, and held in the headquarters of the Retarded Children's Association, the boys and girls spent several weeks planning and preparing for the party.

In addition to their own parents the children entertained the Board of Directors of Halfway House. This agency pays the cost of providing a day of recreation for older retardates and a day off once a month for parents of these children. During the free day the young people meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Marshall, which serves as headquarters for the Retarded Children's Association. Here, the youngsters enjoy a cook-out, weather permitting, and all sorts of games and crafts.

As part of the Christmas party the group watched home movies of the boys and girls taken during one of their play days last summer. They also heard a recording of their voices taped without their knowledge.

The program has been so successful that the three agencies plan to begin a similar play therapy day twice a month in the near future for younger retarded children.

Concert Choir Presents Season Program

The concert choir of Wasson High School presented a 30-minute program of Christmas music at the Monday Luncheon of the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors, Inc., at the Alamo Hotel. At the meeting nearly 200 realtors were guests of Del Tolle of Mortgage Investments Co., which is an associate member of the local Board of Realtors.

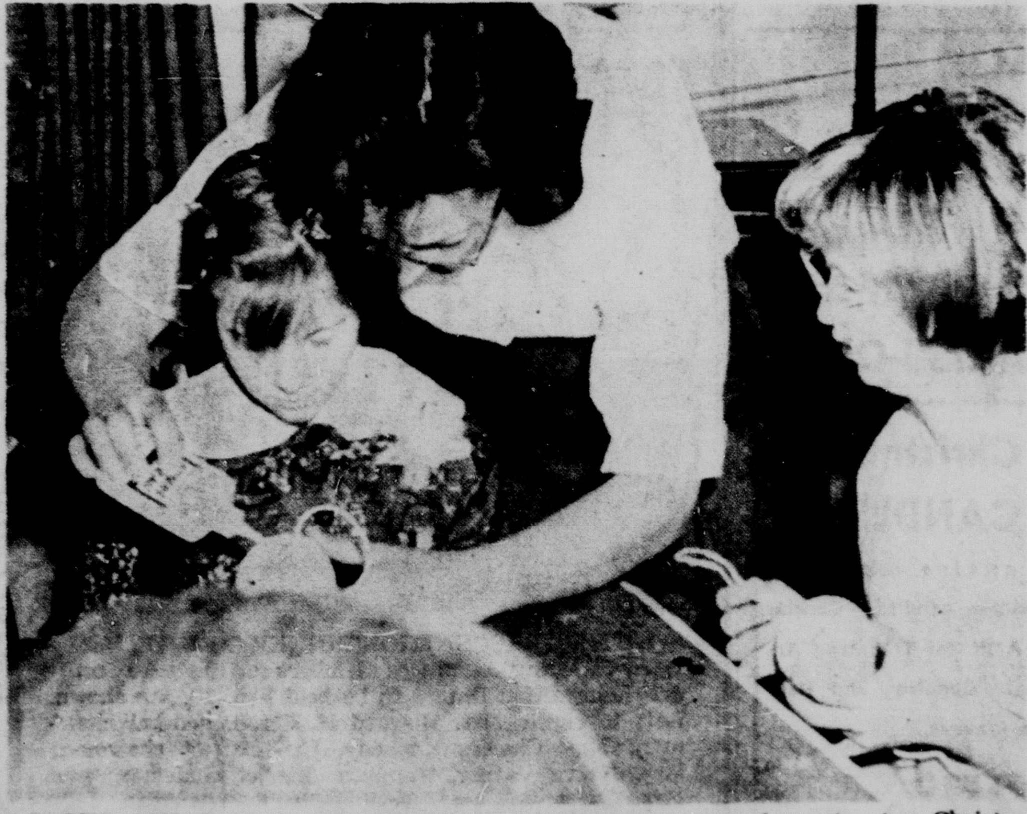
Mr. Charles A. Meeker, Jr., supervisor of vocal music in School District 11 directed the 78-voice Wasson High Choristers. They presented a program with an inter-continental flavor, with carols from France, Denmark, Spain and also American folk Christmas carols.

Mrs. Mildred Wraith, program chairman, introduced the program and out-going president, James R. Walker, presided at this final luncheon meeting of the year for the realtors.

Within the choral group itself is another ensemble, the "Wa-Tones", who also presented some exceptional holiday numbers. Accompanists were Miss Paula Cruikshank and Miss Julie Tanguary.

Musical selections presented by the choristers were "Gloria in Excelsis", "Ding, Dong, Merrily on High" (French), "The Little Drummer Boy", "Torches" (French contemporary), and "Do you Hear What I Hear".

The Wa-Tones sang a Danish anti-phonal number, "Oh, How Beautiful The Sky", as well as, "Come, Oh Come, Lord Most Amiable" (Normandy), "Fum, Fum" (Spanish) and a Kentucky Mountain Christmas song, "The Cherry Tree Carol".



PAPER ANGELS — Mrs. Mae Williams helps Kathy Norton glue sequin eyes on the styrofoam head of the paper angel she is making. Charlene Thompson is about to attach a halo made of pipe cleaner to her angel's head. The children were part of a group who entertained parents and guests at a Christmas party at the headquarters of the Retarded Children's Association this week. Mrs. Williams of the Colorado Springs Department of Parks and Recreation supervised day-long outings for the youngsters once each month.

MANITOU LIGHTING WINNER—This display at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald H. Guenrich, 14 Deneta Dr., won first place in the Manitou Springs Christmas lighting contest. Feature of the display is a weary Santa Claus warming himself by a kitchen stove which is actually fired up and has a pot of hot coffee on it. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Carson PO Handles Record Volume of Mail

A record volume of mail is moving in and out of Ft. Carson so smoothly that there are never any long waiting lines. And, what's more, the military is sold on airmail—even heavy parcels are being shipped out by plane regardless of cost.

Lt. John Slone, 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) postal officer, said there have been no "flaps" to date. He credits the 5th Division's four post office with spreading out the volume of business.

Also, he said, there is no doubt that patrons are mailing earlier and he foresees no last-minute rush.

Troops remaining at Carson will be receiving mail regularly all through the holidays. Mail call will be held even on Christmas Day. Incoming mail is expected to be particularly heavy next week.

Outgoing mail was increased in volume considerably early in November and has held a steady pace ever since. The 5th Division post offices have sold $12,000 in stamps since early November, of which 40,000 have been in the Christmas five-cent stamps. The division has also accepted 6,000 parcels for mailing.

The division postal units handle 80 per cent of the mail at Carson, according to Slone.

Slone noticed one more detail this year. "In the past, we've had many packages of wine glasses wrapped in tissue paper. This year the parcels are extremely well wrapped."

The increased use of air parcel post made the deepest impression on postal clerks. One package to Germany cost $17.

At 2 p.m. Thursday there will be a special Childrens Christmas party followed by a Childrens Christmas service at 4 p.m.

CC Offices Will Close Wednesday Eve

The offices at Colorado College will close for the Christmas holidays at 5 p.m. Wednesday. They reopen at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Dec. 28.

For the New Year holidays, college offices will close at 5 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 30, and reopen at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 4.

The two holiday closings effect all offices at the college.

The Charles Leaming Tutt Library will close at 5 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 24, and remain closed until 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 2.

Candlelighting Eve Service at First Christian

The annual Christmas Eve Service of Carols and Candlelighting will be held Thursday in the First Christian Church.

This service has always been a most impressive experience and all residents of the Pikes Peak region are welcome to attend, according to the Rev. Warren M. Hile, minister.

Living pictures are presented on the stage behind the chancel depicting the story of Christmas in beautiful full color. This year the production is under the direction of Thomas and Sidney Smith with make-up and costumes handled by Margie Hootman and Sandy Howard. Richard Kiefer is in charge of staging and Larry Judy and Don Kiefer in charge of sound. Usher teams will be captained by Ralph Brockhausen and David Lockwood.

Young people of the church representing the high school youth groups will depict the characters of the familiar story. Linda DeMark and Steve Tandy will portray Mary and Joseph; angels will be Diann Hemry, Elaine Parker and Marti Simmons; shepherd, Mike Hay, Clifford Hoyt and John McKenney; Wisemen Jim Bailey, Jerry Gray and Steve Hock.

Gwendolyn Wacker will sing the contralto solos, "No Candle Was There and No Fire," "O Holy Night," "Away in a Manger," and "The Christ Child". She will be accompanied on some of these selection by Margaret Smith, violinist. Margaret Smith will play the violin solos, "Ava Maria," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," and "We Three Kings" as the Living Pictures are presented.

Chief Urges Care With Yule Lights

Colorado Springs Fire Chief Fred H. Lausch urged city residents to use care and caution with Christmas lighting so the tragedy of fire won't mar the holidays.

Christmas trees should not stand near radiators and fireplaces or where they might block an exit to a house, he said.

Strings of Christmas tree lights should be checked for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Wax candles should never be used on or near a tree. Only indirect lighting should be used on metal conduct electricity.

The chief said that all combustible decorations for Christmas trees should be flameproofed before being used.

Youngsters Entertain at Yule Party

Golden skirted paper angels decorated the room and child-baked cookies were served to parents of young retarded teenagers at a Christmas party this week.

As part of a program underwritten by the Halfway House, supervised by Mrs. Mae Williams of the Colorado Springs Department of Parks and Recreation, and held in the headquarters of the Retarded Children's Association, the boys and girls spent several weeks planning and preparing for the party.

In addition to their own parents the children entertained the Board of Directors of Halfway House. This agency pays the cost of providing a day of recreation for older retardates and a day off once a month for parents of these children. During the free day the young people meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Marshall, which serves as headquarters for the Retarded Children's Association. Here, the youngsters enjoy a cook-out, weather permitting, and all sorts of games and crafts.

As part of the Christmas party the group watched home movies of the boys and girls taken during one of their play days last summer. They also heard a recording of their voices taped without their knowledge.

The program has been so successful that the three agencies plan to begin a similar play therapy day twice a month in the near future for younger retarded children.

Carson PO Handles Record Volume of Mail

A record volume of mail is moving in and out of Ft. Carson so smoothly that there are never any long waiting lines. And, what's more, the military is sold on airmail—even heavy parcels are being shipped out by plane regardless of cost.

Lt. John Slone, 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) postal officer, said there have been no "flaps" to date. He credits the 5th Division's four post office with spreading out the volume of business.

Also, he said, there is no doubt that patrons are mailing earlier and he foresees no last-minute rush.

Troops remaining at Carson will be receiving mail regularly all through the holidays. Mail call will be held even on Christmas Day. Incoming mail is expected to be particularly heavy next week.

Outgoing mail was increased in volume considerably early in November and has held a steady pace ever since. The 5th Division post offices have sold $12,000 in stamps since early November, of which 40,000 have been in the Christmas five-cent stamps. The division has also accepted 6,000 parcels for mailing.

The division postal units handle 80 per cent of the mail at Carson, according to Slone.

Slone noticed one more detail this year. "In the past, we've had many packages of wine glasses wrapped in tissue paper. This year the parcels are extremely well wrapped."

The increased use of air parcel post made the deepest impression on postal clerks. One package to Germany cost $17.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Look Elsewhere

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a mother should have any say about how her 16-year-old son wears his hair? —HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Mothers, it seems, are constantly criticizing their teen-aged sons about something. They would be wise to save their prodding for more important things, such as integrity, cleanliness and insisting that their sons give their best efforts to their studies. When a boy expresses his rebellion in an off-beat and perhaps freakish hair style, if his hair is clean, skip it, Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone I ask tells me something different and by now I am dizzy. Maybe you or one of your readers can help me decide. Should we sell our house? We've lived here 26 years and my husband and I are all alone now, having just married off our youngest daughter. My husband says we should keep the house so that when the children come to visit us with their children we will have room for them. He says that after living in a 14-room house we will never be happy in an apartment. I say if the children want to visit us, we can rent them an apartment in the same building or somewhere near us. The steps in this house are too much for me, we don't need a yard any more and it's hard to keep up. A big house is a lot of work to keep clean. It's expensive and, besides, now that the children are gone, it's lonesome. Any ideas? — NOT GETTING ANY YOUNGER

DEAR NOT GETTING ANY YOUNGER: (And who is?) This is one decision you and your husband must make for yourselves. I say, do whatever is easier for YOU.

DEAR ABBY: After 22 years of marriage my husband has left me. I have consulted marriage counselors, ministers, friends and relatives. In short, I've tried everything, but he still refuses to come home. He simply said he had been "thinking about it" for a long time. and he packed and left. As far as I know, he hasn't started any legal proceedings. I will not start them, and I hold him that if he did, I would fight him. People refer to our "separation." Technically we are not "separated." We are still legally married, only he left me. Why do respectable people invite HIM over for dinner, and entertain him for bridge weekends, camping trips and parties? Everyone knows we are still married, yet they treat him as though he were a gay bachelor. Are they not condoning his actions by inviting him? My lawyer tells me as long as he pays the bills there is nothing I can do but wait. Is this fair? What do you suggest? —ALONE

DEAR ALONE: There is rarely "fairness" in the personal tragedy of divorce. Listen to your lawyer. And find interests of your own.

DEAR ABBY: I think the woman who signed herself "CONFUSED" has my ex-husband. There can't be TWO men in the world like that. Tell her that she isn't NUMBER THREE, she is NUMBER FIVE. When I married him I thought I was NUMBER TWO, but I was NUMBER FOUR. (I just got rid of him last summer, so I doubt if he could have married anyone in between.) Also, tell her they should stay out of Georgia, West Virginia and North Carolina, as he is wanted for felonies there. —NUMBER FOUR

It's easy to roast chicken without stuffing. If you want to dress up the bird, make a sauce from the pan drippings and heavy cream, then add seedless green grapes. Serve the chicken and sauce with steamed buttered rice mixed with almonds. A company dish!

Mrs. Johnson Notes Her 52nd Birthday

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson observes her 52nd birthday today and a White House spokesman said she was expected to spend most of the day wrapping Christmas presents and decorating the Johnsons' ranch home.

Press Secretary George Reedy said there were no plans for a birthday celebration for the First Lady.

Blend cream cheese with Roquefort cheese and add a dash of brandy; use as a stuffing for celery. Serve as an elegant first course; or serve with crisp greens tossed with French dressing as a delightful salad.

If there's both leftover turkey and ham at your house, your family is likely to welcome it sandwiched between squares of hot cornbread. Top with cheese or mushroom sauce. Cranberry sauce and a green salad can complete this main course.

Glen Eyrie to Convene

When recipes for cakes and cookies call for "nuts," it's well to use pecans or walnuts.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Look Elsewhere

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a mother should have any say about how her 16-year-old son wears his hair? —HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Mothers, it seems, are constantly criticizing their teen-aged sons about something. They would be wise to save their prodding for more important things, such as integrity, cleanliness and insisting that their sons give their best efforts to their studies. When a boy expresses his rebellion in an off - beat and perhaps freakish hair style, if his hair is clean, skip it, Mother.

DEAR ABBY: Everyone I ask tells me something different and by now I am dizzy. Maybe you or one of your readers can help me decide. Should we sell our house? We've lived here 26 years and my husband and I are all alone now, having just married off our youngest daughter. My husband says we should keep the house so that when the children come to visit us with their children we will have room for them. He says that after living in a 14-room house we will never be happy in an apartment. I say if the children want to visit us, we can rent them an apartment in the same building or somewhere near us. The steps in this house are too much for me, we don't need a yard any more and it's hard to keep up. A big house is a lot of work to keep clean. It's expensive and, besides, now that the children are gone, it's lonesome. Any ideas? — NOT GETTING ANY YOUNGER

DEAR NOT GETTING ANY YOUNGER: (And who is?) This is one decision you and your husband must make for yourselves. I say, do whatever is easier for YOU.

DEAR ABBY: After 22 years of marriage my husband has left me. I have consulted marriage counselors, ministers, friends and relatives. In short, I've tried everything, but he still refuses to come home. He simply said he had been "thinking about it" for a long time. and he packed and left. As far as I know, he hasn't started any legal proceedings. I will not start them, and I hold him that if he did, I would fight him. People refer to our "separation." Technically we are not "separated." We are still legally married, only he left me. Why do respectable people invite HIM over for dinner, and entertain him for bridge weekends, camping trips and parties? Everyone knows we are still married, yet they treat him as though he were a gay bachelor. Are they not condoning his actions by inviting him? My lawyer tells me as long as he pays the bills there is nothing I can do but wait. Is this fair? What do you suggest? — ALONE

DEAR ALONE: There is rarely "fairness" in the personal tragedy of divorce. Listen to your lawyer. And find interests of your own.

DEAR ABBY: I think the woman who signed herself "CONFUSED" has my ex-husband. There can't be TWO men in the world like that. Tell her that she isn't NUMBER THREE, she is NUMBER FIVE. When I married him I thought I was NUMBER TWO, but I was NUMBER FOUR. (I just got rid of him last summer, so I doubt if he could have married anyone in between.) Also, tell her they should stay out of Georgia, West Virginia and North Carolina, as he is wanted for felonies there. —NUMBER FOUR

It's easy to roast chicken without stuffing. If you want to dress up the bird, make a sauce from the pan drippings and heavy cream, then add seedless green grapes. Serve the chicken and sauce with steamed buttered rice mixed with almonds. A company dish!

Mrs. Johnson Notes Her 52nd Birthday

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson observes her 52nd birthday today and a White House spokesman said she was expected to spend most of the day wrapping Christmas presents and decorating the Johnsons' ranch home.

Press Secretary George Reedy said there were no plans for a birthday celebration for the First Lady.

Blend cream cheese with Roquefort cheese and add a dash of brandy; use as a stuffing for celery. Serve as an elegant first course; or serve with crisp greens tossed with French dressing as a delightful salad.

If there's both leftover turkey and ham at your house, your family is likely to welcome it sandwiched between squares of hot cornbread. Top with cheese or mushroom sauce. Cranberry sauce and a green salad can complete this main course.

UNWELCOME NEIGHBORS

SEBRING, Fla. (AP) — An hour before lunch, a stench began to sweep through a Sebring cafeteria. When a waitress remembered smelling skunk as she passed the express office next door, they investigated.

The offenders, 25 of them, were whisked away. The skunks were awaiting shipment to a Georgia laboratory.

Top Secret Chart Subtle Husband Hinter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's help for the females who want to hint to the males that a gift of lingerie is wanted.

One maker of underpinnings (Gossard) has come up with a "top secret" size chart. It's of a size that easily can be slipped into a man's wallet or pocket.

Marked "for gift givers only," it contains space for listing all the vital statistics — height, weight, bust, waist and hip size.

To date, more than 200,000 of the secret charts are being distributed. All sizes, by the way, are concealed on the inside.

Lingerie and foundation sizes and color preferences are stressed on the chart, but there is room also to list dress and other ready-to-wear sizes.

The manufacturer expects most women to fill in the charts for their husbands and subtly tuck them in wallet or pocket.

The back of the card assures the receiver of same that no undue pressure's being exerted. There is this statement:

"A gentle hint about most wanted gifts is all you can expect from a lady."

If you've frozen open-face sandwiches to serve as an hors d'oeuvre, count on the food thawing in about half an hour at room temperature.

STRAIGHT RAINBOW

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP(— Lisa Golob bounded home from kindergarten with her painting —broad stripes of red, green, yellow, and blue painted straight across.

"We could paint anything we wanted to, but I was the only one who made a rainbow," she explained to her mother.

"It's very pretty," mother replied, "but don't you think you should have curved it a bit?"

"I know," Lisa nodded understandingly, "but all we had was straight paper."

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When we took down our Christmas tree last year, we found the container had leaked, and left a big white stain on our hardwood floor.

My husband took my iron and a fine piece of cloth (percale) and went to work immediately.

He laid the cloth on the spot and just ironed with a medium-warm iron (wool setting). Presto, no more white stain on our floor.

We consulted the National Lumber Manufacturing Association, and here's their answer:

Dear Heloise:

Constant Reader's method of removing water stains from hardwood floors, using an iron for heat and a percale cloth, is a good procedure, but only if the floors have a lacquer or shellac finish and the moisture has not been allowed to dry for too long a period. Moisture stains on shellac or lacquer finishes generally are white, while on varnish finishes they are dark.

Another method that works equally well on shellac or lacquer-finished hardwood floors is to use a blotter in combination with heat to absorb the moisture. The heat from the iron produces a reaction causing the moisture to migrate to the warm surface of the blotter.

A third remedy is reported in the U. S. Department of Agriculture Handbook No. 204, "Wood Floors for Dwellings". It states that white spots in shellac finishes made from contact with water can be taken out by rubbing lightly with a soft cloth moistened with denatured alcohol diluted half and half with water. However, caution must be used in working with the alcohol to avoid cutting the shellac coating and ruining it."

Hugh J. Mullins, Mgr.
Consumer Information Dept.

And so, folks, let this be a lesson to check your Christmas tree container this year to see if it leaks. Ever thought to put a piece of plastic under the container before pouring in the water? Preventative measures are great.

And our thanks to Mr. Mullins for his wonderful research.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Age and arthritis have slowed my activity considerably, but I still have the appetite of a teenager

My doctor wanted me to lose 30 pounds. He suggested that I wear a very tight girdle around the house all day long . . .

My capacity for food has all but disappeared, and I am learning to think thin. Just try sitting down to a full meal, while wearing a girdle which is two sizes too small, and you will see what happens!

Jeannette S

Dear Heloise:

I find it wasteful to discard the remains of jars of baby food after feeding my two-month-old her maximum of one tablespoon of the fruit or vegetable. Now, I divide the contents into individual plastic ice cube containers, which I then put in the freezer.

Every day I defrost one cube of the particular foods I want to feed her. This not only saves on the food, but it also allows for greater variety.

Mrs. P. J. Griffin

Dear Heloise:

When grinding leftover roast —and the recipe calls for chopped onions I grind my onion along with the meat. This way the onion is evenly mixed throughout the meat, and the juice adds flavor. Also saves time.

Mary Greene's Roast Chicken

- 3½ pound ready-to-cook fryer-roaster
- ½ teaspoon seasoned salt
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder

Wash and drain chicken; do not dry — chicken should be moist. Mix together the seasonings; sprinkle inside and outside of chicken with mixture. Place breast down in a greased small shallow roasting pan in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 1 hour, shaking pan once or twice to keep chicken from sticking. Turn breast side up; baste with pan juices or melted butter and continue roasting for 1 hour longer or until brown and tender—190 degrees on a roast meat thermometer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Candied cherries, macaroon crumbs and toasted almonds may be folded into slightly softened vanilla ice cream. If you try this, work quickly, pack the mixture into a freezing tray and refreeze.

Today's hand provoked considerable discussion when it was dealt in a recent tournament. Although North and South should experience little difficulty in winning all the tricks in a club contract, few pairs actually bid the slam, one partnership did not even get to game and an occasional North-South pair wound up with a minus score on the deal.

Some pairs reached a three notrump contract despite the lack of a stopper in diamonds. This undertaking met with a swift setback, however, when the defense promptly rattled off five diamond tricks.

At a few tables, South played the deal in four spades on a seven card trump suit. Where West failed to lead a diamond, declarer was able to scramble home with 11 tricks by obtaining one heart ruff in dummy.

The maximum result was obtained by the pair whose bidding sequence is presented in the diagram. North's response of one notrump is the accepted method for announcing a holding of about average strength over a one club opening bid.

South realized that the partnership had the values for a game undertaking — his own hand was worth 18 points—and he rebid two spades to probe for the best contract. North temporized at this point by giving a simple preference in clubs.

When South showed his other suit, hearts, North announced his mild spade fit by bidding three spades. There was no doubt now that the partnership was headed for game, and South was in position to bid five clubs directly. His actual call of four clubs was a delicately contrived attempt to elicit further information. When North obliged by bidding four hearts, it became abundantly clear that all of his values were located in the right places.

Assured of an excellent fit, South contracted for a small slam in clubs. The play was rather routine. West led the ace of diamonds, and declarer was able to take all 13 tricks by ruffing three diamonds in his hand.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Colo. Springs: Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra® spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Neustetters, Foundation Department, Third Floor adv.

Your Nose Knows a Nice Scent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Christmas shopping for a gift of perfume?

Let your proboscis guide you to the scent most likely to be favored by the female on your list.

If she's strictly a one perfume female, however, learn the brand and just get refills.

Most one scent women would rather fight than switch from the stuff that has become their trademark.

From one perfumer there's this additional intelligence from inside the perfume works:

"When you sniff or apply perfume, you're actually taking a trip through far - off places, many of them as romantic as the scent itself."

Jasmine, for example, a source, of the best and purest oil essential for making perfume, takes you straight to southern France, the nose way.

This rare flower thrives in the misty climate of valleys bordering the city of Grasse.

For fragrances with the kiss of orange or citrus odors, you'd these delicate fruits and blossoms flourish.

Roses, source of another essential perfume oil, lead you to Brizil or Bulgaria. It takes 4000 pounds of rose flowers to produce one pound of perume oil.

Meanwhile, all the vibrance and elegance of Castille are captured in the scent of rosemary, a low, evergreen shrub. Sure to waft you to Spain, the highly aromatic leaves surrounding its light blue flowers are the source of oil which makes a pleasing, inexpensive scent.

Two other important ingredients in perfume—fixatives, whch cause perfume to cling; alcohol, which dilutes the essence to desired strength—also would carry you as far away as Tibet and Abyssinia, for their makings.

Opening lead: Ace of ◇

Today's hand provoked considerable discussion when it was dealt in a recent tournament. Although North and South should experience little difficulty in winning all the tricks in a club contract, few pairs actually bid the slam, one partnership did not even get to game and an occasional North-South pair wound up with a minus score on the deal.

Some pairs reached a three notrump contract despite the lack of a stopper in diamonds. This undertaking met with a swift setback, however, when the defense promptly rattled off five diamond tricks.

At a few tables, South played the deal in four spades on a seven card trump suit. Where West failed to lead a diamond, declarer was able to scramble home with 11 tricks by obtaining one heart ruff in dummy.

The maximum result was obtained by the pair whose bidding sequence is presented in the diagram. North's response of one notrump is the accepted method for announcing a holding of about average strength over a one club opening bid.

South realized that the partnership had the values for a game undertaking — his own hand was worth 18 points—and he rebid two spades to probe for the best contract. North temporized at this point by giving a simple preference in clubs.

When South showed his other suit, hearts, North announced his mild spade fit by bidding three spades. There was no doubt now that the partnership was headed for game, and South was in position to bid five clubs directly. His actual call of four clubs was a delicately contrived attempt to elicit further information. When North obliged by bidding four hearts, it became abundantly clear that all of his values were located in the right places.

Assured of an excellent fit, South contracted for a small slam in clubs. The play was rather routine. West led the ace of diamonds, and declarer was able to take all 13 tricks by ruffing three diamonds in his hand.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM FOR CHRISTMAS

Colo. Springs: Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra® spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at Neustetters, Foundation Department, Third Floor adv.

Your Nose Knows a Nice Scent

NEW YORK (UPI) — Christmas shopping for a gift of perfume?

Let your proboscis guide you to the scent most likely to be favored by the female on your list.

If she's strictly a one perfume female, however, learn the brand and just get refills.

Most one scent women would rather fight than switch from the stuff that has become their trademark.

From one perfumer there's this additional intelligence from inside the perfume works:

"When you sniff or apply perfume, you're actually taking a trip through far - off places, many of them as romantic as the scent itself."

Jasmine, for example, a source, of the best and purest oil essential for making perfume, takes you straight to southern France, the nose way. This rare flower thrives in the misty climate of valleys bordering the city of Grasse.

For fragrances with the kiss of orange or citrus odors, you'd these delicate fruits and blossoms flourish.

Roses, source of another essential perfume oil, lead you to Brizil or Bulgaria. It takes 4000 pounds of rose flowers to produce one pound of perume oil.

Meanwhile, all the vibrance and elegance of Castille are captured in the scent of rosemary, a low, evergreen shrub. Sure to waft you to Spain, the highly aromatic leaves surrounding its light blue flowers are the source of oil which makes a pleasing, inexpensive scent.

Two other important ingredients in perfume—fixatives, whch cause perfume to cling; alcohol, which dilutes the essence to desired strength—also would carry you as far away as Tibet and Abyssinia, for their makings.

Captain Gives Up Battle to Save His Ship

By BERNIE GOULD

NEW YORK (AP) — For more than 24 hours after most of his crew had abandoned ship, the captain of the crippled American freighter Smith Voyager battled to keep her afloat in the turbulent Atlantic.

There was little he could do for his 7,600-ton vessel, however, so Capt. Frederick W. Mohle took to a rescue ship Monday with three crewmen who had stood at his side.

The 459-foot ship, its hull cracked at the seam under the pressure of a shifting grain cargo, wallowed atop 2,000 fathoms of white-capped water Monday, 780 miles southeast of Bermuda.

Mohle was still at the scene, watching from the Coast Guard cutter Rockaway and refusing to give up hope that his vessel could be saved. A tug on the way to try to tow her and her 10,000-ton cargo to port wasn't expected to arrive until Thursday.

Four members of the 42-man crew died and 34 were rescued by a German freighter Sunday after Mohle's order to abandon ship.

True to the tradition of the sea, on which he has spent more than 40 of his 59 years, the German-born skipper had stayed with his ship. So did his third mate and two seamen.

Mohle's wife, Elly, 54, commented from their home in Queens: "It's what he felt he had to do. A captain stays with his ship. He wouldn't leave as long as there was a chance."

The Rockaway radioed its New York headquarters that the Smith Voyager was adrift but "in condition to revive" if it could withstand the 15 to 18-foot waves through Monday night — and if the seas subsided. She was listing badly.

The German freighter Mathilde Bolten steamed toward Puerto Rico with the 34 survivors and the bodies of the four who died. She was expected in San Juan Wednesday night.

The Rockaway messaged that Mohle and his three crewmen were taken from the Smith Voyager in a 26-foot rowboat as the freighter lurched in winds of 30 knots.

The rowboat was damaged and some of the cutter's crew received bruises in the transfer operation, the Rockaway said. Mohle also received bruises which were reported as "not serious but very painful."

Another Coast Guard cutter, the Spencer, was sailing to the scene from Bermuda and was due to arrive about 5 p.m., EST, today.

With Mohle were Third Mate Charles L. Jackson of New London, Conn., and seamen Per Johansen and John Lukens.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp gains by selected blue chips kept an irregular stock market higher on average early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Responding to investment demand, DuPont rose more than 3 points, Eastman Kodak 2 or better and Union Carbide nearly 2.

Many stock groups were ragged. Down irregularly were steels, motors and aerospace issues. Electronics were definitely lower.

Thanks to the sharp gains by high quality issues, chemicals advanced. Some of the office equipment and photographic issues were higher. Oils moved slightly ahead on balance. Drugs edged to the upside.

Many stocks were subject to mild profit taking following four straight sessions of advance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 324.2 with industrials up 1.2, rails unchanged and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.63 at 872.37.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Most changes were fractional.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds showed little change. Trading was light.

Oats and rye moved in sympathy with a generally optimistic market. Trading in December futures ended today.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat 23, corn 316, oats 7, barley 99, soybeans 31 and rye none.

Ship, Boat, Remains 'She' In Language

By JACK WOLISTON
United Press International

Why is a ship or boat usually referred to as "she"?

The question has been discussed and argued for years, but it's doubtful if anyone ever will come up with the correct answer.

One of the strongest arguments is that the "she" evolves from the feminine figureheads that graced the prows of early sailing vessels.

But an article in the current issue of the house organ of the Farrell Lines contests this argument by saying the prows of Phoenician and Egyptian boats were decorated with male animals.

It goes even further and recalls that during the 17th and 18th centuries vessels were British and Portuguese, and is neuter in Teutonic tongues.

The Farrell Lines News article takes no stand in the matter and humorously points out in favor of the "she" designation:

"A ship has a waist (amidship section), bonnets (engine cover on boat or added strip of canvas on sail), laces (rigging fastenings, stays (ropes, combings (edge of hatch, jewels (small blocks on signal yard) and earrings (short pieces of sail hope).

"It has also been noted that there is a great deal of 'bustle' around a ship and that in port she has an agent handling her business called a 'husband' . . .

"Another thought is that a merchant ship is called 'she' because on coming into port the first thing she does is go to the buoys."

On a more serious note, the article says that in older times, when sea voyages could take many years, the ship was the representation of feminine warmth and loves, such as given by a mother or wife. The seaman found in the vessel his home, his protection.

The correct answer may never be known, the article concludes, but adds: "of this there is no doubt — nothing plays a more important role in the lives of men, than ships and women!"

Many sailing enthusiasts who are beached by winter's icy fingers turn to ice-boating on frozen lakes, rivers and bays. What do outboard motor addicts do in the same period? Johnson and Evinrude, two Corp., whose chief products are outboard motors, have decided that a lot of them go snow cruising, a new sport that has swept down from Canada and is getting bigger each year.

Needed to participate in the sport is a snowmobile, a small vehicle that looks like a cross between a bobsled and a half-track. It is driven by a two-cylinder, two-cycle gasoline engine and derives its power from a flexible track under the passengers' seat.

Noting that about 5,000 of these vehicles were sold in the United States last year, marketwise James B. Briggs, an OBC vice president, has put Johnson and Evinrude in the snowmobile business.

Their first two models, the Johnson Skee-Horse and the Evinrude Skeeter, were introduced at the recent National Hardware Show.

"Anything one can do with a boat, he can do with a snowmobile," Briggs says.

Too Many Tests in Parochial Schools

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Three Catholic educators of the Louisville Archdiocese believe parochial studests are put through too many tests of various kinds at school.

"We give so many tests that children don't fear them at all," said the Rev. Thomas Casper.

"And sometimes they don't study hard for exams when teachers wish they would," added the assistant secretary of the Catholic School Board.

Agreeing with that comment, the Rev. J. J. Butler questioned whether it is good or bad that students take tests "without any worry at all." He is an English teacher at Trinity High School.

Mrs. Lilliam Mans, college supervisor of elementary education at Catherine Spalding College, said tests lose their significance through over-use.

A record 9,000 private airplanes valued at $200 million were manufactured this year in the nation. Many are being used by industrial firms for executive business trips.

A WOULD-BE SUPERMAN

Disturbed interpersonal relationships, especially in marital partners, often result in bizarre behavior by either or both. Capt. Bernard H. Wittenberg reports in the American Journal of Psychiatry the case history of a sergeant who gratified his unconscious emotional needs by carrying on a fabrication about working on a space project. The tall tales lasted six years. When he told his wife the truth, she went to pieces.

As a boy, he was left to himself, and read voraciously. King Arthur was his particular hero. Later, he had five years of college (but no degree) and was washed out of officer's candidate school because of poor scholastic performance. He married a woman with a master's degree in education. She tended to be critical of his ability to rise in the world. She criticized his upbringing, took over the family finances, and insisted she was "smarter" than he.

This woman became pregnant and went to her parents' home in a distant city to await the baby. While she was away, the sergeant went to the movies several nights a week, and, on the day of her return, he didn't want to miss a picture he had planned on seeing. He told his wife he couldn't spend the evening with her because he was working on a secret project in space. Thru the years, he weaved a science fiction tale about his job that could have become a best seller. His "smart" wife swallowed it all — that he had orbited not only the moon but Mars and Venus. The sergeant finally ran out of ideas, or his conscience bothered him. But when he tried to convince his wife that the whole thing had been imaginary, she refused to believe it.

He consulted the psychaitric service, saying he feared his wife had become mentally ill because of his big lie. Dr. Wittenberg likens the situation to an imposter and his audience; unless the audience responds, the charlatan fails. He said this woman "supported, sustained and nourished her husband's imposture and was herself supported, sustained, and nourished by it. The intensity of her emotional dependence upon the imposture is betrayed by her psychotic regression when her husband shed his space facade." We can only hope the sergeant will stick to reality and leave the super - achievements to the scientists.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Why is a ship or boat usually referred to as "she"?

The question has been discussed and argued for years, but it's doubtful if anyone ever will come up with the correct answer.

One of the strongest arguments is that the "she" evolves from the feminine figureheads that graced the prows of early sailing vessels.

But an article in the current issue of the house organ of the Farrell Lines contests this argument by saying the prows of Phoenician and Egyptian boats were decorated with male animals.

It goes even further and recalls that during the 17th and 18th centuries vessels were British and Portuguese, and is neuter in Teutonic tongues.

The Farrell Lines News article takes no stand in the matter and humorously points out in favor of the "she" designation:

"A ship has a waist (amidship section), bonnets (engine cover on boat or added strip of canvas on sail), laces (rigging fastenings, stays (ropes, combings (edge of hatch, jewels (small blocks on signal yard) and earrings (short pieces of sail hope).

"It has also been noted that there is a great deal of 'bustle' around a ship and that in port she has an agent handling her business called a 'husband' . . .

"Another thought is that a merchant ship is called 'she' because on coming into port the first thing she does is go to the buoys."

On a more serious note, the article says that in older times, when sea voyages could take many years, the ship was the representation of feminine warmth and loves, such as given by a mother or wife. The seaman found in the vessel his home, his protection.

The correct answer may never be known, the article concludes, but adds: "of this there is no doubt — nothing plays a more important role in the lives of men, than ships and women!"

Many sailing enthusiasts who are beached by winter's icy fingers turn to ice-boating on frozen lakes, rivers and bays. What do outboard motor addicts do in the same period? Johnson and Evinrude, two Corp., whose chief products are outboard motors, have decided that a lot of them go snow cruising, a new sport that has swept down from Canada and is getting bigger each year.

Needed to participate in the sport is a snowmobile, a small vehicle that looks like a cross between a bobsled and a half-track. It is driven by a two-cylinder, two-cycle gasoline engine and derives its power from a flexible track under the passengers' seat.

Noting that about 5,000 of these vehicles were sold in the United States last year, marketwise James B. Briggs, an OBC vice president, has put Johnson and Evinrude in the snowmobile business.

Their first two models, the Johnson Skee-Horse and the Evinrude Skeeter, were introduced at the recent National Hardware Show.

"Anything one can do with a boat, he can do with a snowmobile," Briggs says.

Too Many Tests in Parochial Schools

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Three Catholic educators of the Louisville Archdiocese believe parochial students are put through too many tests of various kinds at school.

"We give so many tests that children don't fear them at all," said the Rev. Thomas Casper.

"And sometimes they don't study hard for exams when teachers wish they would," added the assistant secretary of the Catholic School Board.

Agreeing with that comment, the Rev. J. J. Butler questioned whether it is good or bad that students take tests "without any worry at all." He is an English teacher at Trinity High School.

Mrs. Lilliam Mans, college supervisor of elementary education at Catherine Spalding College, said tests lose their significance through over-use.

A record 9,000 private airplanes valued at $200 million were manufactured this year in the nation. Many are being used by industrial firms for executive business trips.

A WOULD-BE SUPERMAN

Disturbed interpersonal relationships, especially in marital partners, often result in bizarre behavior by either or both. Capt. Bernard H. Wittenberg reports in the American Journal of Psychiatry the case history of a sergeant who gratified his unconscious emotional needs by carrying on a fabrication about working on a space project. The tall tales lasted six years. When he told his wife the truth, she went to pieces.

As a boy, he was left to himself, and read voraciously. King Arthur was his particular hero. Later, he had five years of college (but no degree) and was washed out of officer's candidate school because of poor scholastic performance. He married a woman with a master's degree in education. She tended to be critical of his ability to rise in the world. She criticized his upbringing, took over the family finances, and insisted she was "smarter" than he.

This woman became pregnant and went to her parents' home in a distant city to await the baby. While she was away, the sergeant went to the movies several nights a week, and, on the day of her return, he didn't want to miss a picture he had planned on seeing. He told his wife he couldn't spend the evening with her because he was working on a secret project in space. Thru the years, he weaved a science fiction tale about his job that could have become a best seller. His "smart" wife swallowed it all — that he had orbited not only the moon but Mars and Venus. The sergeant finally ran out of ideas, or his conscience bothered him. But when he tried to convince his wife that the whole thing had been imaginary, she refused to believe it.

He consulted the psychaitric service, saying he feared his wife had become mentally ill because of his big lie. Dr. Wittenberg likens the situation to an imposter and his audience; unless the audience responds, the charlatan fails. He said this woman "supported, sustained and nourished her husband's imposture and was herself supported, sustained, and nourished by it. The intensity of her emotional dependence upon the imposture is betrayed by her psychotic regression when her husband shed his space facade." We can only hope the sergeant will stick to reality and leave the super - achievements to the scientists.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

By BERNIE GOULD

NEW YORK (AP) — For more than 24 hours after most of his crew had abandoned ship, the captain of the crippled American freighter Smith Voyager battled to keep her afloat in the turbulent Atlantic.

There was little he could do for his 7,600-ton vessel, however, so Capt. Frederick W. Mohie took to a rescue ship Monday with three crewmen who had stood at his side.

The 459-foot ship, its hull cracked at the seam under the pressure of a shifting grain cargo, wallowed atop 2,000 fathoms of white-capped water Monday, 780 miles southeast of Bermuda.

Mohle was still at the scene, watching from the Coast Guard cutter Rockaway and refusing to give up hope that his vessel could be saved. A tug on the way to try to tow her and her 10,000-ton cargo to port wasn't expected to arrive until Thursday.

Four members of the 42-man crew died and 34 were rescued by a German freighter Sunday after Mohle's order to abandon ship.

True to the tradition of the sea, on which he has spent more than 40 of his 59 years, the German-born skipper had stayed with his ship. So did his third mate and two seamen.

Mohle's wife, Elly, 54, commented from their home in Queens: "It's what he felt he had to do. A captain stays with his ship. He wouldn't leave as long as there was a chance."

The Rockaway radioed its New York headquarters that the Smith Voyager was adrift but "in condition to revive" if it could withstand the 15 to 18-foot waves through Monday night — and if the seas subsided. She was listing badly.

The German freighter Mathilde Bolten steamed toward Puerto Rico with the 34 survivors and the bodies of the four who died. She was expected in San Juan Wednesday night.

The Rockaway messaged that Mohle and his three crewmen were taken from the Smith Voyager in a 26-foot rowboat as the freighter lurched in winds of 30 knots.

The rowboat was damaged and some of the cutter's crew received bruises in the transfer operation, the Rockaway said. Mohle also received bruises which were reported as "not serious but very painful."

Another Coast Guard cutter, the Spencer, was sailing to the scene from Bermuda and was due to arrive about 5 p.m., EST, today.

With Mohle were Third Mate Charles L. Jackson of New London, Conn., and seamen Per Johansen and John Lukens.

Wall Street Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Sharp gains by selected blue chips kept an irregular stock market higher on average early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Responding to investment demand, DuPont rose more than 3 points, Eastman Kodak 2 or better and Union Carbide nearly 2.

Many stock groups were ragged. Down irregularly were steels, motors and aerospace issues. Electronics were definitely lower.

Thanks to the sharp gains by high quality issues, chemicals advanced. Some of the office equipment and photographic issues were higher. Oils moved slightly ahead on balance. Drugs edged to the upside.

Many stocks were subject to mild profit taking following four straight sessions of advance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 324.2 with industrials up 1.2, rails unchanged and utilities up .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.63 at 872.37.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Most changes were fractional.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds showed little change. Trading was light.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Commercial buying and commission house support moved grain futures prices generally higher on the Chicago Board of Trade late today.

Soybeans were up 3¾ cents a bushel for the May contract but eased off in the later trading. Corn received cash maret support. Wheat sales represented activity of exporters preparing to meet new business from Yugoslavia.

Oats and rye moved in sympathy with a generally optimistic market. Trading in December futures ended today.

Estimated carlot receipts were wheat 23, corn 316, oats 7, barley 99, soybeans 31 and rye none.

Santa Fe Set For $115 Million Program

Santa Fe Railway's capital expenditure program for 1965 will approximate $115 million,, the largest such outlay in history, Ernest S. Marsh, president, announced in a year-end statement. This compares with expenditures of $109 million in 1964.

The major portion of the 1965 program is for 4500 new freight cars of various types, and 100 new diesel locomotives, Marsh said.

Marsh described the large expenditure as " . . . A case of spending money to make money. We must have cars to take care of our customers and generate more revenues."

Other major improvements in the 1965 program include the laying of 118 miles of continuous welded new rail in main tracks, and 107 miles of continuous welded reconditioned rail in secondary main and branch lines. Additionally, the plans cover completion of the microwave communication system linking Chicago with California by finishing the segment between Topeka, Kans. and Chicago, Ill.

The Santa Fe expects its 1965 freight business and operating revenues to approximate closely those of 1964 despite a growth of about 1 per cent in normal business, most of which growth will be offset in the comparison by non-recurring military revenues from the large-scale "Desert Strike" maneuvers in 1964. Marsh qualified this forecast by saying, "Our fortnunes are geared so closely to the national economy and production, both industrially and agriculturally, that any predictions are subject to revision in the light of future developments."

Increased loadings are expected in most agricultural commodities, general commercial freight, canned goods, and iron and steel products, along with a continued growth in a piggyback traffic.

Marsh said no quick or real remedy is available to offset costs of all the new labor agreements. Some measure of relief will be afforded through the adoption of more realistic train crew complements by the application of the Arbitration Board award and recent repeal of "excess crew" laws by voters in Arizona and California. "The need to increase revenues is a subject under continuous study, although it would appear difficult to make effective a general rate increase under competitive conditions of today.

It presents a real challenge. Obviously, greater traffic volume is needed, and the railroads should have early legislative action by Congress in the area of rate-making freedom to allow them to compete on a basis of equality with other forms of transportation," Marsh concluded.

Mrs. Susie Mikita Died Here Monday

Mrs. Susie Mikita, pioneer resident of the Calhan area, died at 90 at a local hospital Monday. She lived on a farm north of Calhan from 1887 until 1960, when she took up her residence with her daughters, Mrs. Eva Kochis. She had recently been in a local nursing home.

Mrs. Mikita was born in Kievoa, Austria, Feb. 27, 1874. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eva Kochis and Mrs. Helen Tomko both of Pueblo; three sons, Frank and Mike Mikita, both of Calhan, and Joe Mikita, Matheson Colo., 30 grandchildren and 49 great-grandchildren and a great-great grandchild.

Rosary services will be held at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Swan Drawing Room. A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Swan Drawing Room, the Rev. Peter Pripsnoff celebrant. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative
Internal Revenue Service

STATE AVERAGE SALES TAX TABLES:—Colorado taxpayers may use a new sales tax table as a guideline when filing your 1964 federal income tax returns. The table appearing as part of this column shows the average amount of state sales tax paid by Colorado residents (2 per cent tax) and may be used by taxpayers who itemize their federal income tax deductions. Similar tables have been prepared for 36 other states and the District of Columbia.

For the first time since 1960 when the tables were originally issued there has been a general revision of the amounts. The latest tables are based on summary data showing the patterns of consumer expenditures developed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics from a 1960-1961 study. The previous tables were based on a 1950 study.

Previously, tables were revised only to reflect changes in sales tax rates or the commodities covered by the particular state's laws.

The recent study shows that household operations, property taxes, medical care, personal care services, education and insurance have, for the most part, comprised a larger part of the total consumer expenditures in 1960-1961 than they did it 1950. These items are not usually subjected to state sales taxes. The new tables omit the state sales tax on automobiles purchased, thus providing a uniform treatment of this item for all states. Now taxpayers who purchase an automobile may add the sales taxes paid on the purchase to the amount shown in the table.

The result of the revisions, particularly the elimination of the allowance for autos, has reduced the amount shown on the sales tax tables. The new tables, however, are a more accurate measure of the average sales tax paid in the various states.

I wish to remind you that these tables are not required to be used. They are furnished as a guide for the convenience of taxpayers who itemize deductions on their federal income tax returns but who wish to use a "standard" amount for state sales tax which will not require detailed substantiation. Taxpayers have a choice, of course, of deducting the actual amount of state sales taxes paid.

Students Will Dance to Newest Combo

Students will dance to the music of Colorado Springs' newest combo, the Dimensions, at the Wasson High Shool Sno-Ball Dance, tonight. The Wasson High Social Committee announced their combo choice this week.

The dance is said by Wasson students to be the biggest formal affair of the year.

Alternating in their selections from slow to up-tempo, modern numbers, the Dimensions are composed of four local high school musicians.

Ray Cobb, lead buitar player, is a student at the Deaf and Blind School. Besides his guitar playing and singing, Cobb is "at home" with a saxaphone, trombone, piano and accordian. Those attending the Wasson dance can expect to hear him on more than one instrument tonight.

Another guitarist with the Dimensions, Jerry Bush, alternates between lead and background guitar. He is a junior at Wasson.

Drummer Jim Huber is a junior at Wasson. He teams up with Cobb and Bush to sing numbers made famous by the Beatles and other professional songsters. Huber is also acclaimed as a jazz pianist and sometimes takes time out from the drums to "tickle the ivories."

The "fourth Dimension," Johnny Wagar, plays background to round out the group's music. He also attends Wasson.

Indications from local high school students are that the Dimensions are one of Colorado Springs' hottest new combos.

Carlsons Plan Mexico City Fiesta Trip

Christmas will be around a little longer this year for Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Carlson of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

They are packing for a fiesta trip to Mexico City the middle of January. Carlson of International Tractor & Equipment Co., the local Massey - Ferguson dealer, paid his way to Mexico by his sales performance during the past year.

As part of one of the most complicated industrial air charters ever carried out, they will be airlifted into Mexico in company with 300 other dealers from more than 40 take-off points in Canada and the United States.

Each group will stay in Mexico four days and then return to their hometowns in aircraft that a few hours before delivered another 300 to attend the product demonstration.

More than 5000 leading Massey - Ferguson dealers and sales personnel from all over North America will visit Mexico City during January and February to view a complete new line of agricultural tractirs the company will introduce early in 1965.

They will visit Teotihuacan, near Mexico City, the site of one of the major early cultures.

There they will see a pageant on the Indian culture performed exclusively for them for the first time on the ruins of a once-great civilization by the famed Teatro Classico de Mexico.

The tractor demonstrations will be held on the grounds of Mexico's National Agricultural College of Chapingo some 40 miles from Mexico City.

Four-Day Week Seen By Union Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — Howard Coughlin, president of the Office Employes' International Union, AFL-CIO, held out the prospect Monday of a four-day week which "if translated into jobs as of this moment would immediately eliminate our unemployment in the United States."

"We may be able to announce the first acceptance of the four-day week at a very early date," Coughlin said on ABC's recorded radio program "from the capital."

The union is proposing a four-day, 32-hour week with salaries the same as for the present five-day week.

Drop Gun; Pick Up Law, Good Advice to Thief

By SAM CAMPBELL

The jails are filled with stupid thieves. The smart ones are outside. The obvious solution to overcrowded jails is some kind of school where the dumb thieves can smarten up enough to stay out of the clutches of the lawmen.

The biggest mistake that jail-type thieves make is to steal illegally. Fellows, there is a better way. You won't have to change your basic character to follow it. But you must understand that modern theft will require a greater finesse in modus operendi, a modern technique.

Be Respectable

For instance, picking a man's pocket is likely to get you clobbered. And, you run the additional risk of not getting all the victim's money. He may have wealth stashed away in the form of investments or property. Last but not least, picking pockets illegally is a needless sacrifice of prestige.

Learn to be a respectable thief. Live the easy way. That's what you can learn at the theft school.

Okay, here is lesson No. 1. Instead of running FROM the law, why not run the law? By that I mean why not join some official agency, like the planning commission, or the school board? Better yet get on the payroll at City Hall.

Soft Spot

Don't get me wrong, dumb thief, I'm not saying EVERYBODY on the planning commission, the school board, or in City Hall is a crook. Nope, I'm just saying that's a good place for a thief to be, and that's where the smart ones are.

Take the building departments. In that job, you can put the squeeze on. All you have to do is to become an expert on the building code. Learn how to stick that gun in the builder's ribs when he's up to his eyeballs in interest payments. Man, he will pay off like a second trust deed. Wise up, boy; don't use a gun, use the law.

Join the Do-Gooders

If you've got the time to spare, be a do-gooder on the side. Join the planning commission. You'll find out where the action is there. You can learn more about somebody else's private business there in a shorter time than if you opened their mail. Your opinion will become valuable. Your favor will be sought.

On the school board, dumb thief, the details are very sly. But the principle is easy enough. School boards spend a lot of money. They make a lot of buying decisions, in other words. One hand washes another, as the saying goes. You help the other fellow who's selling to the schools, and—if you have something to sell—he will help you. He will understand the game.

The people love the schools, dumb thief. The teachers love education which they confuse with schools. So they'll back you to the hilt when you spend their money. Picking pockets is penny ante, dumb thief. Better to let the victim turn his pockets inside out eagerly. When he's shaken them clean, make him put his property on the block because he can't pay the taxes on it.

Don't take part, dumb thief, take all. Leave the poor idiot just enough so that he'll keep on working—for you. Be legal eagle, not a jailbird. Learn to feather your nest.

Upward Trend Noted in Mutual Funds

The upward trend in the purchase of mutual fund shares continued last month, reaching a November peak of $317,076,000, according to the Investment Company Institute.

This marked the sixth consecutive monthly high for share sales this year, and brought the 11-month sales total to $3.06 billion, well above the $2.45 billion for all of 1963.

The November figure, second only to the all-time high of $361,846,000 set in January 1962, compares with $305,860,000 in October and $209,563,000 in November a year ago.

The combined net assets of the Institute's member companies at the end of November stood at $29,061,516,000, and compared with $29,087,481,000 at the end of October, and $24,774,057,000 on November 30, 1963.

Redemptions last month — at $133,531,000 — were the lowest of any month this year. They compare with $141,893,000 October and $122,890,000 in November a year ago.

redemptions for the 12 months

The Institute reported that ended Nov. 30 were at an annual rate of 7.0 per cent of the industry's average net assets. This compares with 6.9 per cent for the 12 months ended October 31, and 6.4 per cent for the year ended November 30, 1963.

New accumulation plans opened in November for the purchase of mutual funds shares on a periodic basis, usually monthly or quarterly, rose to 30,955 from 29,287 in October and 20,421 in November last year.

Freight Rise Boosts Missouri Pacific Stock

Earnings of the Missouri Pacific System in 1964 will be higher than those of the previous year as a result of a combination of a rise in carloadings and a greater tonnage per car of higher rated freight. The outlook is for a further rise in net income in 1965 over that of 1964.

Ton-miles in revenue service for 1964 exceeded those of any previous year on the Missouri Pacific except for the two peak years of World War II.

The potential for future business and industrial growth in the area served by the MoPac has never been better, and the railroad is in sound physical condition to enable it to participate effectively and profitably in the expanding economy in its territory.

The year just ended marks another forward step in modernizing the railroad, in refining the type and quality of service and in redirecting selling and pricing efforts into a marketing concept aimed at intensifying the company's competitive position.

MoPac spent $60,000,000 for capital improvements in 1964, which included the purchase of 1,764 freight cars and 52 locomotives. Capital expenditures will be about the same in 1965, with orders already placed by MoPac and subsidiaries for 2,216 new freight cars and 50 locomotives at a cost of about $45,000,000. In the five - year period ending in 1965, MoPac will have made capital expenditures of more than $260,000,000 to build a stronger, better, more efficient railroad, a substantial portion of which went for almost 8,700 new freight cars and 258 locomotives.

Santa Fe Set For $115 Million Program

Santa Fe Railway's capital expenditure program for 1965 will approximate $115 million,, the largest such outlay in history, Ernest S. Marsh, president, announced in a year-end statement. This compares with expenditures of $109 million in 1964.

The major portion of the 1965 program is for 4500 new freight cars of various types, and 100 new diesel locomotives, Marsh said.

Marsh described the large expenditure as " . . . A case of spending money to make money. We must have cars to take care of our customers and generate more revenues."

Other major improvements in the 1965 program include the laying of 118 miles of continuous welded new rail in main tracks, and 107 miles of continuous welded reconditioned rail in secondary main and branch lines. Additionally, the plans cover completion of the microwave communication system linking Chicago with California by finishing the segment between Topeka, Kans. and Chicago, Ill.

The Santa Fe expects its 1965 freight business and operating revenues to approximate closely those of 1964 despite a growth of about 1 per cent in normal business, most of which growth will be offset in the comparison by non-recurring military revenues from the large-scale "Desert Strike" maneuvers in 1964. Marsh qualified this forecast by saying, "Our fortunes are geared so closely to the national economy and production, both industrially and agriculturally, that any predictions are subject to revision in the light of future developments."

Increased loadings are expected in most agricultural commodities, general commercial freight, canned goods, and iron and steel products, along with a continued growth in a piggyback traffic.

Marsh said no quick or real remedy is available to offset costs of all the new labor agreements. Some measure of relief will be afforded through the adoption of more realistic train crew complements by the application of the Arbitration Board award and recent repeal of "excess crew" laws by voters in Arizona and California. "The need to increase revenues is a subject under continuous study, although it would appear difficult to make effective a general rate increase under competitive conditions of today.

It presents a real challenge. Obviously, greater traffic volume is needed, and the railroads should have early legislative action by Congress in the area of rate-making freedom to allow them to compete on a basis of equality with other forms of transportation." Marsh concluded.

Mrs. Susie Mikita Died Here Monday

Mrs. Susie Mikita, pioneer resident of the Calhan area, died at 90 at a local hospital Monday. She lived on a farm north of Calhan from 1887 until 1960, when she took up her residence with her daughters, Mrs. Eva Kochis. She had recently been in a local nursing home.

Mrs. Mikita was born in Kievoa, Austria, Feb. 27, 1874. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eva Kochis and Mrs. Helen Tomko both of Pueblo; three sons, Frank and Mike Mikita, both of Calhan, and Joe Mikita, Matheson Colo., 30 grandchildren and 49 great-grandchildren and a great-great grandchild.

Rosary services will be held at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Swan Drawing Room. A Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Swan Drawing Room, the Rev. Peter Pripsnoff celebrant. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

FEDERAL TAX TIPS

BY ROGER E. WARD
Administrative Representative
Internal Revenue Service

STATE AVERAGE SALES TAX TABLES:—Colorado taxpayers may use a new sales tax table as a guideline when filing your 1964 federal income tax returns. The table appearing as part of this column shows the average amount of state sales tax paid by Colorado residents (2 per cent tax) and may be used by taxpayers who itemize their federal income tax deductions. Similar tables have been prepared for 36 other states and the District of Columbia.

For the first time since 1960 when the tables were originally issued there has been a general revision of the amounts. The latest tables are based on summary data showing the patterns of consumer expenditures developed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics from a 1960-1961 study. The previous tables were based on a 1950 study.

Previously, tables were revised only to reflect changes in sales tax rates or the commodities covered by the particular state's laws.

The recent study shows that household operations, property taxes, medical care, personal care services, education and insurance have, for the most part, comprised a larger part of the total consumer expenditures in 1960-1961 than they did it 1950. These items are not usually subjected to state sales taxes. The new tables omit the state sales tax on automobiles purchased, thus providing a uniform treatment of this item for all states. Now taxpayers who purchase an automobile may add the sales taxes paid on the purchase to the amount shown in the table.

The result of the revisions, particularly the elimination of the allowance for autos, has reduced the amount shown on the sales tax tables. The new tables, however, are a more accurate measure of the average sales tax paid in the various states.

I wish to remind you that these tables are not required to be used. They are furnished as a guide for the convenience of taxpayers who itemize deductions on their federal income tax returns but who wish to use a "standard" amount for state sales tax which will not require detailed substantiation. Taxpayers have a choice, of course, of deducting the actual amount of state sales taxes paid.

Students Will Dance to Newest Combo

Students will dance to the music of Colorado Springs' newest combo, the Dimensions, at the Wasson High Shool Sno-Ball Dance, tonight. The Wasson High Social Committee announced their combo choice this week.

The dance is said by Wasson students to be the biggest formal affair of the year.

Alternating in their selections from slow to up-tempo, modern numbers, the Dimensions are composed of four local high school musicians.

Ray Cobb, lead buitar player, is a student at the Deaf and Blind School. Besides his guitar playing and singing, Cobb is "at home" with a saxaphone, trombone, piano and accordian. Those attending the Wasson dance can expect to hear him on more than one instrument tonight.

Another guitarist with the Dimensions, Jerry Bush, alternates between lead and background guitar. He is a junior at Wasson.

Drummer Jim Huber is a junior at Wasson. He teams up with Cobb and Bush to sing numbers made famous by the Beatles and other professional songsters. Huber is also acclaimed as a jazz pianist and sometimes takes time out from the drums to "tickle the ivories."

The "fourth Dimension," Johnny Wagar, plays background to round out the group's music. He also attends Wasson.

Carlsons Plan Mexico City Fiesta Trip

Christmas will be around a little longer this year for Mr. and Mrs. Fred K. Carlson of Colorado Springs, Colorado.

They are packing for a fiesta trip to Mexico City the middle of January. Carlson of International Tractor & Equipment Co., the local Massey - Ferguson dealer, paid his way to Mexico by his sales performance during the past year.

As part of one of the most complicated industrial air charters ever carried out, they will be airlifted into Mexico in company with 300 other dealers from more than 40 take-off points in Canada and the United States.

Each group will stay in Mexico four days and then return to their hometowns in aircraft that a few hours before delivered another 300 to attend the product demonstration.

More than 5000 leading Massey - Ferguson dealers and sales personnel from all over North America will visit Mexico City during January and February to view a complete new line of agricultural tractirs the company will introduce early in 1965.

They will visit Teotihuacan, near Mexico City, the site of one of the major early cultures.

There they will see a pageant on the Indian culture performed exclusively for them for the first time on the ruins of a once-great civilization by the famed Teatro Classico de Mexico.

The tractor demonstrations will be held on the grounds of Mexico's National Agricultural College of Chapingo some 40 miles from Mexico City.

Four-Day Week Seen By Union Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — Howard Coughlin, president of the Office Employes' International Union, AFL-CIO, held out the prospect Monday of a four-day week which "if translated into jobs as of this moment would immediately eliminate our unemployment in the United States."

"We may be able to announce the first acceptance of the four-day week at a very early date," Coughlin said on ABC's recorded radio program "from the capital."

The union is proposing a four-day, 32-hour week with salaries the same as for the present five-day week.

Drop Gun; Pick Up Law, Good Advice to Thief

By SAM CAMPBELL

The jails are filled with stupid thieves. The smart ones are outside. The obvious solution to overcrowded jails is some kind of school where the dumb thieves can smarten up enough to stay out of the clutches of the lawmen.

The biggest mistake that jail-type thieves make is to steal illegally. Fellows, there is a better way. You won't have to change your basic character to follow it. But you must understand that modern theft will require a greater finesse in modus operendi, a modern technique.

Be Respectable

For instance, picking a man's pocket is likely to get you clobbered. And, you run the additional risk of not getting all the victim's money. He may have wealth stashed away in the form of investments or property. Last but not least, picking pockets illegally is a needless sacrifice of prestige.

Learn to be a respectable thief. Live the easy way. That's what you can learn at the theft school.

Okay, here is lesson No. 1. Instead of running FROM the law, why not run the law? By that I mean why not join some official agency, like the planning commission, or the school board? Better yet get on the payroll at City Hall.

Soft Spot

Don't get me wrong, dumb thief, I'm not saying EVERYBODY on the planning commission, the school board, or in City Hall is a crook. Nope, I'm just saying that's a good place for a thief to be, and that's where the smart ones are.

Take the building departments. In that job, you can put the squeeze on. All you have to do is to become an expert on the building code. Learn how to stick that gun in the builder's ribs when he's up to his armpits in interest payments. Man, he will pay off like a second trust deed. Wise up, boy; don't use a gun, use the law.

Join the Do-Gooders

If you've got the time to spare, be a do-gooder on the side. Join the planning commission. You'll find out where the action is there. You can learn more about somebody else's private business there in a shorter time than if you opened their mail. Your opinion will become valuable. Your favor will be sought.

On the school board, dumb thief, the details are very sly. But the principle is easy enough. School boards spend a lot of money. They make a lot of buying decisions, in other words. One hand washes another, as the saying goes. You help the other fellow who's selling to the schools, and—if you have something to sell—he will help you. He will understand the game.

The people love the schools, dumb thief. The teachers love education which they confuse with schools. So they'll back you to the hilt when you spend their money. Picking pockets is penny ante, dumb thief. Better to let the victim turn his pockets inside out eagerly. When he's shaken them clean, make him put his property on the block because he can't pay the taxes on it.

Don't take part, dumb thief, take all. Leave the poor idiot just enough so that he'll keep on working—for you. Be legal eagle, not a jailbird. Learn to feather your nest.

Upward Trend Noted in Mutual Funds

The upward trend in the purchase of mutual fund shares continued last month, reacing a November peak of $317,076,000, according to the Investment Company Institute.

This marked the sixth consecutive monthly high for share sales this year, and brought the 11-month sales total to $3.06 billion, well above the $2.45 billion for all of 1963.

The November figure, second only to the all-time high of $361,846,000 set in January 1962, compares with $305,860,000 in October and $209,563,000 in November a year ago.

The combined net assets of the Institute's member companies at the end of November stood at $29,061,516,000, and compared with $29,087,481,000 at the end of October, and $24,774,057,000 on November 30, 1963.

Redemptions last month — at $133,531,000 — were the lowest of any month this year. They compare with $141,893,000 October and $122,890,000 in November a year ago.

redemptions for the 12 months

The Institute reported that ended Nov. 30 were at an annual rate of 7.0 per cent of the industry's average net assets. This compares with 6.9 per cent for the 12 months ended October 31, and 6.4 per cent for the year ended November 30, 1963.

New accumulation plans opened in November for the purchase of mutual funds shares on a periodic basis, usually monthly or quarterly, rose to 30,955 from 29,287 in October and 20,421 in November last year.

Freight Rise Boosts Missouri Pacific Stock

Earnings of the Missouri Pacific System in 1964 will be higher than those of the previous year as a result of a combination of a rise in carloadings and a greater tonnage per car of higher rated freight. The outlook is for a further rise in net income in 1965 over that of 1964.

Ton-miles in revenue service for 1964 exceeded those of any previous year on the Missouri Pacific except for the two peak years of World War II.

The potential for future business and industrial growth in the area served by the MoPac has never been better, and the railroad is in sound physical condition to enable it to participate effectively and profitably in the expanding economy in its territory.

The year just ended marks another forward step in modernizing the railroad, in refining the type and quality of service and in redirecting selling and pricing efforts into a marketing concept aimed at intensifying the company's competitive position.

MoPac spent $60,000,000 for capital improvements in 1964, which included the purchase of 1,764 freight cars and 52 locomotives. Capital expenditures will be about the same in 1965, with orders already placed by MoPac and subsidiaries for 2,216 new freight cars and 50 locomotives at a cost of about $45,000,000. In the five - year period ending in 1965, MoPac will have made capital expenditures of more than $260,000,000 to build a stronger, better, more efficient railroad, a substantial portion of which went for almost 8,700 new freight cars and 258 locomotives.

SANTA and the SINGING TURTLE

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Womp places the turtle upside down between two rocks and pushes the Snowman into a well. He goes off to play his flute and a fire breaks out around the turtle.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN
WOMP STARTS TO PLAY

"A fire?" cried the Snowman. "Oh, good gracious!"

He clawed the slippery sides of the well with his icy fingers. Hang on, George!" he shouted. "Hang on! I'm coming!"

But, try as he would, he could not pull himself out of the well. Each time he almost reached the top his fingers slipped and down he slid again.

It was a leaf fire and not very large, but George was wedged between two rocks in the middle of the leaves. The flames crept closer and closer. In a few minutes he would be roasted. He was choked and blinded by the smoke. He groaned to himself, "This is the end. Nothing will ever save Santa now!"

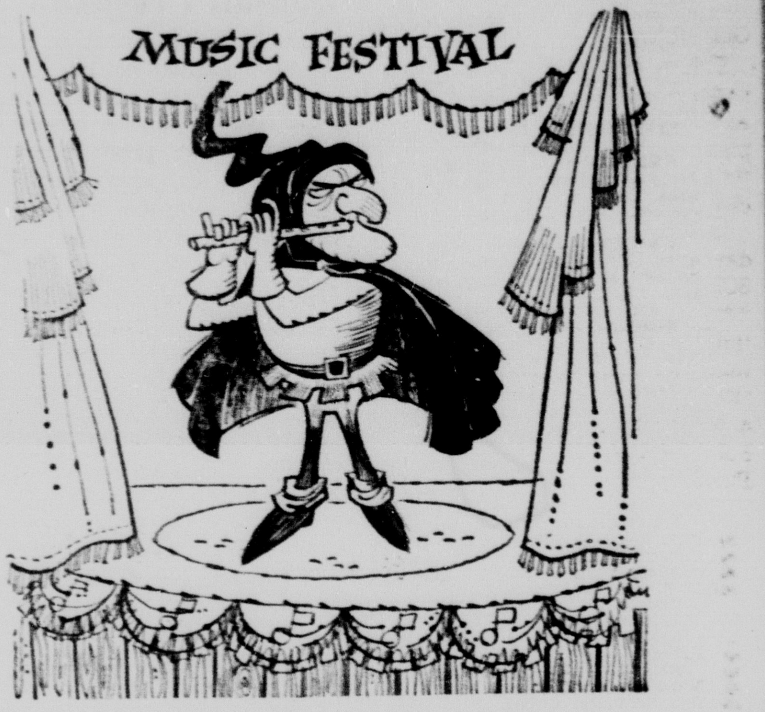
The Snowman stood at the bottom of the well. He thought of how the Prince had built him up and the turtle had taken him to Santa Land to keep him from melting again. He thought, "I wouldn't be me at all if it hadn't been for them. Now I've got to do something for them."

Without stopping to think further, he leaned down and dragged one leg right off from his big snow-ball body. He molded the leg into steps that went halfway up the side of the well. Using his broom for a crutch, he climbed the steps and pulled himself out of the well.

When he saw the turtle surrounded by flames he shook with horror. But he said cheerfully, "I'm here, George! Everything is going to be all right."

He dragged off pieces of his left arm and spread the snow over the fire. It took his whole arm and part of his stomach, too, but in seconds the fire was smothered and George was saved.

The Snowman plucked the turtle out of the rocks, melting part of his one good hand as he did so.



Womp hastily raised the flute to his lips.

"Poor George!" murmured the Snowman as he set the half-cooked turtle down right side up.

"Poor you!" sighed George. He gazed sorrowfully at the Snowman now. Even his head had melted somewhat and his tall silk hat fell over one eye in a way that was not at all jaunty.

It was very quiet in the woods.

Not evenn the sound of the chattering creatures in the Fairy Queen's garden could be heard. Suddenly George knew why.

"Womp!" he grasped. "He's played his flute and put them all to sleep!"

He staggered out of the woods as fast as he could on his blistered feet. The Snowman lurched along on his broom and one good leg. When they reached the garden they found all the fairy folk sitting as they had in the morning. The Queen Fairy was on her throne and Santa Claus was in his rocking chair.

On the stage stood Womp. He was about to begin his performance. He bowed to the audience and wiped the mouthpiece of his flute on his cloak.

Don't listen!" shouted George.

Santa Claus rose to his feet as George and the Snowman hobbled through the crowd of astonished creatures.

Santa said to Womp, "Put away your flute. We will have the turtle tell his story."

But Womp hastily raised the flute to his lips and took a deep breath.

"Wooo," came his first deep note from the flute.

Santa fell back in his chair and the fairy folk gazed bewitched at the flutist.

"Whoooo," came the second note.

Suddenly the Snowman was on the stage. He took off his tall silk hat and wham! he slammed it over the manwitch's head covering Womp's mouth and knocking the flute to the floor.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

Washington — As President Johnson's manpower-use plans for the next four years now shape up, the significance of the job assignments for Hubert Humphrey cannot be overemphasized.

The new Vice President already has been named to oversee the Administration's civil rights programs, and under the law will automatically head up the policy-wetting space council after he is sworn in Jan. 20.

But space and civil rights are not considered sufficient areas of delegated authority if the full talents of the energetic Humphrey are to be made proper use of. Johnson also has decided that his 1964 running mate must play a significant role in the poverty program. At the same time, it can be reliably reported, he has tapped Humphrey to be his chief operator on the Congressional scene.

As these plans for Humphrey now unfold, one result would be to permit the President to devote more attention to foreign policy making.

Since the death of President Kennedy, LBJ, lacking a Vice President, has had to be both a policy-maker and a most active operator. In the latter role he has used his personal influence and savvy to keep Congress in line and has also found himself immersed in comparatively petty jurisdictional wrangles within the complex federal bureaucracy.

As much as he relishes and thrives on activity, it has become evident that plenty of problems should be handled without the President being bothered about them except on a last-resort basis.

Johnson's decision to spot Humphrey as his chief lieutenant on Capitol Hill is probably of paramount importance. Constitutionally, of course, the Vice President presides over the Senate. But unless the incumbent President himself wants that simple gavel-banging job expanded, it remains a dull, dignified and boring assignment.

A More Politically Significant Role

LBJ once told Bobby Kennedy that an energetic man could be driven crazy in the Vice Presidency, should the White House incumbent hold him solely to the Senate-officiating job.

But while Johnson considers Humphrey's first priority is presiding over the Senate, the President envisages that role as one that is going to be made more politically significant than it has ever been.

He wants his Vice President to be familiar in detail with the entire Administration legislative program so that he can constructively work for its success with the party leaders of House and Senate.

In other words, Humphrey is to be the chief White House operative in Congress. He will know the White House line and act accordingly. If nothing else, this scheme of things will halt the raft of Congressional calls Johnson has found deluging the White House phone lines as committee chairmen and Congressional leaders appeal to him for advice or instructions.

This does not mean that the President intends to remain above the battles certain to rage in the next Congress over medicare, education aid and the shape of the Great Society program.

Could Be President's Muscle Saver

Only if Humphrey does a good job can the President free himself from a day-to-day legislative maneuvers in Congress and save his muscle for a crisis.

The President's plan to give Humphrey unusual Congressional stature probably developed from Johnson's own experience as Vice President under Kennedy. The last President made use of LBJ's legislative talents on an on-again-off-again basis.

In many instances, there were end-around plays which bypassed Johnson. There was often no coordination. Larry O'Brien, acting on Kennedy's instructions, could be maneuvering in House or Senate corridors on legislative matters unbeknown to the then Vice President. Kennedy himself, or his brother Bobby, would also operate independently of Lyndon.

This was a lousy way to coordinate White House operations in Congress. At times, of course, Johnson was the indispensable man in a legislative crisis. But seldom if ever did the Kennedys give him the credit for a success.

O'Brien is shortly to leave the White House despite the President's effort to keep him on. He has been a shrewd and capable Congressional liaison aid, both for LBJ and for Kennedy.

But one thing is sure. Whoever his successor will be, he will operate within the framework of the Johnson-Humphrey legislative axis. The same is going to be true of the departmental contact men with Congress, who too often in the past have flitted around pushing pet projects of Cabinet officers without meshing their activities with White House legislative plans.

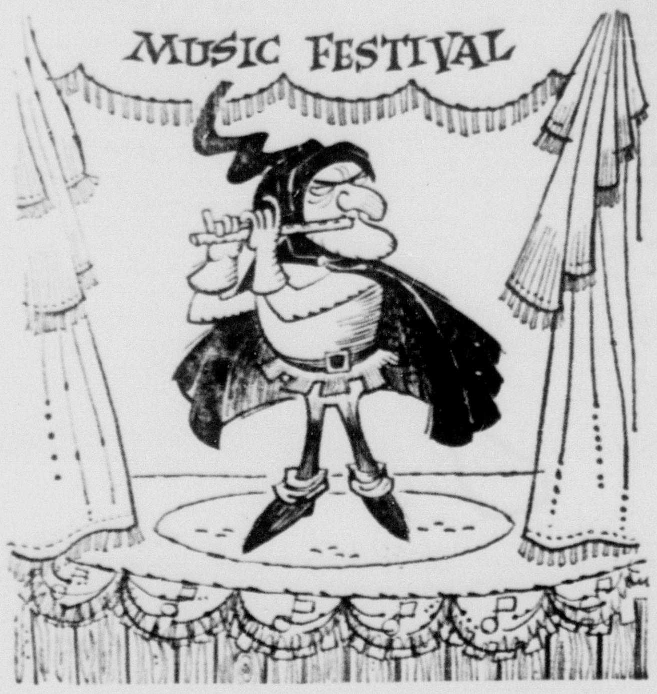
Without stopping to think further, he leaned down and dragged one leg right off from his big snow-ball body. He molded the leg into steps that went halfway up the side of the well. Using his broom for a crutch, he climbed the steps and pulled himself out of the well.

When he saw the turtle surrounded by flames he shook with horror. But he said cheerfully, "I'm here, George! Everything is going to be all right."

He dragged off pieces of his left arm and spread the snow over the fire. It took his whole arm and part of his stomach, too, but in seconds the fire was smothered and George was saved.

The Snowman plucked the turtle out of the rocks, melting part of his one good hand as he did so.

"Poor George!" murmured the Snowman as he set the half-cooked turtle down right side up.



Womp hastily raised the flute to his lips.

"Poor you!" sighed George. He gazed sorrowfully at the Snowman now. Even his head had melted somewhat and his tall silk hat fell over one eye in a way that was not at all jaunty.
It was very quiet in the woods.

Not evenn the sound of the chattering creatures in the Fairy Queen's garden could be heard. Suddenly George knew why.

"Womp!" he grasped. "He's played his flute and put them all to sleep!"

He staggered out of the woods as fast as he could on his blistered feet. The Snowman lurched along on his broom and one good leg. When they reached the garden they found all the fairy folk sitting as they had in the morning. The Queen Fairy was on her throne and Santa Claus was in his rocking chair.

On the stage stood Womp. He was about to begin his performance. He bowed to the audience and wiped the mouthpiece of his flute on his cloak.

Don't listen!" shouted George.

Santa Claus rose to his feet as George and the Snowman hobbled through the crowd of astonished creatures.

Santa said to Womp, "Put away your flute. We will have the turtle tell his story."

But Womp hastily raised the flute to his lips and took a deep breath.

"Wooo," came his first deep note from the flute.

Santa fell back in his chair and the fairy folk gazed bewitched at the flutist.

"Whoooo," came the second note.

Suddenly the Snowman was on the stage. He took off his tall silk hat and wham! he slammed it over the manwitch's head covering Womp's mouth and knocking the flute to the floor.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

Washington — As President Johnson's manpower-use plans for the next four years now shape up, the significance of the job assignments for Hubert Humphrey cannot be overemphasized.

The new Vice President already has been named to oversee the Administration's civil rights programs, and under the law will automatically head up the policy-wetting space council after he is sworn in Jan. 20.

But space and civil rights are not considered sufficient areas of delegated authority if the full talents of the energetic Humphrey are to be made proper use of. Johnson also has decided that his 1964 running mate must play a significant role in the poverty program. At the same time, it can be reliably reported, he has tapped Humphrey to be his chief operator on the Congressional scene.

As these plans for Humphrey now unfold, one result would be to permit the President to devote more attention to foreign policy making.

Since the death of President Kennedy, LBJ, lacking a Vice President, has had to be both a policy-maker and a most active operator. In the latter role he has used his personal influence and savvy to keep Congress in line and has also found himself immersed in comparatively petty jurisdictional wrangles within the complex federal bureaucracy.

As much as he relishes and thrives on activity, it has become evident that plenty of problems should be handled without the President being bothered about them except on a last-resort basis.

Johnson's decision to spot Humphrey as his chief lieutenant on Capitol Hill is probably of paramount importance. Constitutionally, of course, the Vice President presides over the Senate. But unless the incumbent President himself wants that simple gavel-banging job expanded, it remains a dull, dignified and boring assignment.

A More Politically Significant Role

LBJ once told Bobby Kennedy that an energetic man could be driven crazy in the Vice Presidency, should the White House incumbent hold him solely to the Senate-officiating job.

But while Johnson considers Humphrey's first priority is presiding over the Senate, the President envisages that role as one that is going to be made more politically significant than it has ever been.

He wants his Vice President to be familiar in detail with the entire Administration legslative program so that he can constructively work for its success with the party leaders of House and Senate.

In other words, Humphrey is to be the chief White House operative in Congress. He will know the White House line and act accordingly. If nothing else, this scheme of things will halt the raft of Congressional calls Johnson has found deluging the White House phone lines as committee chairmen and Congressional leaders appeal to him for advice or instructions.

This does not mean that the President intends to remain above the battles certain to rage in the next Congress over medicare, education aid and the shape of the Great Society program.

Could Be President's Muscle Saver

Only if Humphrey does a good job can the President free himself from a day-to-day legislative maneuvers in Congress and save his muscle for a crisis.

The President's plan to give Humphrey unusual Congressional stature probably developed from Johnson's own experience as Vice President under Kennedy. The last President made use of LBJ's legislative talents on an on-again-off-again basis.

In many instances, there were end-around plays which bypassed Johnson. There was often no coordination. Larry O'Brien, acting on Kennedy's instructions, could be maneuvering in House or Senate corridors on legislaive matters unbeknown to the then Vice President. Kennedy himself, or his brother Bobby, would also operate independently of Lyndon.

This was a lousy way to coordinate White House operations in Congress. At times, of course, Johnson was the indispensable man in a legislative crisis. But seldom if ever did the Kennedys give him the credit for a success.

O'Brien is shortly to leave the White House despite the President's effort to keep him on. He has been a shrewd and capable Congressional liaison aid, both for LBJ and for Kennedy.

But one thing is sure. Whoever his successor will be, he will operate within the framework of the Johnson-Humphrey legislative axis. The same is going to be true of the departmental contact men with Congress, who too often in the past have flitted around pushing pet projects of Cabinet officers without meshing their activities with White House legislative plans.

SCL Schools Pick Up Pace

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The way Pueblo's four South Central League schools performed last weekend, they must be planning on making this winter's conference race an intra-city squabble!

In the most productive two days of the campaign for the SCL, Steel City representatives went under the gun seven times and escaped without wounds on six of those occasions. Included in the blitz was a pair of "prestige" triumphs. Foremost was a 73-65 job by Pueblo Central in a Friday night clash with defending state champion, East Denver. Saturday, Pueblo East skipped by talented Lamar, a Southern League school that had already taken two SCL members to task.

Overall the South Central went 7-3 for the weekend, raising its season record against outside opposition to 191-14. The other non-conference game included in the present standings matched league members Centennial and Central in the finals of the Will Rogers Tournament the first weekend of the campaign.

The SCL record would have been even better, had it not been for a final second tipin by Lakewood's Fred Jones Saturday night. That feat erased the last of a nine point lead that had been accumulated by Wasson's Thunderbirds just minutes before and sent the Tigers on their way to a 74-69 overtime victory.

It was a repeat of an old script for the T-Birds who have seen healthy leads evaporate with startling quickness in the final quarter all too frequently over the past three seasons. Saturday's decision came at the free throw line where Lakewood made good on its chances while the Thunderbirds were blowing several late shots which could have put the contest out of reach. Once the Tigers forced it into overtime, Wasson was strapped by having three regulars tied to the bench with five fouls and Lakewood sailed in easily.

That loss came on the heels of a record-setting performance by the unpredictable Thunderbirds the previous evening. Wasson shattered South Denver with a 91 point burst that saw seven men hit in double figures, with junior Randy Stanley's 18 points tops. Veteran Charlie Steel, slowly regaining the form that made him one of the league's top players a year ago, had 18 points and 15 rebounds against Lakewood Saturday.

In the only other action outside of Pueblo, Trinidad's Miners continued to slide after a fast start, tumbling to Regis of the Denver Parochial League, 60-55.

Defending champion Central was appearing increasingly comfortable on the SCL throne by early this week. The high-voltage Cats followed their satisfying win over East Denver in a replay of last year's state finals with a 69-61 triumph over Salida Sat. Those two wins lifted Central's current record to 4-1 and with the youth present in the lineup, the Wildcats are certain to improve as the season wears on. The "big men" once again were veteran Dan Kochevar and brilliant sophomore, Terry Snider. Snider had 44 points in the two games and Kochevar 38.

Centennial, the league's top winner at 5-1, spanked North Denver 55-36 Saturday behind another balanced performance. Ron Smith, the seven-foot sophomore, led the Bulldogs with 13 points but a total of nine players contributed points in the rout.

Pueblo East, recovering rapidly after a slow start, evened its record at 3-3 with a pair of weekend triumphs. The Eagles whacked Widefield 71-59 Friday before notching their 54-52 win over Lamar Saturday. Darrell McDaniel tallied 33 points over the two nights and Dan Noll had 17 Friday before being blanked in an unusual turn of events against Lamar.

Pueblo South, a team that has never missed going to the state tournament in its five year history, continued to stagger under early season problems. The Colts were waxed by Denver Lincoln 77-60 Friday but bounced back to edge Canon City 77-70 the next night. Dan Borton led the Pueblo club with 38 points over the two games.

Action is suspended for all except the Colorado Springs teams until after the holidays. Palmer, idle last weekend, returns to its home floor tonight to host Air Academy High. The Terrors will then entertain Laramie, Wyo. in an afternoon game next Tuesday and Wasson will meet the same club the following day. None of the other league teams are scheduled before Jan. 2.

Lone Game in WRL Ends League Action for 1964

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Tonight's Palmer - Air Academy High, which initiates the first basketball game between the city and suburban Triple-A schools, closes out the non-conference slate for the five Will Rogers League teams.

In reviewing the non-league competition, Norman Sullivan's towering cagers of Harrison have lived up to their rating as pre-season favorite and the top challenger for the WRL championship.

The Panthers have compiled a 5-2 won-loss record, losing those two outings to Cheyenne Mountain and Pueblo Centennial. Last weekend the Harrison roundballers made another two-game weekend sweep posting their third and fourth straight victories.

Behind the shooting of 6-4 Mike Obert, the Panthers defeated Rocky Ford, 70-69, and Pueblo County, 73-61. The Panthers lead the WRL circuit in non-league competition. Obert, who has the scoring and rebounding skill which should make him one of the top cagers in the league, poured in 17 and 12 points over the weekend.

Don O'Hare's Indians were scheduled to tangle with Ft. Morgan Monday night and the Cheyenne team was looking for its fourth victory in six games.

In other non-league action last weekend, Canon City managed to collect two wins during the Tigers three-game marathon beginning last Thursday with a 70-42 decision over Gunnison and Ray Wheeler's chargers followed withh a 66-52 triumph over Trinidad Catholic. But the Tigers failed in their third game last weekend, succumbing to Pueblo South, 77-70.

Widefield lost to Pueblo East, 71-59, and the Gladiators dropped their fifth decision to Boulder Fairview, 68-52. Golden downed Air Aademy High, 94-72, as the Kadets lost their fifth straight game in six outings to round out last weekend's activities.

The WRL teams resume action after the holidays when they initiate the pennant chase on Jan. 8. Widefield is scheduled for non-league warfare that weekend as the Gladiators take on Brighton, Jan. 9.

Sullivan's chargers will have an opportunity for revenge when the Harrison squad takes on Cheyenne in the league opener on Jan. 8. That same night, Canon City plays host to Academy High to round out the first week of league competition.

In their last meeting, the Indians eked out a slim 65-64 decision over Harrison via the shooting of their ace gunner, Ron Graham. Both teams have improved vastly since then and the Cheyenne team went on to topple Centennial while the Panthers handed Colorado Spring's St. Mary's its only setback.

The Cheyenne-Harrison game will be a key to the pennant chase, even though both teams will have another shot in the double-round WRL race.

GOOD NEWS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For Los Angeles Laker Coach Fred Schaus "Santa Claus came early" because Rudy LaRusso's fractured vertabra, which was expected to have sidelined him six weeks, has been discovered to be an old injury and he will probably return to action Wednesday against Philadelphia.

Massarand Leads Tribe To Victory

FT. MORGAN — Bill Massarand, who missed two winning free throws in regulation time, redeemed himself in the overtime Monday night as Cheyenne Mountain ripped past Ft. Morgan, 62-55, in a non-league basketball game.

Massarand, who led all scorers with 24 points, missed a pair of free shots with seconds left in regulation time, sending the game into overtime on a 53-53 tie. But the 6-2 Indian scored four points in the extra period to lead Cheyenne to its fourth win in six games.

The Maroons could score only three points in the final three minutes while Cheyenne threw in nine in a runaway effort.

Ft. Morgan kept the Indians down in the first half, once extending the margin to 12 points in the second period. But Cheyenne stormed back with 31 points in the final half and actually enjoyed a five-point lead with two minutes to play.

The overtime appeared to be the best-played portion of the game for the mountain Tribe. Cheyenne took advantage of stolen passes and easy shots to wrap up the win. Ft. Morgan had kept the Indians closely guarded through the regulation game.

Ron Graham scored 13 points for Cheyenne, as did Jay Swedberg, but had to get nine of them at the charity stripe. The Maroons double-teamed the Indian center from the start and he carded only two field goals all evening.

Cheyenne Mountain breaks for the holidays, returning Jan. 8 to host Will Rogers League favorite Harrison.

Leadville Ends Old Year With Unblemished Record

Leadville became the first team in the Pikes Peak League this year to score 100 points and ended 1964 as the league's only undefeated team last weekend.

Salida, defending state champion and favored to repeat as league titlist, dropped a pair of outings Friday and Saturday and will carry a 1-4 record into 1965.

Crowley County will carry the PPL banner into the Lamar tournament tonight and Wednesday. The Chargers then become the first team to open the new year when they hose their own tournament Jan. 2.

The whole league starts play Jan. 8 in the single-round portion of district competition.

Friday night Fountain went into overtime to edge Manitou Springs, 53-52, and even the series between the two schools this year at 1-1. Fountain went on Saturday to lose to Castle Rock, 66-62, while Manitou dropped a 61-42 decision at Monument.

Leadville clipped Granby, 72-63, Friday night before running to the century mark, 100-53, over Monte Vista on Saturday. Salida tripped over Alamosa for the second time, 72-62, and gave Pueblo Central a battle before bowing, 69-61.

Buena Vista dropped a pair, losing to Florence, 63-34, and to Westcliffe, 59-54. Fowler lost to Las Animas, 60-50, and then pounded winless Crowley County, 60-49.

Only the district champion will represent each league in the state tournament. That champion will be determined in the district tournament at the end of the season in the PPL. The single-round schedule will not count toward championship standings.

In the first slate of games Jan. 8, Fountain and Manitou renew their tight struggle at Fountain, Salida hosts Buena Vista, Crowley County travels to Florence and Fowler hosts Leadville.

Holaday, Fausti Win Scholarship Awards

A pair of Air Force Academy football players have been honored this week with top scholastic awards for their studies over the past four years. They are Bart Holaday, who was among several athletes announced to have won a coveted Rhodes Scholarship to study at Oxford in England; and Edward (Gary) Fausti who was named a winner of a post-graduate scholarship by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

The Rhodes scholarships provide for two years study at the famed English University. Holaday, AFA Cadet Wing Commander from Jamestown, N.D., has been the place kicking specialist for the past two years with the Falcons and among the two scorers for the Air Force team during that time.

Fausti, a senior tackle from Conway, Pa., was announced today as receiving the first award of this kind ever given by the NCAA. He had to qualify by maintaining at least a straight B average in studies and displaying outstanding talents on the football field, and then be chosen over a bevy of other candidates by a committee.

There were 22 scholarships awarded by the NCAA, and but three Rhodes scholarships to athletes this year. Of the 22 from the NCAA, 11 went to students from the University Division and the same number to those from the College Division of the nation-wide group. Ten additional awards are to be given to outstanding basketball players in late February.

Fausti logged a fine 3.37 grade point average (4.0 for straight A) at the Air Force Academy. Not content with completing the Academy's rigorous course of 143 semester hours in engineering, humanities, basic and social sciences, he also polished off a 14-course graduate program in management.

Both of these AFA players were lettermen on the Falcon squad this season which finished with a 4-6 record against some of the toughest football opposition in the country.

Irish said there will be no home television, except in the areas that have community antenna contracts. The metropolitan area will be blacked out of the closed circuit telecast.

Tribe Hosts Academy High In Non-League Tilt Tonight

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Palmer and Air Academy High conclude the pre-Christmas basketball activity in Colorado Springs when they clash in a rare weeknight attraction at the Palmer Gymnasium this evening. Game times are 6:15 for the "B" contest and 8 p.m. for the varsities.

Tonight's non-conference affair will be the first hardwood meeting ever between the two nieghboring AAA schools. The Terrors usually conduct their business in the long-established South Central League while Academy High is one of a number of schools around the state elevated to AAA status only this year. The Kadets are a member of the five-team Will Rogers League.

Palmer will entering the game off a nine day layoff. The Terrors, who split in their first four non-conference starts, skipped action last weekend and will use tonight's battle and one with Laramie, Wyo., next Tuesday afternoon to clean up their pre-league schedule.

Three of the four Palmer starts to date have been real hair-raisers. The Tribe opened under new coach Roger O'Neill with a solid 54-41 triumph over South Denver but events have been considerably more hectic since. Lamar dumped the local team 64-63 in a heart-breaker and then turned the tables on highly-regarded Aurora Hinkley, 47-46 the next week. Jefferson County effected still another reversal of the cardiac script by spilling the Tribe 52-50 on Dec. 21, the last time Palmer appeared in scheduled competition.

The Terrors' pattern offense revolves around the sparkling shooting of senior Bill McCalvy, the lone returning starter from a year ago. The Palmer ace has held a torrid hand thus far in the 1964-65 campaign, topped by a 31 point performance against Jefferson County that ranks as a career high. Other starters usually include 6-5 Ed Fitzgerald, Bill Pearson, sophomore Charles McKinze, and Tom Espinoza.

Academy High will challenge Palmer's more deliberate style of play with a fast-paced attack that is designed to help overcome the Kadets' height problems. One of the smallest teams in the area, the Academy team currently has a 1-5 record with the latest entry being a 94-72 defeat at the hands of Golden last Saturday.

The Kadets also revolve around a sharpshooter. Bert Spear, son of Air Force cage coach Bob Spear, is a nifty outcourt gunner and a solid all-around threat. He will be the Terrors' primary defensive problem.

Cheyenne Takes Hold Of Top Hockey Slot

By MORRIS FRASER
Gazette Telegrap Sports Writer

Cheyenne Mountain got an early Christmas award (you certainly couldn't call it a gift) and Palmer learned it has ten more games in which to catch up to the undefeated Indians.

Cheyenne used some standout skating and passing and withstood a withering onslaught of Terror checking to pull out a 5-1 City Hockel League victory that was closer than the score indicated.

The win put the Indians out in front by a full game as the ice league breaks for the holidays, ahead of Wasson (3-1) and Palmer (2-2).

The story, briefly told, was Cheyenne in the first period, Palmer pulling back strong in the second and a pair of tired teams skating through the third period, even though Cheyenne managed to scare three goals past efficient goalie Don Astley.

The Indians broke in hard on the opening faceoff as Palmer had to rely on its defense alone for the first three minutes before the puck could find its way into Indian ice.

Ray Bruce, taking a pass from Dave Guy, skated down ice and slapped a 40-footer from the right corner, which struck Astley square in the chest and, by some stroke of fate, unreasonably rattled around the Palmer goalie and dropped in the net.

Though behind, Palmer rallied through the rest of the period and took advantage of an Indian injury to force its way back in the seocnd period.

Wing Don Heyliger, hampered the past several days with a pulled leg muscle, reinjured the limb and had to sit out most of the game. Heyliger went into the contest as the league's leading scorer.

Astley made 14 saves in the first period, to only a pair for Sandy Dee of Cheyenne but the Terrors quickly acted to alter this trend. Although they couldn't get past an alert Cheyenne defense with 18 shots (seven on goal), Palmer showed as much spirit on offense as it had on defense the first period.

Cheyenne got a quick goal at 8:08 as center Jeff Thatcher pulled Astley to the right corner with a shot which rebounded neatly onto Doug Heyliger's stick. Don't twin brother quickly placed the puck into the unprotected side.

The Thatcher-to-Heyliger tandem worked for another pretty goal early in the third period. Thatcher broke down ice with excellent stickhandling, but, instead of taking opportunity of some fair shots skated behind the net and flicked to Heyliger in front. The junior wing easily put the platter past Astley again.

Doug's pair of goals tied Don for the league scoring leadership with 11 points. Thatcher's two assists brought him closer to his wings with 10.

Less than a minute later Palmer scored its only tally and avoided giving Dee his second shutout of the season. Mike Onstad imitated Thatcher's from-the-rear pass and flipped to Jim McKinley in front, who deposited the puck quickly.

The goal started a Palmer surge toward gaining more scores but Cheyenne's Mark Hays put a crimp in the Terrors' plans as he knocked his own faceoff to the left of Palmer's goal, then tipped it in unassisted.

Hays followed with just 13 seconds left to play as he passed to Malcolm Moore who outskated Astley close in.

Both teams showed the wear of a strenuous game, as players in both uniforms slowed considerably in the final few minutes, a relaxation not due to the score's margin. Dave Love, Cheyenne defenseman and captain, played almost the entire match as one example of the long minutes put in by members of both teams.

Palmer looks to close the gap with Cheyenne after Christmas as the Terrors meet winless but improving Widefield Jan. 4. Cheyenne meets Wasson the following Wednesday.

SCL Schools Pick Up Pace

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The way Pueblo's four South Central League schools performed last weekend, they must be planning on making this winter's conference race an intra-city squabble!

In the most productive two days of the campaign for the SCL, Steel City representatives went under the gun seven times and escaped without wounds on six of those occasions. Included in the blitz was a pair of "prestige" triumphs. Foremost was a 73-65 job by Pueblo Central in a Friday night clash with defending state champion, East Denver. Saturday, Pueblo East skipped by talented Lamar, a Southern League school that had already taken two SCL members to task.

Overall the South Central went 7-3 for the weekend, raising its season record against outside opposition to 191-14. The other non-conference game included in the present standings matched league members Centennial and Central in the finals of the Will Rogers Tournament the first weekend of the campaign.

The SCL record would have been even better, had it not been for a final second tipin by Lakewood's Fred Jones Saturday night. That feat erased the last of a nine point lead that had been accumulated by Wasson's Thunderbirds just minutes before and sent the Tigers on their way to a 74-69 overtime victory.

It was a repeat of an old script for the T-Birds who have seen healthy leads evaporate with startling quickness in the final quarter all too frequently over the past three seasons. Saturday's decision came at the free throw line where Lakewood made good on its chances while the Thunderbirds were blowing several late shots which could have put the contest out of reach. Once the Tigers forced it into overtime, Wasson was strapped by having three regulars tied to the bench with five fouls and Lakewood sailed in easily.

That loss came on the heels of a record-setting performance by the unpredictable Thunderbirds the previous evening. Wasson shattered South Denver with a 91 point burst that saw seven men hit in double figures, with junior Randy Stanley's 18 points tops. Veteran Charlie Steel, slowly regaining the form that made him one of the league's top players a year ago, had 18 points and 15 rebounds against Lakewood Saturday.

In the only other action outside of Pueblo, Trinidad's Miners continued to slide after a fast start, tumbling to Regis of the Denver Parochial League, 60-55.

Defending champion Central was appearing increasingly comfortable on the SCL throne by early this week. The high-voltage Cats followed their satisfying win over East Denver in a replay of last year's state finals with a 69-61 triumph over Salida Sat. Those two wins lifted Central's current record to 4-1 and with the youth present in the lineup, the Wildcats are certain to improve as the season wears on. The "big men" once again were veteran Dan Kochevar and brilliant sophomore, Terry Snider. Snider had 44 points in the two games and Kochevar 38.

Centennial, the league's top winner at 5-1, spanked North Denver 55-36 Saturday behind another balanced performance. Ron Smith, the seven-foot sophomore, led the Bulldogs with 13 points but a total of nine players contributed points in the rout.

Pueblo East, recovering rapidly after a slow start, evened its record at 3-3 with a pair of weekend triumphs. The Eagles whacked Widefield 71-59 Friday before notching their 54-52 win over Lamar Saturday. Darrell McDaniel tallied 33 points over the two nights and Dan Noll had 17 Friday before being blanked in an unusual turn of events against Lamar.

Pueblo South, a team that has never missed going to the state tournament in its five year history, continued to stagger under early season problems. The Colts were waxed by Denver Lincoln 77-60 Friday but bounced back to edge Canon City 77-70 the next night. Dan Borton led the Pueblo club with 38 points over the two games.

Action is suspended for all except the Colorado Springs teams until after the holidays. Palmer, idle last weekend, returns to its home floor tonight to host Air Academy High. The Terrors will then entertain Laramie, Wyo. in an afternoon game next Tuesday and Wasson will meet the same club the following day. None of the other league teams are scheduled before Jan. 2.

Lone Game in WRL Ends League Action for 1964

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Tonight's Palmer - Air Academy High, which initiates the first basketball game between the city and suburban Triple-A schools, closes out the non-conference slate for the five Will Rogers League teams.

In reviewing the non-league competition, Norman Sullivan's towering cagers of Harrison have lived up to their rating as pre-season favorite and the top challenger for the WRL championship.

The Panthers have compiled a 5-2 won-loss record, losing those two outings to Cheyenne Mountain and Pueblo Centennial. Last weekend the Harrison roundballers made another two-game weekend sweep posting their third and fourth straight victories.

Behind the shooting of 6-4 Mike Obert, the Panthers defeated Rocky Ford, 70-69, and Pueblo County, 73-61. The Panthers lead the WRL circuit in non-league competition. Obert, who has the scoring and rebounding skill which should make him one of the top cagers in the league, poured in 17 and 12 points over the weekend.

Don O'Hare's Indians were scheduled to tangle with Ft. Morgan Monday night and the Cheyenne team was looking for its fourth victory in six games.

In other non-league action last weekend, Canon City managed to collect two wins during the Tigers three-game marathon beginning last Thursday with a 70-42 decision over Gunnison and Ray Wheeler's chargers followed withh a 66-52 triumph over Trinidad Catholic. But the Tigers failed in their third game last weekend, succumbing to Pueblo South, 77-70.

Widefield lost to Pueblo East, 71-59, and the Gladiators dropped their fifth decision to Boulder Fairview, 68-52. Golden downed Air Aademy High, 94-72, as the Kadets lost their fifth straight game in six outings to round out last weekend's activities.

The WRL teams resume action after the holidays when they initiate the pennant chase on Jan. 8. Widefield is scheduled for non-league warfare that weekend as the Gladiators take on Brighton, Jan. 9.

Sullivan's chargers will have an opportunity for revenge when the Harrison squad takes on Cheyenne in the league opener on Jan. 8. That same night, Canon City plays host to Academy High to round out the first week of league competition.

In their last meeting, the Indians eked out a slim 65-64 decision over Harrison via the shooting of their ace gunner, Ron Graham. Both teams have improved vastly since then and the Cheyenne team went on to topple Centennial while the Panthers handed Colorado Spring's St. Mary's its only setback.

The Cheyenne-Harrison game will be a key to the pennant chase, even though both teams will have another shot in the double-round WRL race.

GOOD NEWS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — For Los Angeles Laker Coach Fred Schaus "Santa Claus came early" because Rudy LaRusso's fractured vertabra, which was expected to have sidelined him six weeks, has been discovered to be an old injury and he will probably return to action Wednesday against Philadelphia.

Massarand Leads Tribe To Victory

FT. MORGAN — Bill Massarand, who missed two winning free throws in regulation time, redeemed himself in the overtime Monday night as Cheyenne Mountain ripped past Ft. Morgan, 62-55, in a non-league basketball game.

Massarand, who led all scorers with 24 points, missed a pair of free shots with seconds left in regulation time, sending the game into overtime on a 53-53 tie. But the 6-2 Indian scored four points in the extra period to lead Cheyenne to its fourth win in six games.

The Maroons could score only three points in the final three minutes while Cheyenne threw in nine in a runaway effort.

Ft. Morgan kept the Indians down in the first half, once extending the margin to 12 points in the second period. But Cheyenne stormed back with 31 points in the final half and actually enjoyed a five-point lead with two minutes to play.

The overtime appeared to be the best-played portion of the game for the mountain Tribe. Cheyenne took advantage of stolen passes and easy shots to wrap up the win. Ft. Morgan had kept the Indians closely guarded through the regulation game.

Ron Graham scored 13 points for Cheyenne, as did Jay Swedberg, but had to get nine of them at the charity stripe. The Maroons double-teamed the Indian center from the start and he carded only two field goals all evening.

Cheyenne Mountain breaks for the holidays, returning Jan. 8 to host Will Rogers League favorite Harrison.

Leadville Ends Old Year With Unblemished Record

Leadville became the first team in the Pikes Peak League this year to score 100 points and ended 1964 as the league's only undefeated team last weekend.

Salida, defending state champion and favored to repeat as league titlist, dropped a pair of outings Friday and Saturday and will carry a 1-4 record into 1965.

Crowley County will carry the PPL banner into the Lamar tournament tonight and Wednesday. The Chargers then become the first team to open the new year when they hose their own tournament Jan. 2.

The whole league starts play Jan. 8 in the single-round portion of district competition.

Friday night Fountain went into overtime to edge Manitou Springs, 53-52, and even the series between the two schools this year at 1-1. Fountain went on Saturday to lose to Castle Rock, 66-62, while Manitou dropped a 61-42 decision at Monument.

Leadville clipped Granby, 72-63, Friday night before running to the century mark, 100-53, over Monte Vista on Saturday. Salida tripped over Alamosa for the second time, 72-62, and gave Pueblo Central a battle before bowing, 69-61.

Buena Vista dropped a pair, losing to Florence, 63-34, and to Westcliffe, 59-54. Fowler lost to Las Animas, 60-50, and then pounded winless Crowley County, 60-49.

Only the district champion will represent each league in the state tournament. That champion will be determined in the district tournament at the end of the season in the PPL. The single-round schedule will not count toward championship standings.

In the first slate of games Jan. 8, Fountain and Manitou renew their tight struggle at Fountain, Salida hosts Buena Vista, Crowley County travels to Florence and Fowler hosts Leadville.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — The Floyd Patterson-George Chuvalo heavyweight 12-rounder, now set for Monday, Feb. 1, will be telecast to theaters and arenas by closed circuit.

Ned Irish, President of Madison Square Garden, said Monday night that Lester M. Malitz, Inc., of New York had been granted the closed circuit distribution rights, and will also handle network radio and the community antenna negotiations.

Irish said there will be no home television, except in the areas that have community antenna contracts. The metropolitan area will be blacked out of the closed circuit telecast.

Holaday, Fausti Win Scholarship Awards

A pair of Air Force Academy football players have been honored this week with top scholastic awards for their studies over the past four years. They are Bart Holaday, who was among several athletes announced to have won a coveted Rhodes Scholarship to study at Oxford in England; and Edward (Gary) Fausti who was named a winner of a post-graduate scholarship by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

The Rhodes scholarships provide for two years study at the famed English University. Holaday, AFA Cadet Wing Commander from Jamestown, N.D., has been the place kicking specialist for the past two years with the Falcons and among the two scorers for the Air Force team during that time.

Fausti, a senior tackle from Conway, Pa., was announced today as receiving the first award of this kind ever given by the NCAA. He had to qualify by maintaining at least a straight B average in studies and displaying outstanding talents on the football field, and then be chosen over a bevy of other candidates by a committee.

There were 22 scholarships awarded by the NCAA, and but three Rhodes scholarships to athletes this year. Of the 22 from the NCAA, 11 went to students from the University Division and the same number to those from the College Division of the nation-wide group. Ten additional awards are to be given to outstanding basketball players in late February.

Fausti logged a fine 3.37 grade point average (4.0 for straight A) at the Air Force Academy. Not content with completing the Academy's rigorous course of 143 semester hours in engineering, humanities, basic and social sciences, he also polished off a 14-course graduate program in management.

Both of these AFA players were lettermen on the Falcon squad this season which finished with a 4-6 record against some of the toughest football opposition in the country.

Detroit University Hosts Motor City Meet

DETROIT (AP) — The 13th annual Motor City Basketball Tournament will be held on host University of Detroit's floor next Monday and Tuesday.

In opening night action, Detroit takes on Valaparaiso and Penn State tangles with Houston.

The winners of the first round meet in the second night of competition as do the losers.

Tribe Hosts Academy High In Non-League Tilt Tonight

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

Palmer and Air Academy High conclude the pre-Christmas basketball activity in Colorado Springs when they clash in a rare weeknight attraction at the Palmer Gymnasium this evening. Game times are 6:15 for the "B" contest and 8 p.m. for the varsities.

Tonight's non-conference affair will be the first hardwood meeting ever between the two nieghboring AAA schools. The Terrors usually conduct their business in the long-established South Central League while Academy High is one of a number of schools around the state elevated to AAA status only this year. The Kadets are a member of the five-team Will Rogers League.

Palmer will entering the game off a nine day layoff. The Terrors, who split in their first four non-conference starts, skipped action last weekend and will use tonight's battle and one with Laramie, Wyo., next Tuesday afternoon to clean up their pre-league schedule.

Three of the four Palmer starts to date have been real hair-raisers. The Tribe opened under new coach Roger O'Neill with a solid 54-41 triumph over South Denver but events have been considerably more hectic since. Lamar dumped the local team 64-63 in a heart-breaker and then turned the tables on highly-regarded Aurora Hinkley, 47-46 the next week. Jefferson County effected still another reversal of the cardiac script by spilling the Tribe 52-50 on Dec. 21, the last time Palmer appeared in scheduled competition.

The Terrors' pattern offense revolves around the sparkling shooting of senior Bill McCalvy, the lone returning starter from a year ago. The Palmer ace has held a torrid hand thus far in the 1964-65 campaign, topped by a 31 point performance against Jefferson County that ranks as a career high. Other starters usually include 6-5 Ed Fitzgerald, Bill Pearson, sophomore Charles McKinze, and Tom Espinoza.

Academy High will challenge Palmer's more deliberate style of play with a fast-paced attack that is designed to help overcome the Kadets' height problems. One of the smallest teams in the area, the Academy team currently has a 1-5 record with the latest entry being a 94-72 defeat at the hands of Golden last Saturday.

The Kadets also revolve around a sharpshooter. Bert Spear, son of Air Force cage coach Bob Spear, is a nifty outcourt gunner and a solid all-around threat. He will be the Terrors' primary defensive problem.

The story, briefly told, was Cheyenne in the first period, Palmer pulling back strong in the second and a pair of tired teams skating through the third period, even though Cheyenne managed to scare three goals past efficient goalie Don Astley.

The Indians broke in hard on the opening faceoff as Palmer had to rely on its defense alone for the first three minutes before the puck could find its way into Indian ice.

But a pair of early penalties took some of the air out of Palmer's highly-charged sails and Cheyenne caught the off balance Terrors with a goal midway through the first period.

Ray Bruce, taking a pass from Dave Guy, skated down ice and slapped a 40-footer from the right corner, which struck Astley square in the chest and, by some stroke of fate, unreasonably rattled around the Palmer goalie and dropped in the net.

Though behind, Palmer rallied through the rest of the period and took advantage of an Indian injury to force its way back in the seocnd period.

Wing Don Heyliger, hampered the past several days with a pulled leg muscle, reinjured the limb and had to sit out most of the game. Heyliger went into the contest as the league's leading scorer.

Astley made 14 saves in the first period, to only a pair for Sandy Dee of Cheyenne but the Terrors quickly acted to alter this trend. Although they couldn't get past an alert Cheyenne defense with 18 shots (seven on goal), Palmer showed as much spirit on offense as it had on defense the first period.

Cheyenne got a quick goal at 8:08 as center Jeff Thatcher pulled Astley to the right corner with a shot which rebounded neatly onto Doug Heyliger's stick. Don't twin brother quickly placed the puck into the unprotected side.

The Thatcher-to-Heyliger tandem worked for another pretty goal early in the third period. Thatcher broke down ice with excellent stickhandling, but, instead of taking opportunity of some fair shots skated behind the net and flicked to Heyliger in front. The junior wing easily put the platter past Astley again.

Doug's pair of goals tied Don for the league scoring leadership with 11 points. Thatcher's two assists brought him closer to his wings with 10.

Less than a minute later Palmer scored its only tally and avoided giving Dee his second shutout of the season. Mike Onstad imitated Thatcher's from-the-rear pass and flipped to Jim McKinley in front, who deposited the puck quickly.

The goal started a Palmer surge toward gaining more scores but Cheyenne's Mark Hays put a crimp in the Terrors' plans as he knocked his own faceoff to the left of Palmer's goal, then tipped it in unassisted.

Hays followed with just 13 seconds left to play as he passed to Malcolm Moore who outskated Astley close in.

Both teams showed the wear of a strenuous game, as players in both uniforms slowed considerably in the final few minutes, a relaxation not due to the score's margin. Dave Love, Cheyenne defenseman and captain, played almost the entire match as one example of the long minutes put in by members of both teams.

Palmer looks to close the gap with Cheyenne after Christmas as the Terrors meet winless but improving Widefield Jan. 4. Cheyenne meets Wasson the following Wednesday.

LA Extends Division Lead With Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bistering pace in the final quarter catapulted the Los Angeles Lakers into a two-game lead over idle St. Louis in the National Basketball Association's Western Division race.

The Lakers whipped the New York Knicks 125-113 at Los Angeles in the only game played Monday night.

Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 40 points, his highest scoring output of the season.

The Lakers outscored the Knicks 14-2 in the last three minutes of the fourth period to clinch the victory.

Veteran Rudy LaRusso was missing from the Los Angeles line-up, but a team spokesman said what appeared to be a serious back injury turned out to be only a contusion, and that LaRusso may see action Wednesday night against the Philadelphia 76ers.

Dr. Robert Kerlan, the Lakers' physician, said he discovered that LaRusso's fractured vertebrae is not a new injury, but probably an njury he suffered several years ago. Five Knicks hit double figures with rookie Howard Komvies leading the way with 24 points.

The Knicks meet the San Francisco Warriors in Sacramento, Calif., in the only game scheduled tonight.

Hawks Have Top Three Scorers

MONTREAL (AP) — Young Phil Esposito knows how important it is to keep the right company. Chicago Black Hawk Coach Billy Reay introduced the sophomore center to a fellow named Hull two weeks ago and the National Hockey League scoring race hasn't been the same since.

With Bobby Hull launching his almost annual assault of the NFL record book at a goal per game gait, Esposito has picked up the tempo and shot into third place in the NHL point-scoring race according to statistics released today.

Esposito, who scored just three goals and two assists in 27 NHL games last year, hit four goals and assisted on five other last week to run his season totals to 13 goals and 14 assists for 27 points and third place.

The youngster's surge gives the Black Hawks the top three spots in the scoring race. Defending champion Stan Mikita with 8-26-34 is 10 points back of Hull whose 28 goals in 28 games has him zeroing in on the NHL record book again.

Hull shares the one-season record of 50 goals in a season with Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice Richard and is 21 games ahead of the pace he set in 1961-62 when he tied the mark.

The leaders:

Sizzling Hoosiers Scald Notre Dame In Monday's Top Cage Performance

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketballs don't bounce much back home in Indiana. They're too busy dropping through the hoop.

Indiana's unbeaten Hoosiers parlayed the deadly outside shooting of Tom VanArsdale and Al Harden into a 107-81 rout of upstate neighbor Notre Dame at Fort Wayne Monday night. It was the seventh victory for the Big Ten darkhorses, whose 93.6 points-per-game pace has carried them into eighth place in the Associated press national ratings.

VanArsdale one of the Hoosiers' 6-foot-5 twin-brother tandem, potted nine of 12 shots from the floor and took game scoring honors with 21 points. Harden came off the bench midway through the first half and hit six of seven field goal attempts, turning the contest into a runaway.

Indiana shot just under .500 from the field and missed only two of 27 free throws in handing the Irish their third straight setback.

Another Hoosier hotshot, Purdue's Dave Schellhase, connected on 16 of 26 shots and nine of 11 free flips, pulling the Boilermakers from a 20-point deficit to a 79-73 decision over Ohio U. at Lafayette, Ind. Schellhase bagged 28 points in the second half as Purdue ran its season mark to 5-1.

Providence and Utah extended their winning streaks to seven but Morehead's 89-82 loss to Murray State in the first round of the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament at Louisville cut the major college unbeaten list to 10 teams.

Sophomore Dexter Westbrook scored 18 points and snared 15 rebounds, leading Providence past visiting Bowling Green 78-65. Utah edged Santa Clara 87-83 at Salt Lake City behind the Ball-hawking and 20-point scoring of 5-foot-11 Granville Nash.

John Namciu poured 14 of Murray State's first 19 points as the Thoroughbreds bolted to a 33-13 lead and won going away. Namciu finished with 23 points. Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee Tech also advanced to the OVC Tourney semifinals.

St. John's of New York, which dropped out of the top ten as a result of last tuesday's 71-56 loss to St. Joseph's, Pa., bowed by the same score to Kansas' touring Jayhawks. The Jayhawks' grudging zone defense and 6-foot-11 Walte Wesley's 36 points knocked off the Redmen for the second time in six starts.

Bradley, nudged from the unbeaten ranks last Saturday night by St. Louis, rebounded against Oklahoma 83-75 at Peoria, Ill. Eddie Jackson paced the Braves, now 6-1, with 22 points.

Alabama, fresh from an upset victory over North Carolina in the Virginia Tech Invitational final last weekend, upped its record to 6-1 by breezing past Richmond 85-70 on the losers' court. The Crimson Tide hit on seven of their first 11 shots and finished with a 52.5 percentage from the floor.

North Carolina lost again, by a 73-54 count to Florida at Gainesville, Fla., but form held up elsewhere. Cincinnati, 5-1, whipped Denver 99-64; Nebraska topped California 87-80; Kansas State buried Oregon 92-58 and Boston College, playing without standout John Austin, got by St. Mary's, Calif., 78-62.

Georgia Tech whipped William & Mary 91-73; Seattle beat Memphis State 89-77; Kowa bombed North Dakota 106-65; Utah State downed San Jose 86-73; Texas Tech nipped Colorado 85-83; Georgetown, D.C., outscored Columbia 97-85 and Wyoming riddled Idaho State

Four of the AP's top ten clubs are in action tonight. Third-ranked Minnesota entertains Loyola of Chicago; UCLA, No. 4, visits Southern California; Kentucky invades St. Louis to take on the ninth-ranked Billikens and Davidson, No. 10, meets Virginia at Charlotte, N.C.

Raiders Overhaul Colorado With Second Half Splurge

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Colorado built a nine-point lead early in the second half before Texas Tech rallied to capture an 85-83 basketball victory Monday night.

Colorado was ahead 50-46 at the intermission. The Raiders evened the score midway of the final period.

Texas Tech went ahead to stay on a 74-71 lead with 5:27 to go after a three-point play by Norman Reuther. Norman Saunders' two free throws cut the Raiders' lead to 76-74 but the Texans began a ball control game that forced Colorado to foul and the Raiders cashed in at the line to wrap up the decision.

Pat Frink's shot at the final buzzer closed the gap to the two points. He hit 24 points and his brother, Mike Frink, added 18 to pace the Big Eight team.

The Red Raiders were paced by Dub Malaise with 31 points and Harold Denney with 20.

Coolrado, now 3-5, plays next in the Big Eight Tournament at Kansas City Dec. 26-30.

Ducks Hinder Speed Run By Campbell

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Ducks, hundreds of them, prevented Donald Campbell, the British speed ace, from giving his Bluebird an all-out tryout at Lake Dumbleyung today.

"I'm touching 150 now," he said. "Ducks all over the place. One just missed me. I'll need machineguns to beat them off."

Michigan Regains Number One Spot

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan's mighty Wolverines, bounced out of the No. 1 spot last week, bounced right back in again on the spectacular play of the man who went to Michigan to do just that — make them No. 1.

The Wolverines, who beat Wichita 87-85 in their only outing last week, were named first on 28 of the 42 ballots cast by a national panel of sports writers and regained the top spot among the nation's collegiate basketball teams today.

Michigan polled 387 points on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, and so on. Wichita, which had replaced Michigan as No. 1 in last week's poll, slipped back to second with five first place votes and 317 points.

There was a general shuffling of the top ten, with only sixth-ranked Duke remaining in the same position.

Unbeaten Minnesota and once-beaten UCLA and St. Louis all moved up one spot, to third, fourth and ninth, respectively. San Francisco, unbeaten at 5-0, slipped two spots to fifth while three new comers Illinois, Indiana and Davidson — moved into the top ten replacing St. John's, N.Y., Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

Cazzie Russell's 25-foot jump shot just before the buzzer was the difference for Michigan in the Wolverine's important triumph over Wichita.

Wolverine coach Dave Strack calls him one of the finest players in the country, "the best I've coached," and told a story about how Cazzie came to Michigan.

"Four years ago we had a 6-18 season, which isn't over-powering. Cazzie told me about it later. He was quite sincere about it. He was a high school boy at the time and watched our games on TV.

"He said last year he decided to come to Michigan then, as a school boy, because he figured we needed help. It was one of the biggest breaks of my coaching career," Strack said Monday.

Michigan, like Wichita, now has a 5-1 record. The Wheatshockers rebounded from their loss to Michigan with a 71-60 victory over Drake in their only other outing.

Minnesota, unbeaten in five straight, moved up a notch on the strength of a convincing 88-69 romp over a good Utah State team while two other Big Ten schools — Illinois and Indiana — also made the select list.

Illinois, now 6-1, won Kentucky's Invitational tourney last week, beating the hosts 91-86 in the title game and gained the No. 7 spot, while Indiana, unbeaten in seven starts, took over No. 8.

San Francisco won two and remained unbeaten, but the voters apparently weren't impressed with the Dons' 75-73 exhibition decision over the subpac Raiders in Honolulu and a 95-72 rout of Hawaii, and they slipped two spots.

Defending national champion UCLA moved up one with its fourth and fifth straight victories after an opening loss. The Bruins whipped Marquette 61-52, then stopped Boston College 115-93 in winning the Milwaukee Holiday Classic.

It seems the junior bowlers in the 13-year-old age group made the local and national headlines last week. Thirteen-year-old Bill Bybee of Long Beach, Calif., started things off by posting a perfect "300" game.

He is the youngest bowler to ever record a perfect competition. The previous record holder for the youngest award was Bob Maganaboucso of Maywood, N.J. at the ripe old age of 14.

scratch game and a 625 series to highlight this year's activities for the junior bowlers in his age group.

Don posted games of 213-154-258 for the 625 set. A newcomer to this area, Don has only been at the kegling tenpin sport the last 18 months. Prior to that time he was active in candle pin bowling while residing in Chelmsford, Mass.

Don says he enjoys tenpin bowling more than the candle pin kegling and feels that with the larger bowling ball it is easier to score.

Celts Get Break: Star's Foot Not

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association have some good news. Tommy Heinsohn's left foot is throbbing from a pulled ligament, not a break.

X-rays showed nothing was broken when they were studied Monday.

LA Extends Division Lead With Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A bistering pace in the final quarter catapulted the Los Angeles Lakers into a two-game lead over idle St. Louis in the National Basketball Association's Western Division race.

The Lakers whipped the New York Knicks 125-113 at Los Angeles in the only game played Monday night.

Elgin Baylor topped the Lakers with 40 points, his highest scoring output of the season.

The Lakers outscored the Knicks 14-2 in the last three minutes of the fourth period to clinch the victory.

Veteran Rudy LaRusso was missing from the Los Angeles line-up, but a team spokesman said what appeared to be a serious back injury turned out to be only a contusion, and that LaRusso may see action Wednesday night against the Philadelphia 76ers.

Dr. Robert Kerlan, the Lakers' physician, said he discovered that LaRusso's fractured vertebrae is not a new injury, but probably an njury he suffered several years ago. Five Knicks hit double figures with rookie Howard Komvies leading the way with 24 points.

The Knicks meet the San Francisco Warriors in Sacramento, Calif., in the only game scheduled tonight.

Hawks Have Top Three Scorers

MONTREAL (AP) — Young Phil Esposito knows how important it is to keep the right company. Chicago Black Hawk Coach Billy Reay introduced the sophomore center to a fellow named Hull two weeks ago and the National Hockey League scoring race hasn't been the same since.

With Bobby Hull launching his almost annual assault of the NFL record book at a goal per game gait, Esposito has picked up the tempo and shot into third place in the NHL point-scoring race according to statistics released today.

Esposito, who scored just three goals and two assists in 27 NHL games last year, hit four goals and assisted on five other last week to run his season totals to 13 goals and 14 assists for 27 points and third place.

The youngster's surge gives the Black Hawks the top three spots in the scoring race. Defending champion Stan Mikita with 8-26-34 is 10 points back of Hull whose 28 goals in 28 games has him zeroing in on the NHL record book again.

Hull shares the one-season record of 50 goals in a season with Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice Richard and is 21 games ahead of the pace he set in 1961-62 when he tied the mark.

The leaders:

Sizzling Hoosiers Scald Notre Dame In Monday's Top Cage Performance

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketballs don't bounce much back home in Indiana. They're too busy dropping through the hoop.

Indiana's unbeaten Hoosiers parlayed the deadly outside shooting of Tom VanArsdale and Al Harden into a 107-81 rout of upstate neighbor Notre Dame at Fort Wayne Monday night. It was the seventh victory for the Big Ten darkhorses, whose 93.6 points-per-game pace has carried them into eighth place in the Associated press national ratings.

VanArsdale one of the Hoosiers' 6-foot-5 twin-brother tandem, potted nine of 12 shots from the floor and took game scoring honors with 21 points.

Harden came off the bench midway through the first half and hit six of seven field goal attempts, turning the contest into a runaway.

Indiana shot just under .500 from the field and missed only two of 27 free throws in handing the Irish their third straight setback.

Another Hoosier hotshot, Purdue's Dave Schellhase, connected on 16 of 26 shots and nine of 11 free flips, pulling the Boilermakers from a 20-point deficit to a 79-73 decision over Ohio U. at Lafayette, Ind. Schellhase bagged 28 points in the second half as Purdue ran its season mark to 5-1.

Providence and Utah extended their winning streaks to seven but Morehead's 89-82 loss to Murray State in the first round of the Ohio Valley Conference Tournament at Louisville cut the major college unbeaten list to 10 teams.

Sophomore Dexter Westbrook scored 18 points and snared 15 rebounds, leading Providence past visiting Bowling Green 78-65. Utah edged Santa Clara 87-83 at Salt Lake City behind the Ball-hawking and 20-point scoring of 5-foot-11 Granville Nash.

John Namciu poured 14 of Murray State's first 19 points as the Thoroughbreds bolted to a 33-13 lead and won going away. Namciu finished with 23 points. Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky and Tennessee Tech also advanced to the OVC Tourney semifinals.

St. John's of New York, which dropped out of the top ten as a result of last tuesday's 71-56 loss to St. Joseph's, Pa., bowed by the same score to Kansas' touring Jayhawks. The Jayhawks' grudging zone defense and 6-foot-11 Walte Wesley's 36 points knocked off the Redmen for the second time in six starts.

Bradley, nudged from the unbeaten ranks last Saturday night by St. Louis, rebounded against Oklahoma 83-75 at Peoria, Ill. Eddie Jackson paced the Braves, now 6-1, with 22 points.

Alabama, fresh from an upset victory over North Carolina in the Virginia Tech Invitational final last weekend, upped its record to 6-1 by breezing past Richmond 85-70 on the losers' court. The Crimson Tide hit on seven of their first 11 shots and finished with a 52.5 percentage from the floor.

North Carolina lost again, by a 73-54 count to Florida at Gainesville, Fla., but form held up elsewhere. Cincinnati, 5-1, whipped Denver 99-64; Nebraska topped California 87-80; Kansas State buried Oregon 92-58 and Boston College, playing without standout John Austin, got by St. Mary's, Calif., 78-62.

Georgia Tech whipped William & Mary 91-73; Seattle beat Memphis State 89-77; Kowa bombed North Dakota 106-65; Utah State downed San Jose 86-73; Texas Tech nipped Colorado 85-83; Georgetown, D.C., outscored Columbia 97-85 and Wyoming riddled Idaho State

Four of the AP's top ten clubs are in action tonight. Third-ranked Minnesota entertains Loyola of Chicago; UCLA, No. 4, visits Southern California; Kentucky invades St. Louis to take on the ninth-ranked Billikens and Davidson, No. 10, meets Virginia at Charlotte, N.C.

Raiders Overhaul Colorado With Second Half Splurge

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—Colorado built a nine-point lead early in the second half before Texas Tech rallied to capture an 85-83 basketball victory Monday night.

Colorado was ahead 50-46 at the intermission. The Raiders evened the score midway of the final period.

Texas Tech went ahead to stay on a 74-71 lead with 5:27 to go after a three-point play by Norman Reuther. Norman Saunders' two free throws cut the Raiders' lead to 76-74 but the Texans began a ball control game that forced Colorado to foul and the Raiders cashed in at the line to wrap up the decision.

Pat Frink's shot at the final buzzer closed the gap to the two points. He hit 24 points and his brother, Mike Frink, added 18 to pace the Big Eight team.

The Red Raiders were paced by Dub Malaise with 31 points and Harold Denney with 20.

Coolrado, now 3-5, plays next in the Big Eight Tournament at Kansas City Dec. 26-30.

Ducks Hinder Speed Run By Campbell

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Ducks, hundreds of them, prevented Donald Campbell, the British speed ace, from giving his Bluebird an all-out tryout at Lake Dumbleyung today.

"I'm touching 150 now," he said. "Ducks all over the place. One just missed me. I'll need machineguns to beat them off."

Michigan Regains Number One Spot

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Michigan's mighty Wolverines, bounced out of the No. 1 spot last week, bounced right back in again on the spectacular play of the man who went to Michigan to do just that — make them No. 1.

The Wolverines, who beat Wichita 87-85 in their only outing last week, were named first on 28 of the 42 ballots cast by a national panel of sports writers and regained the top spot among the nation's collegiate basketball teams today.

Michigan polled 387 points on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, and so on. Wichita, which had replaced Michigan as No. 1 in last week's poll, slipped back to second with five first place votes and 317 points.

There was a general shuffling of the top ten, with only sixth-ranked Duke remaining in the same position.

Unbeaten Minnesota and once-beaten UCLA and St. Louis all moved up one spot, to third, fourth and ninth, respectively. San Francisco, unbeaten at 5-0, slipped two spots to fifth while three new comers Illinois, Indiana and Davidson — moved into the top ten replacing St. John's, N.Y., Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

Cazzie Russell's 25-foot jump shot just before the buzzer was the difference for Michigan in the Wolverine's important triumph over Wichita.

Wolverine coach Dave Strack calls him one of the finest players in the country, "the best I've coached," and told a story about how Cazzie came to Michigan.

"Four years ago we had a 6-18 season, which isn't over-powering. Cazzie told me about it later. He was quite sincere about it. He was a high school boy at the time and watched our games on TV.

"He said last year he decided to come to Michigan then, as a school boy, because he figured we needed help. It was one of the biggest breaks of my coaching career," Strack said Monday.

Michigan, like Wichita, now has a 5-1 record. The Wheatshockers rebounded from their loss to Michigan with a 71-60 victory over Drake in their only other outing.

Minnesota, unbeaten in five straight, moved up a notch on the strength of a convincing 88-69 romp over a good Utah State team while two other Big Ten schools — Illinois and Indiana — also made the select list.

Illinois, now 6-1, won Kentucky's Invitational tourney last week, beating the hosts 91-86 in the title game and gained the No. 7 spot, while Indiana, unbeaten in seven starts, took over No. 8.

San Francisco won two and remained unbeaten, but the voters apparently weren't impressed with the Dons' 75-73 exhibition decision over the subpac Raiders in Honolulu and a 95-72 rout of Hawaii, and they slipped two spots.

Defending national champion UCLA moved up one with its fourth and fifth straight victories after an opening loss. The Bruins whipped Marquette 61-52, then stopped Boston College 115-93 in winning the Milwaukee Holiday Classic.

BOWLING

Teens on Top

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

It seems the junior bowlers in the 13-year-old age group made the local and national headlines last week. Thirteen-year-old Bill Bybee of Long Beach, Calif., started things off by posting a perfect "300" game.

He is the youngest bowler to ever record a perfect competition. The previous record holder for the youngest award was Bob Maganaboucso of Maywood, N.J. at the ripe old age of 14.

Celts Get Break: Star's Foot Not

Negro Church Gets White Minister

By RICHARD C. BAYER

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A white minister will become pastor of a Raleigh Negro Presbyterian church Jan. 1 with hopes of "building bridges of understanding between the races."

The Rev. Frank W. Hutchinson, 34, of St. Louis, Mo., said Monday night he will accept the call of the 160-member Davie Street United Presbyterian church.

"It will be a new experience for me," Hutchinson said in a telephone interview. "My primary job is to teach and preach, but I hope to help in building bridges of understanding between the races."

Hutchinson, now pastor of the 170-member white Clifton Heights Presbyterian church, said, "There really isn't much to the whole thing."

"I have mixed feelings about talking about it. I had hoped to slip in there and go to work."

Hutchinson spent a week in Mississippi before the November election working on a voter registration drive. He has never lived in the South, but was stationed two years at Ft. Eustis, Va.

"Most of my work in Mississippi involved calling on Negro homes," he said. "Some were fearful. Some were apathetic. It helped show me that feelings are deep and long-standing.

"This thing will be around a long time. But the church will be around longer."

Hutchinson will be the second white minister of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., to take a Negro church in North Carolina. A classmate at McCormick Seminary in Chicago, the Rev. William S. Jones, is pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church in Asheville.

"What we really want throughout the South is to find strong pastors, be they white or Negro, who can serve their congregations well," Hutchinson said. "It's not a matter of race."

Hutchinson has degrees from Ohio State University, the University of Pennsylvania and McCormick.

Negro Church Gets White Minister

By RICHARD C. BAYER

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A white minister will become pastor of a Raleigh Negro Presbyterian church Jan. 1 with hopes of "building bridges of understanding between the races."

The Rev. Frank W. Hutchinson, 34, of St. Louis, Mo., said Monday night he will accept the call of the 160-member Davie Street United Presbyterian church.

"It will be a new experience for me," Hutchinson said in a telephone interview. "My primary job is to teach and preach, but I hope to help in building bridges of understanding between the races."

Hutchinson, now pastor of the 170-member white Clifton Heights Presbyterian church, said, "There really isn't much to the whole thing."

"I have mixed feelings about talking about it. I had hoped to slip in there and go to work."

Hutchinson spent a week in Mississippi before the November election working on a voter registration drive. He has never lived in the South, but was stationed two years at Ft. Eustis, Va.

"Most of my work in Mississippi involved calling on Negro homes," he said. "Some were fearful. Some were apathetic. It helped show me that feelings are deep and long-standing.

"This thing will be around a long time. But the church will be around longer."

Hutchinson will be the second white minister of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., to take a Negro church in North Carolina. A classmate at McCormick Seminary in Chicago, the Rev. William S. Jones, is pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church in Asheville.

"What we really want throughout the South is to find strong pastors, be they white or Negro, who can serve their congregations well," Hutchinson said. "It's not a matter of race."

Hutchinson has degrees from Ohio State University, the University of Pennsylvania and McCormick.

Zip Code Aids Santa Claus Deliveries

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP) — Zip code is playing Santa Claus this year.

The Post Office innovation is helping to speed delivery of Christmas packages throughout the country.

Last year some gifts didn't arrive until the third week in January because of a monumental jam in Chicago, which processes most of the parcel post going from coast to coast. The Chicago office, largest in the nation, handled 47 million pieces of mail during last year's rush.

"We were really in a bind," Clairborne Bolton, assistant director of operations, recalled today.

"At this time last year we had nearly 100,000 sacks of Christmas packages unprocessed. Some of it was stored in a garage.

"We had mail piled up all over the place. But this year everything's up to snuff—we don't have one sack of mail lying around."

"Oh, man, after last year, I thought they would roll some heads," said Raymond F. Cummings, day parcel post supervisor. "We were still working on mail three weeks after Christmas."

"Now we're as clean as a whistle. Somebody along the line did a tremendous job."

Last year, Cummings said, a late surge of parcel post flooded post offices throughout the country.

"They did what they could with it but in the end, they threw it to Chicago and we were stuck with it," he said.

The Postmaster Inspection Service was called in to study Chicago processing procedures.

The inspection service recommended establishment of sectional center distribution points, or ZIP code, for parcel post.

"That was the real key to this whole thing," Cummings said. "Finer distribution of mail — spreading it out across the country and keeping it away from the center."

Thanks to ZIP code, agreed Postmaster Harry Semrow, Chicago now handles 17 per cent less parcel post.

"They're all going to get their gifts on time this year," he said. "We're just as clean and current now as in the middle of June."

When beating egg whites for a cake or any other baking, be sure that your beater is perfectly clean and dry or the whites won't beat properly. Beat them until they hold a definite shape.

The major has been very active in the Reserve Officers Association at Ft. Carson. She will end her Army career on Dec. 31 and return to Sandusky, Ohio, her home for a visit. Comedian Sentenced In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Lenny Bruce has been sentenced to three concurrent four-month terms in the city workhouse for giving obscene performances at a Greenwich Village cafe.

A three-judge criminal court panel imposed the sentence Monday. Bruce remained free on bond pending an appeal.

Howard Solomon, an operator of the Cafe Au Go Go, was fined $1,000 for permitting Bruce's performance.

Three Miners Rescued; Fourth Is Buried

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Three of four men have survived a cave-in at a coal mine, but rescuers found no signs of life when they reached the body of a fourth miner.

They continued toiling today on a snow-swept mountainside near this northeastern Pennsylvania community in efforts to pull out Lawrence Malachefski, 37, of nearby Plymouth.

Mine officials said he was buried beneath 60 or 70 tons of coal, more than 300 feet underground.

Two of the men had been dragged to safety an hour after the cave-in and were reported in good condition at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, with lacerations over most of their bodies. They were Albert Kotch, 42, of Larksville, and Anthony Saitta, 59, of West Pittston.

The third man, Peter Byczkowski, 54, of Plymouth, was pulled to safety around midnight. He had been trapped for about 10 hours in the underground chamber.

Ed Schrode a reporter for the Wilkes-Barre Record, said Byczkowski was in good spirits and talked freely to his rescuers before being taken to the hospital. His condition was reported as fair, with an injured right leg and a fractured rib.

Describing the rescue operation, Leonard Statkewicz, a board member of District 1, United Mine Workers of America, said "it was touch and go all night long."

"When I first arrived in the mine we were about 20 to 45 feet from Pete. He was in good spirits. He didn't complain. As a matter of fact, he helped his own rescue," Statkewicz said.

"While we prepared to take Pete from the mine, there was evidence of another movement. We quickly made Pete as safe as we could by placing some timber and braddish work to protect him from another fall."

There were other falls, however, and state and local mine officials ordered the rescuers out several times before it was decided to go in over the top of the cave in, a hazardous but successful undertaking, Statkewicz said.

Byczkowski was carried to an underground first aid station, put on a stretcher, then placed in a mining car and brought to the surface.

The mine, the Franklin Colliery, is operated by Pagnotti Enterprises, a firm which provided much of the equipment used in the dramatic rescue of two of three trapped miners at Sheppton, Pa., in August 1963.

In that famed rescue miners Henry Throne and David Fellin were pulled to safety after being trapped underground for 14 days. A companion, Louis Bova, was never found.

Zip Code Aids Santa Claus Deliveries

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

CHICAGO (AP) — Zip code is playing Santa Claus this year.

The Post Office innovation is helping to speed delivery of Christmas packages throughout the country.

Last year some gifts didn't arrive until the third week in January because of a monumental jam in Chicago, which processes most of the parcel post going from coast to coast. The Chicago office, largest in the nation, handled 47 million pieces of mail during last year's rush.

"We were really in a bind," Clairborne Bolton, assistant director of operations, recalled today.

"At this time last year we had nearly 100,000 sacks of Christmas packages unprocessed. Some of it was stored in a garage.

"We had mail piled up all over the place. But this year everything's up to snuff—we don't have one sack of mail lying around."

"Oh, man, after last year, I thought they would roll some heads," said Raymond F. Cummings, day parcel post supervisor. "We were still working on mail three weeks after Christmas."

"Now we're as clean as a whistle. Somebody along the line did a tremendous job."

Last year, Cummings said, a late surge of parcel post flooded post offices throughout the country.

"They did what they could with it but in the end, they threw it to Chicago and we were stuck with it," he said.

The Postmaster Inspection Service was called in to study Chicago processing procedures.

The inspection service recommended establishment of sectional center distribution points, or ZIP code, for parcel post.

"That was the real key to this whole thing," Cummings said. "Finer distribution of mail — spreading it out across the country and keeping it away from the center."

Thanks to ZIP code, agreed Postmaster Harry Semrow, Chicago now handles 17 per cent less parcel post.

"They're all going to get their gifts on time this year," he said. "We're just as clean and current now as in the middle of June."

When beating egg whites for a cake or any other baking, be sure that your beater is perfectly clean and dry or the whites won't beat properly. Beat them until they hold a definite shape.

Comedian Sentenced In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Lenny Bruce has been sentenced to three concurrent four-month terms in the city workhouse for giving obscene performances at a Greenwich Village cafe.

A three-judge criminal court panel imposed the sentence Monday. Bruce remained free on bond pending an appeal.

Howard Solomon, an operator of the Cafe Au Go Go, was fined $1,000 for permitting Bruce's performance.

Three Miners Rescued; Fourth Is Buried

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Three of four men have survived a cave-in at a coal mine, but rescuers found no signs of life when they reached the body of a fourth miner.

They continued toiling today on a snow-swept mountainside near this northeastern Pennsylvania community in efforts to pull out Lawrence Malachefski, 37, of nearby Plymouth.

Mine officials said he was buried beneath 60 or 70 tons of coal, more than 300 feet underground.

Two of the men had been dragged to safety an hour after the cave-in and were reported in good condition at Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, with lacerations over most of their bodies. They were Albert Kotch, 42, of Larksville, and Anthony Saitta, 59, of West Pittston.

The third man, Peter Byczkowski, 54, of Plymouth, was pulled to safety around midnight. He had been trapped for about 10 hours in the underground chamber.

Ed Schrode a reporter for the Wilkes-Barre Record, said Byczkowski was in good spirits and talked freely to his rescuers before being taken to the hospital. His condition was reported as fair, with an injured right leg and a fractured rib.

Describing the rescue operation, Leonard Statkewicz, a board member of District 1, United Mine Workers of America, said "it was touch and go all night long."

"When I first arrived in the mine we were about 20 to 45 feet from Pete. He was in good spirits. He didn't complain. As a matter of fact, he helped his own rescue," Statkewicz said.

"While we prepared to take Pete from the mine, there was evidence of another movement. We quickly made Pete as safe as we could by placing some timber and braddish work to protect him from another fall."

There were other falls, however, and state and local mine officials ordered the rescuers out several times before it was decided to go in over the top of the cave in, a hazardous but successful undertaking, Statkewicz said.

Byczkowski was carried to an underground first aid station, put on a stretcher, then placed in a mining car and brought to the surface.

The mine, the Franklin Colliery, is operated by Pagnotti Enterprises, a firm which provided much of the equipment used in the dramatic rescue of two of three trapped miners at Sheppton, Pa., in August 1963.

In that famed rescue miners Henry Throne and David Fellin were pulled to safety after being trapped underground for 14 days. A companion, Louis Bova, was never found.
